The 20 walks in this book have been planned with children in mind and the book details places of interest to see along the way There are general knowledge and observation questions plus information on refreshment stops Tea Shop

Walks in Leicestershire & Rutland Paul A. Biggs, Sandra Biggs, 1998 This guide provides details of circular walks ranging from 2 to 8 miles which encompass a variety of shops including a windmill a steam railway station a store barn on a working farm and a 17th century hall The English Rural Poor, 1850-1914 Vol 4 Mark Freeman, 2022-01-26

Drawing on the difficult to access pamphlets reports periodical literature and political tracts this five volume set reproduces in facsimile a large number of neglected sources relating to rural life in the latter half of the nineteenth century It is of interest to scholars in nineteenth century studies and to all social historians The Great Central Railway John Palmer, 2021-01-30

Sets out to address what really happened through its LNER days and into British Railways custodianship A well researched and presented tome Key Model World For generations of railway enthusiasts and more lately for social historians the life and times of the former Great Central Railway and in particular its extension towards London in the 1890s and closure seventy years later have generated considerable interest and controversy Although many books have been written about the Railway the majority in recent times have concentrated upon providing a photographic record and a nostalgic look in retrospect to what was generally perceived as happier times for the route None of the books have presented the outcome from thorough research into the business aspects of the Railway and its successive private LNER and public BR ownerships through war and peace and times of industrial social and political change that influenced and shaped the demand for a railway service While retaining a strong railway theme throughout the book identifies the role played by successive governments the electricity and coal industries and the effect of social change that together resulted in a case for closure The content of the book replaces much supposition with fact and places on record what really happened The final part of the book acknowledges the fine work over half a century of volunteers dedicated to saving a section of the line in Leicestershire A valuable addition to the social and political history of railways The Railway Correspondence and Travel Society The London Gazette Great Britain, 1835

"The Autocar" Road Book: East Anglia and East Midlands Charles George Harper, 1912 Spencer's Illustrated Leicester Almanack, Diary, Peerage, Baronetage, Directory, and General Advertiser, 1898 The
