Human Security for All Kevin M. Cahill, 2004 In original essays scholars diplomats and practitioners take up the issues to which Sergio Vieira de Mello devoted his life Building on the truth that in de Mello s words neither dignity nor equality could take root in the absence of basic human security the contributors address a range of practical political and philosophical issues These are organized into four areas of concern human rights and the rights of the displaced post conflict transitions and working with local communities to create leadership and governance maintaining humanitarian space in conflict zones and justice and the rule of law Jacket

Sergio Vieira de Mello George Gordon-Lennox, Annick Stevenson, 2004 Chasing the Flame Samantha Power, 2008 Reveals Sergio Vieira de Mello s powerful legacy of humanity and ideological strength in the context of his troubleshooting attempts in Lebanon in the aftermath of Israel s 1982 invasion in his taming of the Khmer Rouge and his repatriation of four hundred thousand Cambodian refugees in the early nineties in his efforts to negotiate an end to the slaughter in Bosnia in his struggle to nation build in war torn societies during his quasi colonial governorships of Kosovo and East Timor and through his tragic final posting as the UN representative in Baghdad where he became the victim of the country s first ever suicide bomb

Interview with Sergio Vieira de Mello, May 5, 1998, New York Sergio Vieira de Mello, James S. Sutterlin, Yale University (New Haven, Conn.), 1998

Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office, 2008

Fresh Perspectives on the 'War on Terror' Miriam Gani, Penelope Mathew, 2008-07-01 On 20 September 2001 in an address to a Joint Session of Congress and the American people President George W Bush declared a war on terror The concept of the war on terror has proven to be both an attractive and a potent rhetorical device It has been adopted and elaborated upon by political leaders around the world particularly in the context of military action in Afghanistan and Iraq But use of the rhetoric has not been confined to the military context The war on terror is a domestic one also and the phrase has been used to account for broad criminal legislation sweeping agency powers and potential human rights abuses throughout much of the world This collection seeks both to draw on and to engage critically with the metaphor of war in the context of terrorism It brings together a group of experts from Australia Canada the United Kingdom France and Germany who write about terrorism from a variety of disciplinary perspectives including international law and international relations public and constitutional law criminal law and criminology legal theory and psychology and law

The United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights Felice D. Gaer, Christen L. Broecker, 2013-10-02 In this first systematic examination of the role of the top United Nations human rights official editors Felice Gaer and Christen Broecker analyze the achievements leadership styles of and obstacles encountered by the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights and propose recommendations for the future The editors are joined by 18 expert contributors including present and former UN policymakers human rights practitioners legal scholars and current High Commissioner Navi Pillay The United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights Conscience for the World examines how the six individuals who have served in this post have worked to end atrocities hold perpetrators of abuses to account promote equality and justice and provide protection and redress to victims

Human Rights in Global Health Benjamin Mason Meier, Lawrence Ogalthorpe

Gostin,2018 Institutions matter for the advancement of human rights in global health Given the dramatic development of human rights under international law and the parallel proliferation of global institutions for public health there arises an imperative to understand the implementation of human rights through global health governance This volume examines the evolving relationship between human rights global governance and public health studying an expansive set of health challenges through a multi sectoral array of global organizations To analyze the structural determinants of rights based governance the organizations in this volume include those international bureaucracies that implement human rights in ways that influence public health in a globalizing world This volume brings together leading health and human rights scholars and practitioners from academia non governmental organizations and the United Nations system They explore the foundations of human rights as a normative framework for global health governance the mandate of the World Health Organization to pursue a human rights based approach to health the role of inter governmental organizations across a range of health related human rights the influence of rights based economic governance on public health and the focus on global health among institutions of human rights governance Contributing chapters each map the distinct human rights efforts within a specific institution of global governance for health Through the comparative institutional analysis in this volume the contributing authors examine institutional dynamics to operationalize human rights in organizational policies programs and practices and assess institutional factors that facilitate or inhibit human rights mainstreaming for global health advancement Sergio

Samantha Power,2020-04-14 Now a Netflix biopic with Narcos star Wagner Moura playing diplomat Sergio Vieira de Mello The best way to understand today s messy world is to read about the inspiring life and diplomatic genius of Sergio Vieira de Mello Walter Isaacson Originally published as Chasing the Flame Before his death in 2003 in Iraq s first major suicide bomb attack Sergio Vieira de Mello a humanitarian and peacemaker with the United Nations placed himself at the center of the most significant geopolitical crises of the last half century He cut deals with the murderous Khmer Rouge in Cambodia forcibly confronted genocidal killers from Rwanda and used his intellect and charisma to try to tame militant extremists in Lebanon Afghanistan and Iraq Known as a cross between James Bond and Bobby Kennedy Vieira de Mello managed to save lives in the world s most dangerous places while also pressing the world s most powerful countries to join him in grappling with such urgent dilemmas as When should killers be engaged and when should they be shunned When is military force justified How can outsiders play a role in healing broken people and broken places He did not have the luxury of merely posing these questions Vieira de Mello had to find answers apply them and live with the consequences With Sergio Pulitzer Prize winner and author of The Education of an Idealist Samantha Power offers a profile in courage and humanity and an unforgettable meditation on how best to manage the deadly challenges of the twenty first century The Good International Citizen: Volume 3, The Official History of Australian Peacekeeping, Humanitarian and Post-Cold War Operations David Horner,John Connor,2014-04-17 Volume 3 of the official history of Australian peacekeeping humanitarian and post cold war operations explores Australia's involvement in six overseas missions following the end of the Gulf War Cambodia 1991-99 Western Sahara 1991-94 the former Yugoslavia 1992-2004 Iraq 1991 Maritime Interception Force operations 1991-99 and the contribution to the inspection of weapons of mass destruction facilities in Iraq 1991-99 These missions reflected the increasing complexity of peacekeeping as it overlapped with enforcement of sanctions weapons inspections humanitarian aid election monitoring and peace enforcement Granted full access to all relevant Australian Government records David Horner and John Connor provide readers with a comprehensive and authoritative account of Australia's peacekeeping operations in Asia Africa and Europe Lessons From Kosovo: The KFOR Experience, 2002-01-01 Civil military unity of effort has been an essential yet frustrating elusive requirement for success in post cold war peace operations The need to coordinate collaborate and share information between civilian and military entities is on the rise and deemed essential requirements for success Today's information and communications technologies serve to facilitate the exchange of information among the disparate players of peace operations but the ability to actually realize open information sharing in real world coalition operations remains problematic The integration of relevant information and the timely dissemination of the processed information to interested parties in the field is well within the realities of today's technology Increased civil military involvement in peacekeeping and humanitarian operations around the world is matched in part by the rise in the number and complexity of these situations There are many more actors on today's peace operations landscape with competing as well as common interests and expectations The need to improve cooperation coordination and more open information sharing is on the rise Efforts to improve and facilitate more open working together and information sharing among the disparate participants must overcome a continuing lack of trust among the civil military actors obsolete national and international policies unrealistic legal and funding constraints and outdated organization cultural traditions and behavior patterns Additionally all actors need to better understand each other and the roles they can and should play in an increasingly complex operational environment In order to obtain closure and improve the future situation the actors must develop relationships based on mutual trust and there must be a clear understanding that cooperation coordination and information sharing is a two way street In reality inefficiencies are inherent in any multilateral activity and competing interests and fear of loss of power and prestige make unity of effort a desired objective but also one that will be difficult to achieve Furthermore information is power and can be an effective means to an end but only if it can be interpreted shared and used effectively for military political or civil use Information can also help reduce uncertainty and provide those that possess it a decided advantage in the decisionmaking process There continues to be a general lack of trust among the players coupled with the lack of a shared understanding of the added value through more open and improved information sharing Information sharing among the actors on the peace operations landscape continues to be largely a manual process These obstacles need to be recognized and to the extent possible practical recommendations developed for ameliorating them Application of new technology must go beyond simply modernizing existing practices and capabilities The civil military community needs to look at new ways of doing business and how the rapidly advancing information technology can be used to leverage the power of information to help achieve timely and appropriate success of peace operations The patterns of conflict for the post cold war environment are changing and so are the approaches to military command and control Advances in information technology have enabled organizations and individuals to more effectively leverage the power of information yet for coalition operations where information sharing is essential to meet mission needs it continues to be problematic The issue is not technology but largely the will on the part of organizations and individuals to make it happen There is also a number of policy doctrine C4ISR systems cultural and environmental challenges that influence the ability to achieve more open sharing of information in coalition operations

The Best Intentions James Traub, 2007-10-30 A man who had won the Nobel Peace Prize who was widely counted one of the greatest UN Secretary Generals was nearly hounded from office by scandal Indeed both Annan and the institution he incarnates were so deeply shaken after the Bush Administration went to war in Iraq in the face of opposition from the Security Council that critics and even some friends began asking whether this sixty year old experiment in global policing has outlived its usefulness Do its failures arise from its own structure and culture or from a clash with an American administration determined to go its own way in defiance of world opinion James Traub a New York Times Magazine contributor who has spent years writing about the UN and about foreign affairs delves into these questions as no one else has done before Traub enjoyed unprecedented access to Annan and his top aides throughout much of this traumatic period He describes the despair over the Oil for Food scandal the deep divide between those who wished to accommodate American critics and those who wished to confront them the failed attempt to goad the Security Council to act decisively against state sponsored ethnic cleansing in Sudan And he recounts Annan's effort to respond to criticism with sweeping reform an effort which ultimately shattered on the resistance of U S Ambassador John Bolton In The Best Intentions Traub recounts the dramatically entwined history of Kofi Annan and the UN from 1992 to the present In Annan he sees a conscientious idealist given too little credit for advancing causes like humanitarian intervention and an honest broker crushed between American conservatives and Third World opponents but also a UN careerist who has absorbed that culture and can not in the end escape its limitations

No End in Sight Charles Ferguson, 2009-02-23 The first book of its kind to chronicle the reasons behind Iraq's descent into guerilla war warlord rule criminality and anarchy No End In Sight is a shocking story of wholesale incompetence recklessness and venality Culled from over 200 hours of footage collected for the film the book provides a candid and alarming retelling of the events following the fall of Baghdad in 2003 by high ranking officials Iraqi civilians American soldiers and prominent analysts Together these voices reveal the principal errors of U S policy that largely created the insurgency and chaos that engulf Iraq today and what we could and should do about them now No End In Sight marks the first time Americans will be allowed inside the White House Pentagon and Baghdad's Green Zone to understand for themselves the disintegration of Iraq and how arrogance and ignorance turned a military victory into a seemingly endless and deepening nightmare of a war The Reform Process of United Nations Peace Operations Nassrine De Rham-Azimi, Li Lin Chang, Institute of Policy Studies (Singapore), 2001-09-26 In March 2000 the United Nations Secretary General convened an international panel to conduct a major study on United Nations Peace Operations Chaired by former Algerian Foreign Minister and current Under Secretary General Lakhdar Brahimi the Panel was tasked to conduct a wide ranging study and analysis over lessons learned from past operations such as those in Rwanda and Somalia as well as current missions in Kosovo East Timor and the Democratic Republic of the Congo The Panel looked at how peacekeeping missions could achieve greater efficiency and success in attaining the key objectives of maintaining peace and promoting reconciliation and reconstruction It also reviewed the context within which peacekeeping missions took place the resources and limitations of the United Nations Department of Peacekeeping Operations DPKO specifically and the modality efficacy and extent of assistance rendered by the international community within the framework of peacekeeping and peace building in general The fifth in a series of conferences organised on lessons learnt from peacekeeping operations was held under the auspices of the United Nations Institute for Training and Research UNITAR the Institute of Policy Studies IPS of Singapore and the Japan Institute of International Affairs JIIA Throughout two intense days in Singapore in April 2001 an eminent group of academics government officials representatives of international organisations representatives from ongoing UN Missions and military scholars gathered behind closed doors to reflect upon the recommendations of the Brahimi Report and the obstacles to reform of peacekeeping This volume contains all the papers presented at that event It also includes the Co Chairs Summary and Recommendations The Report is a summary of the many animated debates that took place during the conference Recommendations of the Co Chairs have been drawn from the broad range of opinions and insights from the conference The findings and reactions of the participants to the Brahimi Report should give policy makers researchers and international affairs analysts a candid review and critique of past experiences that is essential to the comprehension of the failures of current peacekeeping and requirements for future success Humanitarian Action and Peace-Keeping Operations

Nassrine Azimi, 2023-09-29 This is the third work in the series of conferences held in Singapore on various aspects of United Nations Peacekeeping operations under the auspices of the United Nations Institute for Training and Research UNITAR the Institute of Political Studies IPS of Singapore and the National Institute for Research Advancement NIRA of Japan The 1997 Conference focused on humanitarian action and peacekeeping operations and brought together key practitioners and scholars from the Security Council those interested in government the International Committee of the Red Cross ICRC other humanitarian NGOs academics and military personnel Since the end of the Cold War the number and complexity of UN peacekeeping operations have increased dramatically due to profound changes in many areas of the world The recent trend has seen a shift from inter state to intra state conflicts bringing in its wake a myriad of operational legal and political questions such as the very relevance and applicability of the principle of non interference in the internal affairs of the state Parties to recent conflicts have no central authority and little or no regard for international humanitarian law Interested and involved parties on the peacekeeping and humanitarian scene have also changed and multiplied All these factors render humanitarian action more complex dangerous and difficult for all parties involved The book reviews four United Nations peacekeeping operations that have undergone immense difficulties viz in Somalia the former Yugoslavia Rwanda and Liberia It debates the pertinent political framework for humanitarian action in each case It explores the relationship between humanitarian and military action of coordination with regional organizations and multinational force as well as fundamental questions regarding the role and responsibility of the member states of the Security Council Its findings can provide policy makers researchers and analysts of international affairs with a sober and thorough assessment of past experience and lessons for the future

Hunting in the Shadows: The Pursuit of Al Qa'ida Since 9/11 Seth G. Jones, 2012-05 This landmark history chronicles the dramatic decade long war against al Qa'ida and provides a model for understanding the ebb and flow of terrorist activity Tracing intricately orchestrated terrorist plots and the elaborate multiyear investigations to disrupt them Seth G Jones identifies three distinct waves of al Qa'ida violence As Jonathan Mahler wrote in the New York Times Book Review studying these waves and the counterwaves that repelled them can tell us a lot about what works and what doesn't when it comes to fighting terrorism The result is a sweeping insider's account of what the war has been and what it might become
