Rangers In Korea:

Rangers in Korea Robert W. Black, 2010-12-29 A generation before Vietnam the war for Korea raged It was as rough and dirty a war as has ever been fought a war small in history but very large to the men who waged it In the Korean War one group above all others distinguished itself a small elite band who volunteered for action behind enemy lines They were the men of the U S Army s legendary Rangers They succeeded in making the first combat jump in Ranger history destroying enemy headquarters and inflicting the first defeat on Communist Chinese forces while suffering a disproportionate number of casualties This is their story told here for the first time based on military records interviews with survivors and the author s personal experiences as an American Ranger in the Korean War

A Ranger Born Robert W. Black, 2007-12-18 Even as a boy growing up amid the green hills of rural Pennsylvania Robert W Black knew he was destined to become a Ranger With their three hundred year history of peerless courage and independence of spirit Rangers are a uniquely American brand of soldier one foot in the military one in the wilderness and that is what fired Black s imagination In this searing inspiring memoir Black recounts how he devoted himself body and soul to his proud service as an elite U S Army Ranger in Korea and Vietnam and what those years have taught him about himself his country and our future Born at the start of the Great Depression Black grew up on a farm at a time of great hardship but also tremendous national determination He was a kid who toughened up fast who learned the hard way to rely on his strength and his wits who saw the country go to war with Germany and Japan and wept because he was too young to serve As soon as the army would take him Black enlisted And as soon as he could muscle his way in he became a Ranger As a private first class in the 82d Airborne Division headquarters Black withstood the humiliations of enlisted service in the peacetime brown shoe army When the Korean War began he volunteered and trained to be an Airborne Ranger In Korea this young warrior his mind and body bursting with the lusts of adolescence grew up fast literally in the line of fire In clean vivid prose Black describes the hell of giving his all for a country that lacked the political resolve to give its all to a war against the North Koreans and the Chinese If Korea was frustrating Vietnam was maddening The heart of this book is devoted to the years of action that Black saw in Long An Province starting in 1967 Black writes of the perplexity of collaborating with South Vietnamese officers whose culture and motives he never fully understood he conjures up the sudden shock of the Tet Offensive and the daily horror of seeing fellow soldiers and innocent civilians slaughtered sometimes by stray bullets often by carelessness or treachery Vietnam challenged everything Black had come to believe in and left him totally unprepared for the hostility he would face when he returned to a war weary America Written with extraordinary candor and passion A Ranger Born is the memoir of a man who dedicated the best of his life to everything that is great and enduring about America At once intimate in its revelations and universal in its themes it is a book with profound relevance to our own troubled time in history

Ground Forces in the Korean War 1950-53 (2) Robert Mackowiak, 2025-04-24 This study of the evolving uniforms and personal equipment used by US ground forces in the Korean War features new full color artwork and previously unpublished photographs In June 1950 US soldiers and Marines deployed in the Korean War were dressed and equipped largely as they had been in the closing stages of World War II but by 1953 major innovations had transformed their appearance Featuring eight pages of specially commissioned artwork alongside carefully chosen photographs some never previously published this study charts the evolution of the US troops uniforms and gear through three years of bitter fighting The deployment of a US expeditionary force in Korea entailed uniform and equipment shortages and resulted in widespread improvisation among the troops The rapid movement of the first stages of the conflict made resupply very difficult a situation compounded by the need for cold weather clothing In 1951 the beginnings of position warfare offered the opportunity for soldiers and Marines to customize their uniforms and gear Flak jackets were introduced in both services The infantryman s basic load lightened substantially with men on the line often requiring little more than their fatigues flak vest and helmet All of these developments are explained and depicted in this fully illustrated study from an authority of the uniforms and personal gear of the Korean War period

A Korean War Memoir John P. Collins, 2015-03-06 In the fall of 1950 I was a college student at Boston University The Korean War had just begun and while I had a college deferment I felt it was unjust that other young people were fighting in Korea while I was in the classroom Thus in January 1951 I joined the army paratroopers with the hope of doing my part as a member of an elite fighting force During a regimental parachute training jump I was severely injured and later reclassified as a logistical support person I was sent to the Korean War as a member of the Eighth Army In this memoir I provide readers with insights into my life as a soldier from basic training and jump school to my experiences in the Korean War For the first time documents from the National Army Records Archives and the US Army Transportation Museum are used in recounting the Korean War activities of my unit the 513th Transportation Truck Company These records are integrated with vignettes of my military life during the Korean War
