The Other Side of Normal F. Michael Horn, 2002-05-28 This work is an outgrowth of two profound life experiences One took place in graduate school preparing for a career as a clinical psychologist One professor well into middle age began pontificating on homosexuality Without hesitation he made a pronouncement which was delivered as the final immutable truth on the subject Men do NOT love one another It was delivered with a finality of conviction of ultimate judgment I wondered how he knew how he could be so sure what had given him the right to speak so authoritatively on a matter he in all likelihood had never experienced nor ever would It struck me as the ultimate arrogance That was 1980 The second experience was the ever popular enquiry What do homosexuals do with each other This question is rarely one of innocent curiosity but rather one of disbelief incredulity distaste disgust even thinly disguised contempt Both these early experiences impressed me as a powerful negation of our core essence as gay men in the world It seemed incredible that who we are should be dismissed with a wave of the hand as if the gay experience is of no consequence whatsoever a mere pock mark on otherwise unblemished skin Even nineteenth century Victorians were never so cavalier about hetero sexuality Few if any of us growing up in heterosexual society avoid the experience of being wholly dismissed in this way as if our very existence is irrelevant perhaps should never have been This is profoundly corrosive of our core sense of human integrity An ineradicable message is implanted that of deviate defective unworthy condemned This unavoidably etches a deep experience of shame within us all Over the years with maturity we slowly come to terms with who we are always at a price What do homosexuals do with each other The fulcrum of the question is on the do ing It completely ignores the be ing what does a gay man feel about men How are such feelings distinct from those felt by heterosexual men for other men The feelings we hold for one another are rarely of concern to the hetero It just doesn t get asked Curiosity stops here It seems a discussion that prefers to be shunned Bringing it up evokes fear and discomfort and embarrassment even shame We are cued into silence It is a silence which intrudes into our shared moments of intimacy with other men Unaware of our shame we prefer instead to utter the body language of sex giving voice to the feeling within through the do ing Sex often serves an unwitting purpose of helping us avoid our feelings What we take to bed with us is the commonplace heterosexual male model of using sex to spare us the whole range in feelings which naturally arise with intimacy between human beings In their case however the female presence helps balance out this inclination Healthy women are active seekers of intimacy and feeling expression As gay men we are required to find this balance within ourselves It wasn t so very long ago that not only did we not have the right to have sex with one another we didn t even have the right to be in one another s company Meeting one another socially in public places or private gathering was fraught with risk In almost any gay bar or restaurant entrapment by the vice squad was a very real threat The accusation was tantamount to the conviction particularly as to employers authority figures parents family community This was a de facto suspension of civil rights freedom of assembly freedom of association freedom from harassment threat coercion intimidation habeas corpus rights to privacy and so on Our lives were dismissed out of hand Like the Jews in 1940 s Europe our very existence was taken from us Like theirs our very livelihood was at stake We were relegated to the fringes of society forced to live in shame and in secrecy Certainly this did not provide a conducive atmosphere for
