San Botswana Namibia South Africa:

Genocide of Indigenous Peoples Robert Hitchcock, 2017-09-08 An estimated 350 to 600 million indigenous people reside across the globe. Numerous governments fail to recognize its indigenous peoples living within their borders. It was not until the latter part of the twentieth century that the genocide of indigenous peoples became a major focus of human rights activists, non-governmental organizations, international development and finance institutions such as the United Nations and the World Bank, and indigenous and other community-based organizations. Scholars and activists began paying greater attention to the struggles between Fourth World peoples and First, Second, and Third World states because of illegal actions of nation states against indigenous peoples, indigenous groups' passive and active resistance to top-down development, and concerns about the impacts of transnational forces including what is now known as globalization. This volume offers a clear message for genocide scholars and others concerned with crimes against humanity and genocide: much greater attention must be paid to the plight of all peoples indigenous and otherwise, no matter how small in scale, how little known, how invisible or hidden from view.

Indigenous Peoples Victoria R. Williams, 2020-02-24 The book is an essential resource for those interested in investigating the lives, histories, and futures of indigenous peoples around the world. Perfect for readers looking to learn more about cultural groups around the world, this four-volume work examines approximately 400 indigenous groups globally. The encyclopedia investigates the history, social structure, and culture of peoples from all corners of the world, including their role in the world, their politics, and their customs and traditions. Alphabetically arranged entries focus on groups living in all world regions, some of which are well known with large populations and others that are lesser known with only a handful of surviving members. Each entry includes sections on the group's geography and environment, history and politics, society, culture, and tradition, access to health care and education, and threats to survival. Each entry concludes with See Also, cross references, and a list of Further Reading resources to guide readers in their research. Also included in the encyclopedia are Native Voices inset boxes allowing readers a glimpse into the daily lives of members of these indigenous groups, as well as an appendix featuring the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples. Handbook of Indigenous Peoples' Rights Damien Short, Corinne Lennox, 2016-02-05 This handbook will be a comprehensive interdisciplinary overview of indigenous peoples' rights. Chapters by experts in the field will examine legal, philosophical, sociological, and political issues, addressing a wide range of themes at the heart of debates on the rights of indigenous peoples. The book will address not only the major questions such as who are indigenous peoples, what is distinctive about their rights, how are their rights constructed and protected, what is the relationship between national indigenous rights regimes and international norms, but also themes such as culture, identity, genocide, globalization, and development, rights institutionalization, and the environment.

Hitchcock,Diana Vinding,2004 This book is concerned with the first peoples those people who are considered indigenous by themselves and others of southern Africa such as the San the Nama and the Khoi and their rights Although living in democratic countries like Namibia South Africa Zimbabwe and Botswana and in principle sharing the same rights and responsibilities as the rest of the population practice shows that these peoples more often than not are at the margins of the societies in which they live they often face extreme poverty and they frequently are subjected to discriminatory treatment and exposed to all kinds of human rights abuses Robert K Hitchcock is professor of anthropology and geography at the University of Nebraska Lincoln USA He has done extensive research and development work in southern Africa in general and among San peoples in particular Diana Vinding is an anthropologist working with the International Work Group for Indigenous Affairs IWGIA in Copenhagen Transboundary Heritage and Intellectual Property Law Patricia Covarrubia,2022-11-30 Since the Intangible Heritage Convention was adopted by UNESCO in 2003 intangible cultural heritage has increasingly been an important subject of debate in international forums As more countries implement the Intangible Heritage Convention national policymakers and communities of practice have been exploring the use of intellectual property protection to achieve intangible cultural heritage safeguarding outcomes This book examines diverse cultural heritage case studies from Indigenous communities and local communities in developing and industrialised countries to offer an interdisciplinary examination of topics at the intersection between heritage and property which present cross border challenges Analysing a range of case studies which provide examples of traditional knowledge traditional cultural expressions and genetic resources by a mixture of practitioners and scholars from different fields the book addresses guidelines and legislation as well as recent developments about shared heritage to identify a progressive trend that improves the understanding of intangible cultural heritage Considering all forms of intellectual property including patents copyright design rights trade marks geographical indications and sui generis rights the book explores problems and challenges for intangible cultural heritage in crossborder situations as well as highlighting positive relationships and collaborations among communities across geographical boundaries Transboundary Heritage and Intellectual Property Law Safeguarding Intangible Cultural Heritage will be an important resource for practitioners scholars and students engaged in studying intangible cultural heritage intellectual property law heritage studies and anthropology Intellectual Property, Human Rights and Development Duncan Matthews, 2011-01-01 Each chapter analyses both policy areas access to medicines and agriculture genetic resources These three exceptionally rich fieldwork based case studies constitute the meat and the principal contribution of this book The book marks a major contribution for the empirical material alone Ken Shadlen Journal of Development Studies Duncan Matthews has produced a first rate in depth analysis of the role of NGOs in international and national intellectual property policy Based on extensive primary research this book provides a smart thoughtful perspective on the role of key developing country NGOs NGOs relationships with national policymakers and with multilateral institutions Everyone interested in the interface of intellectual property policy and human rights development access to medicines farmers rights and biodiversity should read this compelling account I highly recommend this excellent contribution to our understanding Susan K Sell George Washington University US One of the features of international negotiations has been the increasing participation of non governmental organizations In this important book Duncan Matthews shows the nature and extent of NGO influence in the negotiations over intellectual property Written with great clarity and drawing on interview data and case studies the book will be valuable to both scholars and practitioners working in international negotiation Peter Drahos Australian National University This book reveals how non governmental organizations helped developing countries to better understand and mitigate the impact of the new standards of intellectual property protection that those countries were forced to adopt in the context of trade negotiations Based on comprehensive and rigorous research the author offers an outstanding piece that will not only be important for academics policy makers and students working in the area of intellectual property but also for those more broadly interested in the implementation of human rights coalition building scenarios and framing strategies Carlos Correa University of Buenos Aires Argentina This is a valuable corrective to a debate that is too often premised on the perspective of rich and developed countries Focussing on the network of NGOs that supports developing countries Duncan Matthews fills a major gap in the analysis of international disputes about intellectual property His analysis rightly demolishes the position that developing countries have remained helpless in the face of developments in the global governance of IPRs and helps explain how the global politics of IPRs is shifting Christopher May Lancaster University UK This insightful and important new book explores the role played by non governmental organizations NGOs in articulating concerns at the TRIPS Council the WIPO the WHO the CBD COP and the FAO that intellectual property rights can have negative consequences for developing countries Duncan Matthews describes how coalitions of international NGOs have influenced the way that the relationship between intellectual property rights and development is understood often framing the message as a human rights issue to emphasize these concerns and ensure that access to medicines food security and the rights of indigenous peoples over their traditional knowledge are protected Based on extensive research undertaken in Geneva and in developing countries the book also reveals how NGOs and broader social movements in Brazil India and South Africa have played a crucial role in addressing the negative impacts of intellectual property rights by using human rights law as a practical tool before national courts and when seeking to influence national legislation and government policy Intellectual Property Human Rights and Development will appeal to academics practitioners activists international negotiators and postgraduate students in intellectual property law human rights law the international political economy of intellectual property rights and development studies

Livelihoods of Ethnic Minorities in Rural Zimbabwe Kirk Helliker,Patience Chadambuka,Joshua Matanzima,2022-04-21 The book provides empirically rich case studies of the lives and livelihoods of marginalised ethnic minorities in colonial and post colonial Zimbabwe with a specific focus on diverse rural areas It demonstrates the dynamic and complex relationships existing between ethnic minorities and livelihoods and analyses the ways in which projects of belonging and identity formation amongst these ethnic minorities are entangled in their respective livelihood construction projects and vice versa The ethnic minorities include those considered indigenous to Zimbabwe and those often defined as aliens including ethnicities with a transnational presence in southern Africa The ethnicities studied in the book include the following Chewa Doma Tonga Tshwa San Shangane Basotho Ndaue Hlengwe and Nambya By studying their livelihoods in particular this book offers the first full manuscript about ethnic minorities in Zimbabwe In doing so it highlights the significance of these ethnic minorities to Zimbabwean history politics and society

Prospects for Adaptive and Sustainable Livelihoods for the Indigenous Peoples of Africa Costantinos Berhutesfa,2024-12-20 Beginning in the early 1990s Africa has been experiencing a major ground swell of social economic and political changes An array of declarations and communiqués notwithstanding the crisis has forced indigenous peoples to become chronically dependent on international charity This is one of the greatest tragedies of the 21st century This book is a result of research conducted across Africa beginning in 2003 that was invaluable in understanding the conditions and views of indigenous peoples who are the victims rather than the beneficiaries of land grabbing and infrastructure development. The book highlights the impediments to the livelihoods that indigenous peoples had developed over centuries brought about by political change. It also proposes various local and regional actions to mitigate this which aim to simultaneously enhance climate resilience, productivity and access to adequate stocks, goods and services. Tribes of Timeless Tradition MD Sharr, 101-01-01. Tribes of Timeless Tradition explores the lives of 51 indigenous tribes worldwide celebrating their unique cultures, rituals and enduring wisdom. Set in forests, mountains and plains, these communities have preserved their identities despite global pressures toward uniformity. The book offers rich, authentic stories about their origins, social structures, spiritual beliefs and ceremonies like the Sun Dance and Rambu Solo. It highlights how tribes balance tradition and change with insights into gender roles, leadership and family life. Written in an accessible style, the book invites readers to understand and empathize with these cultures beyond stereotypes, revealing their resilience amid modern challenges such as globalization and climate change. By showcasing the deep connection between people and nature, the book emphasizes the importance of protecting indigenous heritage as living wisdom. It serves as both a cultural celebration and a call to action, urging respect, preservation and advocacy for these vibrant communities. Governance for Justice and Environmental Sustainability Merle Sowman, Rachel Wynberg, 2014-02-24. Understanding the governance of complex social-ecological systems is vital in a world faced with rapid environmental change, conflicts over dwindling natural resources, stark disparities between rich and poor and the crises of sustainability. Improved understanding is also essential to promote governance approaches that are underpinned by justice and equity principles and that aim to reduce inequality and benefit the most marginalised sectors of society. This book is concerned with enhancing the understanding of governance in relation to social justice and environmental sustainability across a range of natural resource sectors in Sub-Saharan Africa. By examining governance across various sectors, it reveals the main drivers that influence the nature of governance, the principles and norms that shape it, as well as the factors that constrain or enable achievement of justice and sustainability outcomes. The book also illuminates the complex relationships that exist between various governance actors at different scales and the reality and challenge of plural legal systems in much of Sub-Saharan Africa. The book comprises 16 chapters; 12 of them are case studies recounting experiences in the forest, wildlife, fisheries, conservation, mining and water sectors of diverse countries: Madagascar, Zimbabwe, Botswana, Namibia, South Africa, Zambia, Mozambique, Sierra Leone and Cameroon. Through insights from these studies, the book seeks to draw lessons from the praxis of natural resource governance in Sub-Saharan Africa and to contribute to debates on how governance can be strengthened and best configured to meet the needs of the poor in a way that is both socially just and ecologically sustainable. Biodiversity and the Law Charles R. McManis, 2012-05-04. How do we promote global economic development while simultaneously preserving local biological and cultural diversity? This
