Redecision Therapy Carolyn E. Lennox, 1997-03-01 Editor Carolyn Lennox characterizes the redecision therapist as a director in an improvisational theater Guided by the client's personal contract for change the therapist helps the client select and rewrite old scripts in which he or she was cast as victim By keeping the dialogue moving and assisting the client in confronting negative messages the therapist supports revision of the last act so that the self can be experienced as triumphant protagonist and the victory can be carried over into everyday life This compendium of contributions from twenty two experienced redecision therapists first addresses issues of theory how to negotiate a clear contract for change how to identify client impasses how to access the client's potential for creativity what transactional analysis calls the natural child and then illustrates applications of the theory in the treatment of depression anxiety bulimia PTSD and so forth in individuals

Bradbury,2015-05-19 At the height of the 1960s a British writer accepts an academic post in America for a year that he ll never forget English author James Walker has three books to his name each greeted with middling success and then promptly forgotten But his r sum is significant enough to earn him a yearlong appointment at Benedict Arnold University as the American college s writer in residence At Benedict Arnold Walker is something of a celebrity a firebrand of 1960s British literary culture whose work though perhaps met with shrugs at home is the subject of vibrant scholarly criticism among American academics Walker of course is not quite what some were expecting and culture clashes abound as he encounters the tropes of American academia in the sixties Fusty buttoned up professors spirited advocates of free love and aggressively ambitious colleagues collide to ensure that Walker s year in America will be anything but ordinary Dirty Linen Martin

Doyle,2023-10-19 Martin Doyle Books Editor of The Irish Times offers a personal intimate history of the Troubles seen through the microcosm of a single rural parish his own part of both the Linen Triangle heartland of the North s defining industry and the Murder Triangle the Badlands devastated by paramilitary violence He lifts the veil of silence drawn over the horrors of the past recording in heartrending detail the terrible toll the conflict took more than twenty violent deaths in a few square miles and the long tail of trauma it has left behind Neighbours and classmates who lost loved ones in the conflict survivors maimed in bomb attacks and victims of sectarianism both Catholic and Protestant entrust Doyle with their stories Writing with a literary sensibility he skillfully shows how the once dominant local linen industry serves as a metaphor for communal division but also for the solidarity that transcended the sectarian divide To those who might ask why you would want to reopen old wounds the answer might be that some wounds have never been allowed to heal La Fountain Bleu

Moore Edwards,2018-03-10 It was about as hard as hard could ever be growing up in Raleigh North Carolina especially for colored people Obidella Johnson hated the word colored She had to admit that it was better than being called Nigra Her family had it better than most folks Her mama was a pastry chef at La Fountain Bleu and made good money which would have been fine if their daddy a preacher hadnt run away with the head of the usher board and their mother hadnt turned to drink to ease her pain Obidella was thankful that her mama didnt drink during the day She waited until she got off from work before touching a drop It fell on Obidella to care for her little brother and sister and keep the house clean She was also thankful that her mamas boss Mr Dave Mills the richest white man in North Carolina was in love with her mama and looked the other way Obidella prayed every day that God would send her daddy back home to take care of them But God said no He had other plans for the Johnson family particularly Obidella The Other Side of the Bayou Constance Schroder
