Lawrence, 2022-09-06 Commemorating Sarah Sze's new permanent site specific commission at Storm King Art Center Published to contextualize Sarah Sze's born 1969 outdoor work Fallen Sky and the accompanying installation Fifth Season at Storm King Art Center this book includes an overview of the work in relation to Sze's larger practice Also included is a discussion between Sze and artist Katharina Grosse to discuss Fallen Sky and thematic parallels in their respective work Eight contributing authors from across disciplines of fiction poetry art history and cultural criticism contribute creative pieces in response to Sze's work The publication also includes photographs of Fallen Sky taken over the course of a full year capturing the dynamic seasonality of the artwork and the context of Storm King's environment Installation photography illustrates Fallen Sky's ability to reflect movement and to depict how the landscape behaves and changes over time the work's appearance shifting continuously depending on the season time of day and weather Sarah Sze Sarah Sze, Institute of Contemporary Arts (London, England), 1998 Sarah Sze: Timelapse, 2023 Over three decades Sarah Sze b 1969 Boston has developed a remarkable practice that boldly traverses sculpture video installation painting printmaking drawing and sound Her work sometimes compared to scientific models is distinguished by her intricate constructions using myriad ordinary objects and images that evidence the imprints of contemporary life Sze's Guggenheim exhibition which centers on the artist's monumental Timekeeper 2016 one of the first in her eponymous series of celebrated multimedia installations is a reflection on how our experience of time and place is continuously reshaped in a digitally and materially saturated world The show represents the New York premiere of Timekeeper Published after the show's opening this book is a rich immersive document of the singular relationship Sze cultivated with the museum's Frank Lloyd Wright designed building over the five years she spent developing this site specific presentation The majority of the volume is given over to expansive installation photographs as well as sketches by the artist An illustrated essay by curator Kyung An probes the depths of the exhibition's thread of serendipitous encounters while contributions by Hilton Als and Molly Nesbit expand the scope offering explorations of the origins and resonances of Sze's practice of timekeeping and what can be grasped through the quick passage of time memory and images Sarah Sze Sarah Sze, Staci Boris, 1999 Sarah Sze: Infinite Line, 2011 Sarah Sze at the Fabric Workshop and Museum Marion Boulton Stroud, 2014 This catalogue accompanies an exhibition of a new work by Sarah Sze born 1969 at The Fabric Workshop and Museum in Philadelphia Sze's immense and intricate site specific works are akin to drawings in space manipulating architectural spaces to profoundly affect the way they are viewed This work was installed on three floors of the museum virally traversing the exhibition spaces and creating a narrative that unfolds as viewers navigate the galleries and experience Sze's reflections on time exploration of movement and investigation of materials Each gallery floor presents a singular experience yet viewing all three spaces is cumulative akin to experiencing separate acts in a theatrical production The catalogue illustrates multiple views of each gallery floor Along with essays by Jonathan Gilmore and Jeffery Kastner this volume includes a 2011 essay on Sze by the late philosopher and art critic Arthur C Danto

What Comes After Farce? Hal Foster, 2020-05-19 Surveying the artistic and cultural scene in the era of Trump In a world where truth is cast in doubt and shame has gone missing what are artists and critics on the left to do How to demystify a political order that laughs away its own contradictions How to mock leaders who thrive on the absurd And why in any event offer more outrage to a media economy that feeds on the same Such questions are grist to the mill of Hal Foster who in What Comes after Farce delves into recent developments in art criticism and fiction under the current regime of war surveillance extreme inequality and media disruption Concerned first with the cultural politics of emergency since 9 11 including the use and abuse of trauma conspiracy and kitsch he moves on to consider the neoliberal makeover of aesthetic forms and art institutions during the same period A final section surveys signal transformations in art film and writing Among the phenomena explored are machine vision images produced by machines for other machines without a human interface operational images images that do not represent the world so much as intervene in it and the algorithmic scripting of information that pervades our everyday lives If all this sounds dire it is In many respects we look out on a world that has moved not only politically but also technologically beyond our control Yet Foster also sees possibility in the current debacle the possibility to pressure the cracks in this order to turn emergency into change

Crafting Feminism from Literary Modernism to the Multimedia Present Amy E. Elkins, 2022 Crafting Feminism develops a dynamic study of craft and art making in modern and contemporary feminist writing In evocative readings of literary works from Virginia Woolf to Zadie Smith this book expands our sense of transartistic modernist scholarship to encompass process oriented and medium specific analyses of textile arts digital design collage photography painting and sculpture in literary culture By integrating these craft practices into the book's enlightening archive Elkins's theoretical argument extends a reading of craft metaphors into the material present Crafting Feminism demonstrates how writers have engaged with handiwork across generations and have undertaken the crafting of a new modernity one that is queer and feminist threaded messy shattered cut up pasted together preserved repaired reflected and spun out An avant garde work of scholarship this book interweaves queer research methods and interdisciplinary rigor with a series of surprising archival discoveries Making visible the collaborative creative features of craft Elkins captivates readers with generous illustrations and a series of Techne interchapters interludes between longer chapters which powerfully convey the symbiosis between feminist theory and method and detail the network of archival influences that underpin this volume's hybrid approach Foregrounding the work of decentering patriarchal and Eurocentric legacies of artistic authority Elkins champions the diverse intergenerational history of craft as a way to reposition

Sarah Sze Holly Block,2013 Sarah Sze born 1969 has earned deserved acclaim since the late 1990s for her intricate assemblages of everyday consumer products painstakingly arranged by hand into immense site specific installations that engage the viewer in a dizzying play of perspective and scale Often every crevice of an architectural space is utilized in her complex constructions composed of thousands of objects works that converge at the intersection of drawing sculpture and architecture Sarah Sze Triple Point is a major new publication on the work of this celebrated artist documenting Sze s ambitious large scale exhibition at the U S Pavilion of the 2013 Venice Biennale with 64 pages of full color plates and several significant new texts on Sze and her practice Included is a conversation between the artist and Pulitzer Prize winning author Jennifer Egan along with a short story by Egan entitled Black Box Curator and scholar Johanna Burton contributes a compelling new examination of Sze s practice and 2013 Biennale Co Commissioners Holly Block and Carey Lovelace provide an introduction to the project and artist Elegantly realized by award winning designer Takaaki Matsumoto Sarah Sze Triple Point is certain to be a lasting testament to the continued development of this exciting and original artist The Spatial Politics of the Sculptural Euyoung Hong,2016-10-04 Space is a formative factor in the production of sculpture Phenomenological thought interprets sculptural work in relation to the immersive experience of the viewer situating it within its environment But what possibilities lie beyond this unitary position What is the political potential of a sculptural object How can its spatial relations and movements be reconfigured beyond its immediate environment Spatial Politics of the Sculptural investigates the concept of space and its role in the production of the sculptural form from a multidimensional perspective Engaging with the work of Krauss Fried Merleau Pony Deleuze and Guattari and using case studies of urban development in Paris New York and Seoul it reinterprets and dislocates the sculptural form in terms of the political dynamism of space proposing a new methodology for reading producing and expanding sculptural practice Drawing on David

Harvey's theory of capital scrutinizes the idea of the spatial in the process of urbanization. It examines the interrelationship between capital flow and accumulation and explores the production and destruction of space in relation to the creation of three-dimensional works of art. In doing so, it expands the idea of the sculptural object in relation to the urban environment.

Rethinking Contemporary Art and Multicultural Education New Museum, 2011-02-25. For over a decade, Contemporary Art and Multicultural Education has served as the guide to multicultural art education, connecting everyday experience, social critique, and creative expression with classroom learning. The much-anticipated Rethinking Contemporary Art and Multicultural Education continues to provide an accessible and practical tool for teachers while offering new art essays and content to account for transitions and changes in both the fields of art and education. A beautifully illustrated collaboration of over one hundred artists, writers, curators, and educators from in and around the contemporary art world, this volume offers thoughtful and innovative materials that challenge the normative practices of arts education and traditional art history. Rethinking Contemporary Art and Multicultural Education builds upon the pedagogy of the original to present new possibilities and modes of understanding art, culture, and their relationships to students and ourselves. The fully revised second edition provides new theoretical and practical resources for educators and students everywhere, including Educators' perspectives on contemporary art, multicultural education, and teaching in today's classroom. Full-color reproductions and writings on over 50 contemporary artists and their works, plus an additional 150 black and white images throughout. Lesson plans for using art to explore topical issues such as activism and democracy, conflict, local and global, and history and historicism. A companion website offering over 250 color reproductions of artwork from the book, a glossary of terms, and links to the New Museum and G Class websites: www.routledge.com/textbooks/9780415960854.

Women, Making, and Everyday Value in Contemporary Installation Art Elyse Speaks, 2025-05-15. What can art offer as it extends beyond aesthetic categories and their boundaries? Examining the work of three major American contemporary artists, Jessica Stockholder, Liza Lou, and Sarah Sze, this book explores their installation-specific practice in rich detail, connecting it to wider issues surrounding feminist art, everyday objects, DIY spaces, and practice in the 1990s and broader contemporary period. Feminist art practice has long invested in the shape, routines, and materials of everyday life, but the 1990s saw a significant return of handwork and process-driven practice within installation art. This book highlights the capacity for artwork to promote alternate categories of aesthetic experience through investigations of inventive and alternative materials and processes. By looking across these artists' contrasting practices and approaches to intermediality, the book shows how their work makes connections between the mundane and surprising, the banal and transformed, and the real and imaginary. Richly illustrated and drawing on interviews with Stockholder, Lou, and Sze, each chapter presents a case study for how these artists have questioned the aesthetics of the everyday through their provocative use of everyday objects, craft materials, and making techniques. Each artwork is situated within broader issues surrounding materiality and contemporary art, and each artist

examined in relation to their contemporaries including Abraham Cruzvillegas Haegue Yang Rachel Harrison Thomas Hirschhorn Cady Noland Gabriel Orozco Rikrit Tiravanija and Do Ho Suh What emerges is a new understanding of aesthetic and material value and the legacy of experimental forms of artistic production
