Shaping Of South African Society 1652 184:

The Shaping of South African Society, 1652-1840. Richard Elphick, Hermann Giliomee, 2014-01-15 History is a powerful aid to the understanding of the present and those who are concerned with the escalating crisis in South Africa will find this an invaluable source book This is the story of the evolution of a society in which race became the dominant characteristic the primary determinant of status wealth and power Cultural chauvinism of the first European colonists primarily the Dutch merged with economic and demographic developments to create a society in which whites relegated all blacks free blacks Africans imported slaves to a systematic pattern of subordination and oppression that foreshadowed the apartheid of the twentieth century From the beginning of the nineteenth century the new empire builders the British reinforced the racial order In the next century and a half the industrialized South Africa would become firmly integrated into the world economy Published originally in South Africa in 1979 and updated and expanded now a decade later this book by twelve South African British Canadian Dutch and American scholars is the most comprehensive history of the early years of that troubled nation The authors put South Africa in the comparative context of other colonial systems Their social political and economic history is rich with empirical data and rests on a solid base of archival research The story they tell is a complex drama of a racial structure that has resisted hostile impulses from without and rebellion from within Jan Paerl, a Khoikhoi in Cape

Colonial Society, 1761-1851 Russel Stafford Viljoen, 2006 In this biography of the Khoikhoi Jan Paerl 1761 1851 light is being shed on a new form of resistance against colonial domination in Cape society It emphasizes Khoikhoi colonial encounters and incorporates themes such as millenarian beliefs identities master servant relations indentured labour and the appropriation of mission Christianity Indigenous African Knowledge Production Njoki Nathani-Wane, 2014-05-27 The Jie people of northern Uganda and the Turkana of northern Kenya have a genesis myth about Nayeche a Jie woman who followed the footprints of a gray bull across the waterless plateau and who founded a cradle land in the plains of Turkana In Remembering Nayeche and the Gray Bull Engiro Mustafa Kemal Mirzeler shows how the poetic journey of Nayeche and the gray bull Engiro and their metaphorical return during the Jie harvest rituals gives rise to stories imagery and the articulation of ethnic and individual identities Since the 1990s Mirzeler has travelled to East Africa to apprentice with storytellers Remembering Nayeche and the Gray Bull Engiro is both an account of his experience listening to these storytellers and of how oral tradition continues to evolve in the modern world Mirzeler s work contributes significantly to the anthropology of storytelling the study of myth and memory and the use of oral tradition in historical studies Slavery In South Africa

Elizabeth Eldredge, Fred Morton, 2019-05-28 South African slavery differs from slavery practiced in other frontier zones of European settlement in that the settlers enslaved indigenes as a supplement to and eventually as a replacement for imported slave labor On the expanding frontier Dutch speaking farmers increasingly met their labor needs by conducting slave raids arming African slave The Languages of Urban Africa Fiona Mc Laughlin, 2011-10-27 The Languages of Urban Africa consists of a series of case studies that address four main themes The first is the history of African urban languages The second set focus on theoretical issues in the study of African urban languages exploring the outcomes of intense multilingualism and also the ways in which urban dwellers form their speech communities The volume then moves on to explore the relationship between language and identity in the urban setting The final two case studies in the volume address the evolution of urban languages in Africa This rich set of chapters examine languages and speech communities in ten geographically diverse African urban centres covering almost all regions of the continent Half involve Francophone cities the other half Anglophone This exciting volume shows us what the study of urban African languages can tell us about language and about African societies in general It is essential reading for upper level undergraduates postgraduates and researchers in sociolinguistics especially those interested in the language of Africa

Afrikaners and the Boundaries of Faith in Post-Apartheid South Africa Annika Björnsdotter Teppo, 2021-09-30 This book examines the shifting moral and spiritual lives of white Afrikaners in South Africa after apartheid The end of South Africa's apartheid system of racial and spatial segregation sparked wide reaching social change as social cultural spatial and racial boundaries were transgressed and transformed This book investigates how Afrikaners have mediated the country's shifting boundaries within the realm of religion For instance one in every three Afrikaners used these new freedoms to leave the traditional Dutch Reformed Church NGK often for an entirely new religious affiliation within the Pentecostal or Charismatic churches or New Religious Movements such as Wiccan neopaganism Based on long term ethnographic fieldwork in the Western Cape area the book investigates what spiritual life after racial totalitarianism means for the members of the ethnic group that constructed and maintained that very totalitarianism Ultimately the book asks how these new Afrikaner religious practices contribute to social solidarity and integration in a persistently segregated society and what they can tell us about racial relations in the country today This book will be of interest to scholars of religious studies social and cultural anthropology and African studies

Thomas, 2021-05-03 Edges of Transatlantic Commerce in the Long Eighteenth Century examines and challenges the boundaries of the Atlantic in the eighteenth century with a particular focus on commerce Commerce as a keyword encompasses a wide range of documented and undocumented encounters that invoke topics such as shared or conflicting ideas of value affective experiences of the emerging global system and development of national economies as well as their opponents By investigating what gets exchanged created or obscured on the peripheries of transatlantic commercial relations and geography in the eighteenth century the chapters in this collection reimagine the edge as a liminal space with a potential for an alternative historical and aesthetic knowledge To ground this inquiry in a more material dimension the chapters engage specifically with what is being exchanged sold or communicated across the Atlantic by exploring ideas that

The Unending Frontier John F. Richards, 2003-05-15 It was the age of exploration the age of empire and conquest and human beings were extending their reach and their numbers as never before In the process they were intervening in the world's natural environment in equally unprecedented and dramatic ways. A sweeping work of environmental history, The Unending Frontier offers a truly global perspective on the profound impact of humanity on the natural world in the early modern period. John F. Richards identifies four broadly shared historical processes that speeded environmental change from roughly 1500 to 1800: intensified human land use along settlement frontiers, biological invasions, commercial hunting of wildlife, and problems of energy scarcity. The Unending Frontier considers each of these trends in a series of case studies, sometimes of a particular place such as Tokugawa Japan and early modern England and China, sometimes of a particular activity such as the fur trade in North America and Russia, cod fishing in the North Atlantic, and whaling in the Arctic. Throughout, Richards shows how humans, whether clearing forests or draining wetlands, transporting bacteria, insects, and livestock, hunting species to extinction, or reshaping landscapes, altered the material well-being of the natural world along with their own.
