Dove,2024-02-27 This chronicle of natural history argues that the modern environmental crisis and rise in science skepticism codeveloped with the rise of ever narrower scientific disciplines For millennia the field of natural history promoted a knowledgeable and unifying view of the world In contrast the modern rise of narrow scientific disciplines has promoted a dichotomy between nature and culture on the one hand and between scientific and folk knowledge on the other Drawing on the fields of anthropology history and environmental science Michael R Dove argues that the loss of this historic holistic vision of the world is partly to blame for contemporary environmental degradation and science skepticism Dove bases this thesis on a study of four pioneering natural historians across four centuries Georg Eberhard Rumphius seventeenth century Carl Linnaeus eighteenth century Alfred Russel Wallace nineteenth century and Harold C Conklin twentieth century Dove studies their field craft and writing the political cultural and environmental circumstances in which they worked the sources of their insight and the implications of their work for modern society Most of all the book seeks to discover what enabled those natural historians to straddle boundaries that today seem impassable and to distill that wisdom for a modern world greatly in need of a holistic vision of people and environment Poems and Ballads Algernon Charles Swinburne,1866 From Beowulf to Edward Gibbon Robert Shafer,1931 The Picturesque and the Sublime Susan Glickman,2000 Winner of the Gabrielle Roy Prize in English and the Raymond Klibansky Prize The Picturesque and the Sublime is a cultural history of two hundred years of nature writing in Canada from eighteenth century prospect poems to contemporary encounters with landscape Arguing against the received wisdom made popular by Northrop Frye and Margaret Atwood that Canadian writers view nature as hostile Susan Glickman places Canadian literature in the English and European traditions of the sublime and the picturesque Glickman argues that early immigrants to Canada brought with them the expectation that nature would be grand mysterious awesome even terrifying and welcomed scenes that conformed to these notions of sublimity She contends that to interpret their descriptions of nature as negative as so many critics have done is a significant misunderstanding Glickman provides close readings of several important works including Susanna Moodie s Enthusiasm Charles G D Roberts s Ave and Paulette Jiles s Song to the Rising Sun and explores the poems in the context of theories of nature and art Instead of projecting backward from a modernist perspective Glickman reads forward from the discovery of landscape as a legitimate artistic subject in seventeenth century England and argues that picturesque modes of description and a sublime aesthetic have governed much of the representation of nature in this country Susan Glickman is a poet living in Toronto She is the author of Complicity The Power to Move Henry Moore s Sheep and Other Poems and Hide and Seek
