School Ways Ben E. Graves,1993 A practical richly illustrated design guide on school architecture Table of Contents Introduction Demographics The Past History The Present Portfolio Studies The Future Furniture Planning Conclusions Where to Get Help References 354 illustrations 64 in full color Designing Schools Kate Darian-Smith,Julie Willis,2016-09-13 Designing Schools explores the close connections between the design of school buildings and educational practices throughout the twentieth century to today Through international cases studies that span the Americas Europe Africa and Australia this volume examines historical innovations in school architecture and situates these within changing pedagogical ideas about the best ways to educate children It also investigates the challenges posed by new technologies and the digital age to the design and use of school places Set around three interlinked themes school buildings school spaces and school cultures this book argues that education is mediated or framed by the spaces in which it takes place and that those spaces are in turn influenced by cultural political and social concerns about teaching learning and the child Designing Elementary Classrooms James L. Taylor,1953 Art and Industry: (1885) Drawing in the public schools United States. Office of Education,Isaac Edwards Clarke,1885 Teaching the Digital Generation Frank S. Kelly,Ted McCain,Ian Jukes,2008-09-17 The authors show how traditional industrial type high schools have failed to meet students learning needs and explore ten alternative high school models that address 21st century skills Making Up Our Mind Sigal R. Ben-Porath,Michael C. Johanek,2019-04-24 If free market advocates had total control over education policy would the shared public system of education collapse Would school choice revitalize schooling with its innovative force With proliferating charters and voucher schemes would the United States finally make a dramatic break with its past and expand parental choice Those are not only the wrong questions they re the wrong premises argue philosopher Sigal R Ben Porath and historian Michael C Johanek in Making Up Our Mind Market driven school choices aren t new They predate the republic and for generations parents have chosen to educate their children through an evolving mix of publicly supported private charitable and entrepreneurial enterprises The question is not whether to have school choice It is how we will regulate who has which choices in our mixed market for schooling and what we as a nation hope to accomplish with that mix of choices Looking beyond the simplistic divide between those who oppose government intervention and those who support public education the authors make the case for a structured landscape of choice in schooling one that protects the interests of children and of society while also identifying key shared values on which a broadly acceptable policy could rest

School(house) Design and Curriculum in Nineteenth Century America Joseph da Silva,2018-08-21 This book examines the formative relationship between nineteenth century American school architecture and curriculum While other studies have queried the intersections of school architecture and curriculum they approach them without consideration for the ways in which their relationships are culturally formative or how they reproduce or resist extant inequities in the United States Da Silva addresses this gap in the school design archive with a cross disciplinary approach taking to task the cultural consequences of the relationship between these two primary elements of teaching and learning in a hotspot of American education the nineteenth century Providing a historical and theoretical framework for practitioners and scholars in evaluating the politics of modern American school design the book holds a mirror to the oft criticized state of American education today     Resources in Education ,2001-04     Popular Science ,1992-10 Popular Science gives our readers the information and tools to improve their technology and their world The core belief that Popular Science and our readers share The future is going to be better and science and technology are the driving forces that will help make it better

Magnet and Specialized Schools of the Future Edwin T. Merritt,2005 The authors bring together essential information on every stage of the process of creating a new public educational facility for boards of education school building committees district superintendents and other decision makers This book features case studies of recent exemplary magnet and specialized school construction projects and provides a detailed educational specification that s genuinely future oriented     From Cotton Field to Schoolhouse Christopher M. Span,2012-04-01 In the years immediately following the Civil War the formative years for an emerging society of freed African Americans in Mississippi there was much debate over the general purpose of black schools and who would control them From Cotton Field to Schoolhouse is the first comprehensive examination of Mississippi s politics and policies of postwar racial education The primary debate centered on whether schools for African Americans mostly freedpeople should seek to develop blacks as citizens train them to be free but subordinate laborers or produce some other outcome African Americans envisioned schools established by and for themselves as a primary means of achieving independence equality political empowerment and some degree of social and economic mobility in essence full citizenship Most northerners assisting freedpeople regarded such expectations as unrealistic and expected African Americans to labor under contract for those who had previously enslaved them and their families Meanwhile many white Mississippians objected to any educational opportunities for the former slaves Christopher Span finds that newly freed slaves made heroic efforts to participate in their own education but too often the schooling was used to control and redirect the aspirations of the newly freed     Buffalo's Text Book John F. The Functioning of the Public School Program Rochester (N.Y.). Board of Education,1927     School and Home Education ,1916     The Gates Foundation and the Future of US Public Schools Philip E. Kovacs,2010-11-01 There has been much public praise for the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation s efforts to reform public education However few scholars have engaged substantively and critically with the organization s work While the Gates Foundation is the single largest supporter by far of choice initiatives particularly with regard to charter school formation it is pushing public school privatization through a wide array of initiatives and in conjunction with a number of other foundations What are the implications for a public system as control over educational policy and priority is concentrated under one of the richest people on the planet in ways that foster de unionization and teacher de skilling while homogenizing school models and curriculum The Gates Foundation and the Future of US Public Schools addresses this crucial unanswered question while investigating the relationships between the Gates Foundation and other think tanks government and corporate institutions Annual Report of the Public Schools Portland Public Schools (Or.).
