Satyajit Ray An Anthology Of Statements:

Satyajit Ray Chidananda Das Gupta,1981      The Cinema of Satyajit Ray Darius Cooper,2000-01-13 Satyajit Ray is India's greatest filmmaker and his importance in the international world of cinema has long been recognised. Darius Cooper's study of Ray is the first to examine his rich and varied work from a social and historical perspective and to situate it within Indian aesthetics. Providing analyses of selected films including those that comprise The Apu Trilogy, Chess Players and Jalsaghar among others, Cooper outlines Western influences on Ray's work such as the plight of women functioning within a patriarchal society, Ray's political vision of the doubly colonised and his attack and critique of the Bengali Indian middle class of today. The most comprehensive treatment of Ray's work, The Cinema of Satyajit Ray makes accessible the oeuvre of one of the most prolific and creative filmmakers of the twentieth century.

Satyajit Ray Andrew Robinson,1989-01-01 Profiles the life of the Indian director and discusses the making of each of his films.

Satyajit Ray's The Chess Players and Postcolonial Film Theory Reena Dube,2005-05-04 Indispensable for students of film studies in this book, Reena Dube explores Satyajit Ray's films and The Chess Players in particular in the context of discourses of labour in colonial and postcolonial conditions. Starting from Daniel Defoe and moving through history, short story and film to the present, Dube widens her analysis with comparisons in which Indian films are situated alongside Hollywood and other films and interweaves historical and cultural debates within film theory. Her book treats film as part of the larger cultural production of India and provides a historical sense of the cross-genre borrowings, traditions and debates that have deeply influenced Indian cinema and its viewers.

The Indian Postcolonial Elleke Boehmer, Rosinka Chaudhuri,2010-10-04 India has often been at the centre of debates on and definitions of the postcolonial condition. Offering a challenging new direction for the field, this Critical Reader confronts how theory in the Indian context is responding in vital terms to our understanding of that condition today. The Indian Postcolonial: A Critical Reader is made up of four sections looking in turn at visual cultures, translating cultural traditions, the ethical text, global cosmopolitan worlds. Each section is prefaced with a short introduction by the editors that locate these interdisciplinary articles within the contemporary national and international context. Showcasing the diversity and vitality of current debate, this volume collects the work of both established figures and a new generation of cultural critics. Challenging and unsettling many basic premises of postcolonial studies, this volume is the ideal Reader for students and scholars of the Indian Postcolonial.

Selected Poems Jibanananda Das,2006 Jibanananda Das' lyricism is unparalleled in Bengali literature. His early poems are vivid, eloquent celebrations of the beauty of Bengal; his later works, written in the 1940s and 50s, are darker comments on political issues and current affairs like the Second World War, the Bengal Famine of 43 and Hindu-Muslim riots at the time of Partition. Born in 1899, Jibanananda belonged to a group of poets who tried to shake off Tagore's poetic influence. While he is best known for poetry that reveals a deep love for nature and rural landscapes, tradition and history, Jibanananda is also strikingly urban and introspective, his work centring on themes of loneliness depression and death He was a master of word images and his unique poetic idiom drew on tradition but was startlingly new      World Directors in Dialogue Bert Cardullo,2011-02-07 This book features interviews with 13 major international directors Akira Kurosawa Satyajit Ray Luchino Visconti Abbas Kiarostami Ermanno Olmi Jean Pierre and Luc Dardenne Zhang Yimou Mike Leigh Ken Loach Jacques Tati Eric Rohmer and Fran_ois Truffaut      The Oxford History of World Cinema Geoffrey Nowell-Smith,1996 Featuring nearly three thousand film stills production shots and other illustrations an authoritative history of the cinema traces the development of the medium its filmmakers and stars and the evolution of national cinemas around the world      Satyajit Ray ,1981      The Missionary and the Libertine Ian Buruma,2012-10-17 From Naipaul s India to the last days of Hong Kong and from the ghosts of Pearl Harbor to Benazir Bhutto Buruma delivers an engaging and incisive look at the ways East and West understand and misunderstand each other At home in both worlds Buruma traverses the realms of journalism literary criticism and political analysis to examine the dialogue of fact and fantasy that affects our perception of far away lands Whether deconstructing the films of Satyajit Ray or the novels of Yoshimoto Banana Buruma offers a splendid counterbalance to fashionable theories of clashing civilizations and uniquely Asian values In twenty five illuminating often humorous essays The Missionary and the Libertine shows us why Buruma s reputation for writing the most compelling commentary on the faultlines of the East West divide is so secure

Bengal in Global Concept History Andrew Sartori,2009-05-15 Today people all over the globe invoke the concept of culture to make sense of their world their social interactions and themselves But how did the culture concept become so ubiquitous In this ambitious study Andrew Sartori closely examines the history of political and intellectual life in nineteenth and twentieth century Bengal to show how the concept can take on a life of its own in different contexts Sartori weaves the narrative of Bengal s embrace of culturalism into a worldwide history of the concept from its origins in eighteenth century Germany through its adoption in England in the early 1800s to its appearance in distinct local guises across the non Western world The impetus for the concept s dissemination was capitalism Sartori argues as its spread across the globe initiated the need to celebrate the local and the communal Therefore Sartori concludes the use of the culture concept in non Western sites was driven not by slavish imitation of colonizing powers but by the same problems that repeatedly followed the advance of modern capitalism This remarkable interdisciplinary study will be of significant interest to historians and anthropologists as well as scholars of South Asia and colonialism      Theater of Cruelty Ian Buruma,2014-09-16 Winner of the PEN Diamonstein Spielvogel Award for the Art of the Essay Ian Buruma is fascinated he writes by what makes the human species behave atrociously In Theater of Cruelty the acclaimed author of The Wages of Guilt and Year Zero A History of 1945 once again turns to World War II to explore that question to the Nazi occupation of Paris the Allied bombing of German cities the international controversies over Anne Frank s diaries Japan s militarist intellectuals and its kamikaze pilots One way that people respond to power and cruelty Buruma argues is through art and the art that most interests him reveals the dark impulses beneath the veneer of civilized behavior This is what draws him to German and Japanese artists such as Max Beckmann George Grosz Ernst Ludwig Kirchner Mishima Yukio and Yokoo Tadanori as well as to filmmakers such as Werner Herzog Rainer Werner Fassbinder Kurosawa Kiyoshi and Hans J rgen Syberberg All were affected by fascism and its terrible consequences all looked into the abyss and made art of what they saw Whether he is writing in this wide ranging collection about war artists or film or about David Bowie s music R Crumb s drawings the Palestinians of the West Bank or Asian theme parks Ian Buruma brings sympathetic historical insight and shrewd aesthetic judgment to understanding the diverse ways that people deal with violence and cruelty in life and in art Theater of Cruelty includes eight pages of color and black white images
