Walker,1988 Defines why women have been blocked from participating in the mainstream of American comedy yet have overcome hurdles to produce a humor that is sustaining and spells survival for women in society Merry Wives and Others Penelope Fritzer,Bartholomew Bland,2010-06-28 In many ways the history of domestic humor writing is also a history of domestic life in the twentieth century For many years domestic humor was written primarily by females significant contributions from male writers began as times and family structures changed It remains timeless because of its basis on the relationships between husbands and wives parents and children houses and inhabitants pets and their owners chores and their doers and neighbors This work is a historical and literary survey of humorists who wrote about home It begins with a chapter on the social context of and attitudes toward traditional domestic roles and housewives The following chapters beginning with the 1920s and continuing through today cover the different time periods and the foremost American domestic humorists and the humor written by surrogate parents grown children about their childhood families husbands and Canadian and English writers Also covered are the differences among various writers toward traditional domestic roles some like Erma Bombeck and Judith Viorst embraced them while others like Caryl Kristenson and Marilyn Kentz resisted them Common themes such as the isolation and competitiveness of housework home as an idealized metaphysical goal and ongoing physical challenge and the urban suburban and rural life are also explored Mothering through Precarity Julie A. Wilson,Emily Chivers Yochim,2017-03-09 In Mothering through Precarity Julie A Wilson and Emily Chivers Yochim explore how working and middle class mothers negotiate the difficulties of twenty first century mothering through their everyday engagement with digital media From Facebook and Pinterest to couponing health and parenting websites the women Wilson and Yochim study rely upon online resources and communities for material and emotional support Feeling responsible for their family's economic security these women often become mamapreneurs running side businesses out of their homes They also feel the need to provide for their family's happiness making successful mothering dependent upon economic and emotional labor Questioning these standards of motherhood Wilson and Yochim demonstrate that mothers work is inseparable from digital media as it provides them the means for sustaining their families through such difficulties as health scares underfunded schools a weakening social safety net and job losses
