Las Vegas Thomas Ainlay, Judy Dixon Gabaldon, 2003. Whether known as The Entertainment Capital of the World or Sin City Glitter Gulch or even Lost Wages Nevada, the dazzling city of Las Vegas has undergone incredible transformation from ancient watering hole to Mormon fort, from whistle stop to mob-run profit center to become the fastest growing urban community in the nation. Home to nearly 1.5 million residents, a melting pot of races and cultures, this great metropolis boasts a thrilling history of vices and virtues but above all a steadfast and uncompromising spirit. Feeling Lucky Paul Franke, 2023-07-13. Monte Carlo and Las Vegas have become synonymous with casino gambling. Both destinations featured it as part of a broad variety of leisure and consumption opportunities that normalized games of chance and created emotional atmospheres that supported the hedonistic aspects of gambling. Urban spaces and architecture were carefully designed to enable a rapid growth of the casino industry and produce experiences on previous unimaginable scale. Feeling Lucky is a making of story about cities which acquired a strange and captivating allure of mystery around them. It is more than a mere descriptive account; however, combining urban history, the history of consumption, and sociological approaches, it presents a compelling comparative history of Monte Carlo and the Las Vegas Strip between the 1860s and 1970s. Paul Franke takes the reader on a journey from arriving at the cities through the carefully planned urban environments and into the famous casinos. The analysis follows the paths contemporary gamblers would have taken right to the gambling tables and to the shifting gambling practices across a century. Franke shows that casino entrepreneurs succeeded in producing and selling gambling experiences by controlling spaces, adapting leisure practices, and appealing to specific markets. Gamblers, on the other hand, regarded Monte Carlo and Las Vegas as places to engage in games of chance that would allow them to preserve their political, cultural, and moral identities. he examines their rich natural history and scientific import their relationship to clean water and a healthy surface environment and their uncertain future As a longtime caver and the author of three popular books related to caving Cave Passages Dark Life and Caves Taylor enjoys for a journalist unusual access to this secretive world He is personally acquainted with many of the region s most accomplished cave explorers and scientists and they in turn are familiar with his popular writing on caves in books in magazines such as Audubon Outside and Sports Illustrated and on websites such as those of the Discovery Channel and the PBS science series Nova Hidden Nature is structured as a comprehensive work of well researched fact that reads like a personal narrative of the author s long attraction to these caves and the people who dare enter their hidden chambers

The Sand Men Christopher Fowler, 2015-10-06 The ultimate gated community is a human being with a closed mind JG Ballard In Dubai there s a new world of high luxury resorts emerging for the super rich but at what price to everyone else Lea Roy and their 15 year old daughter Cara live in a gated community reserved for foreign workers Roy has been hired to deal with teething problems at Dream World a futuristic beach complex In the oppressive heat the wives appear happy to follow behind their husbands cooking and arranging tea parties but Lea finds herself a virtual prisoner in a land where Western women are regarded with indifference and suspicion At least there are a few friendly outsiders who don t enjoy the conformity of the ex pat community until one night when the most outspoken one dies in a suspicious accident It s the first in a string of terrible occurrences that divide the foreign workers Lea s neighbours start to blame migrants locals and even each other Lea is convinced that deliberate acts of cruelty are being committed but is there a real threat to her life or is she becoming paranoid And what if what she fears most is really happening What happens in a world where only the rich are important Welcome to a future that s five minutes away where rebellion against conformity can lead to the unthinkable

Cave Archaeology of the Eastern Woodlands David H. Dye, 2008 Patty Jo Watson s prolific career began in the early 1950s as an energetic graduate student at the University of Chicago and culminated with her induction into the National Academy of Sciences and subsequent retirement from Washington University in 2003 During that time her groundbreaking research impacted multiple fields within the discipline of archaeology but her astonishing research into the underground caves of the eastern United States recognizes her as one of the world s leading experts on cave archaeology In honor of Dr Watson and her monumental achievements in the field twenty two established scholars present in this volume new and insightful research into prehistoric and historic use of southeastern dark zones Cave Archaeology of the Eastern Woodlands edited by David H Dye explores how prehistoric and historic peoples utilized caves as a means to further their economic growth and represent cultural values within their societies The essays range in topics from early gypsum mining to rare American Indian cave art from historic saltpeter extraction to current archaeobotanical and paleofecal research Dye and the contributors contend that studies of deep zone caves reveal multiple insights into the values beliefs and cultural lifeways of ancient and historic peoples In addition to presenting new research in the field contributors also place particular emphasis on Dr Watson's influential cave research and how it has molded their own work. The essays convey a sense of wonder at the unique and sometimes harrowing world of caves and readers will get a sense of why Native Americans regarded the Underworld or Beneathworld as a supernatural realm to be tread upon with great respect and caution. This volume of uniformly excellent essays will no doubt be a lantern that sheds light onto the importance of studying and understanding the all too secret world of underground caves.

David H. Dye is professor of archaeology in the Department of Earth Sciences at the University of Memphis and a former student of Patty Jo Watson's. He is author of Cycles of Violence: An Archaeology of Peace and War in Native Eastern North America coeditor with Richard J. Chacon of The Taking and Displaying of Human Body Parts as Trophies by Amerindians and with Cheryl Anne Cox of Towns and Temples Along the Mississippi.

Citizen Kane Orson Welles, Herman Jacob Mankiewicz, Pauline Kael, 2002. The complete screenplay of one of the world's most famous and controversial films. A definitive chronicle of the making of the film. Sheridan Morley Films.

Filming This is the complete companion to Citizen Kane, the film that was designed to shock. Kenneth Tynan, one of the best loved and best known movies in the history of Hollywood and still the most staggering film debut ever. Not only was this Orson Welles's first film as actor and director but most of the cast were also new to the cinema. Yet so controversial was the subject matter that an $842,000 bribe and the concentrated wrath of the Hearst newspaper empire combined in an attempt to strangle its distribution. And the authorship of the film is still a subject of conflict. Pauline Kael's long essay Raising Kane dissects a maze of Hollywood lore to re-evaluate these and many other fascinating stories about the making of this remarkable film. Her account is followed by the original screenplay illustrated with stills and frame enlargements. Citizen Kane revolutionized film making and the question of its authorship is as important to the cinema as that of Hamlet to the theatre. Pauline Kael explains how the picture came to be made and concludes that the man most responsible for its creation was not Welles but Herman J. Mankiewicz.

Kenneth Tynan, Observer. Dinosaurs of the Flaming Cliff Michael Novacek, 2011-04-27. Over the past six years Michael Novacek, the Provost of Science at the American Museum of Natural History, has led a team of international scientists to the Gobi Desert on the greatest dinosaur expedition of the late 20th century. Closed to the West since the 1920s, the remote sands of Mongolia's Gobi Desert constitute the richest fossil site in the world. In Dinosaurs of the Flaming Cliffs, Novacek invites the reader along with his team as he recounts the day to day drama of field exploration and discusses the remarkable discoveries that he and his colleagues unearthed. Fossil finds that have helped to reshape our understanding of the dinosaur and early mammal era. Interweaving the adventure of field research with chapters that bring the reader up to date on contemporary dinosaur theory and science. Dinosaurs of the Flaming Cliffs brings the excitement of scientific discovery to life.

A Box of Sand Charles Stephenson, 2014-12-19. This is the first book in the English language to offer an analysis of a conflict that in so many ways raised the curtain on the Great War. In September 1911 Italy declared war on the once mighty transcontinental Ottoman Empire but it was an Empire in decline The ambitious Italy decided to add to her growing African empire by attacking Ottoman ruled Tripolitania Libya The Italian action began the rapid fall of the Ottoman Empire which would end with its disintegration at the end of the First World War The day after Ottoman Turkey made peace with Italy in October 1912 the Balkan League attacked in the First Balkan War The Italo Ottoman War as a prelude to the unprecedented hostilities that would follow has so many firsts and pointers to the awful future the first three dimensional war with aerial reconnaissance and bombing and the first use of armored vehicles operating in concert with conventional ground and naval forces war fever whipped up by the Italian press military incompetence and stalemate lessons in how not to fight a guerrilla war mass death from disease and 10 000 more from reprisals and executions Thirty thousand men would die in a struggle for what may described as little more than a scatolone di sabbia a box of sand As acclaimed historian Charles Stephenson portrays in this ground breaking study if there is an exemplar of the futility of war this is it Apart from the loss of life and the huge cost to Italy much higher than was originally envisaged the main outcome was to halve the Libyan population through emigration famine and casualties The Italo Ottoman War was a conflict overshadowed by the Great War but one which in many ways presaged the horrors to come A Box of Sand will be of great interest to students of military history and those with an interest in the history of North Africa and the development of technology in war Agate's Folly James Agate,1925 Frommer's Bahamas 2003 Darwin
