Maritime Power and the Power of Money in Louis XIV's France Benjamin Darnell, 2023 A detailed analysis of the limitations of the system which relied on intermediaries and private suppliers to finance build and maintain the French navy Although Louis XIV's navy did not win in any recognisable sense during the wars of the later seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries it was nevertheless one of the largest military institutions of the entire early modern world at a key moment in the evolution of the modern state and modern warfare This book examines how Louis XIV's navy was financed arguing that the way the state spends money and the relative efficiency and accountability of that spending is fundamental to understanding the effectiveness of a military system It outlines how the French crown depended on fiscal intermediaries and private suppliers explores how its failure to control the spending and activities of its contractors fundamentally limited France's strategic possibilities at sea and discusses how these structural problems were progressively and disastrously exposed as the state's financial situation deteriorated The book sets the activities of the French navy in the wider context of the wars of the period showing that France necessarily had to give precedence to the funding of its army Overall the book highlights the limitations of the contractor state demonstrating that early modern navies were both too complex and investment heavy to be entirely outsourced
