know more about the history of American Cinema Reading Revelation as Pastiche Michelle Fletcher, 2017-05-18 Scholars have often read the book of Revelation in a way that attempts to ascertain which Old Testament book it most resembles. Instead we should read it as a combined and imitative text which actively engages the audience through signalling to multiple texts and multiple textual experiences in short it is an act of pastiche. Fletcher analyses the methods used to approach Revelation's relationship with Old Testament texts and shows that although there is literature on Revelation's imitative and multi-vocal nature these aspects of the text have not yet been explored in sufficient depth. Fletcher's analysis also incorporates an examination of Greco-Roman imitation and combination before providing a better way to understand the nature of the book of Revelation as pastiche. Fletcher builds her case on four comparative case studies and uses a test case to ascertain how completely they fit with this assessment. These insights are then used to clarify how reading Revelation as imitative and combined pastiche can challenge previous scholarly assumptions transforming the way we approach the text.

Women Who Kill David Roche, Cristelle Maury, 2020-02-20 Women Who Kill explores several lines of inquiry: the female murderer as a figure that destabilizes order; the tension between criminal and victim; the relationship between crime and expression or the lack thereof; and the paradox whereby a crime can be both an act of destruction and a creative assertion of agency. In doing so, the contributors assess the influence of feminist, queer, and gender studies on mainstream television and cinema, notably in the genres film noir, horror, melodrama, that have received the most critical attention from this perspective. They also analyse the politics of representation by considering these works of fiction in their contexts and addressing some of the ambiguities raised by postfeminism. The book is structured in three parts: Neo-femmes fatales, Action Babes, and Monstrous Women. Films and series examined include White Men Are Cracking Up (1994), Hit Gone Girl (2014), Terminator (1984), The Walking Dead (2010), Mad Max: Fury Road (2015), Contagion (2011), and Ex Machina (2015) among others.
