Saving Bernice Jody Raphael, 2015-05-01 Skillfully interweaving Bernice's own eloquent words about her harrowing abuse with descriptions of other women's similar experiences and a rich synthesis of statistical findings Jody Raphael demonstrates convincingly that domestic violence and dependence on public assistance are intricately linked In a work that is sure to stir controversy she challenges traditional views and stereotypes conservative and liberal about welfare recipients arguing that many poor women are neither lazy nor paralyzed by a culture of poverty but instead are trapped by their batterers Bernice's ordeals at the hands of her abusive partner brutal beatings violent rapes threats on her life stalking blocked access to birth control and sabotage of efforts to find a job resonate throughout the work The experiences she relates provide crucial insights into the welfare system and illuminate its failures successes and potential in helping women like her This disquieting yet inspiring book puts a human face on the heated public policy debate over welfare reform Above all it is Bernice's life story and through her voice the story of countless other battered women who are isolated in poverty and welfare by the power and control of their abusers Battered Black Women and Welfare Reform Dána-Ain Davis, 2012-02-01

This timely and compelling ethnography examines the impact of welfare reform on women seeking to escape domestic violence Dána-Ain Davis profiles twenty-two women thirteen of whom are Black living in a battered women's shelter in a small city in upstate New York She explores the contradictions between welfare reform's supposed success in moving women off of public assistance and toward economic self-sufficiency and the consequences welfare reform policy has presented for Black women fleeing domestic violence Focusing on the intersection of poverty violence and race she demonstrates the differential treatment that Black and White women face in their entanglements with the welfare bureaucracy by linking those entanglements to the larger political economy of a small city neoliberal social policies and racialized ideas about Black women as workers and mothers Saving Bernice Jody Raphael, 2000 Illustrates the dynamics of domestic violence through the experience of Bernice an African American woman who lived in a domestically violent situation for over ten years Examines how low income women seek nuclear families and form them early how getting off welfare and finding work is key to an abused woman's finding her identity and self-worth and how abusive partners sabotage these women's work efforts
