Midori Haus Chie Kawahara, 2017-11-18 Managing a major remodel of your home involves learning various aspects of a construction project permitting hiring contractors clarifying what you really mean and want managing a budget overseeing quality avoiding regrets doing what's right for yourself and standing up for yourself It's a big job The learning curve is high and often we homeowners don't get to apply the skills we learned again In this book the stories of a couple going through this learning curve is told through the lens of a novice just like a conversation with a homeowner over a cup of tea What they thought they wanted a brand new house in modern minimalist style with solar panels and recycled materials is very different than what they ended up with remodel of a 90 year old house in the classic Arts and Crafts style to meet the stringent international building standard called Passive House What caused this shift How did they choose the contractor How did they navigate out of overwhelm of green building choices How did they manage the relationships What would they do differently Was it worth it This book chronicles the journey by a couple from choosing the location through living in the house after the renovation completion It wasn't all about finding smart people and following expert guidance When expert opinions diverged and they got stuck in analysis paralysis they had to trust their judgment and chose what they felt was right for them After all they'll be living in the house for years after the experts are gone

Reviews for MIDORI HAUS

Chie Kawahara is a storyteller Her book Midori Haus tells a compelling story in a conversational style about a couple who wanted to remodel an older home that would use as little energy as possible and was comfortable and healthy to live in Anyone who has an interest in green building doing right for oneself and the planet will find a friend in this book Jim Gunshinan Editor Home Energy Magazine Midori Haus serves as a journey of adapting learning greening nurturing and caring for an old house by renewing the house to address current and future environmental challenges The narrative is delightfully educational the design process of achieving the passive house standard will be better understood through these stories and conversations

Alison G Kwok Ph D AIA CPHC University of Oregon The international Passive House standard has gained a deserved reputation as the fastest growing building energy efficiency standard in the world Unsurprisingly publications about it have mostly been by and for industry professionals Midori Haus represents an alternative introducing readers to Passive House through the eyes of a homeowner undertaking a remodeling project Chie Kawahara takes readers along on her journey of discovery and remodeling triumph She makes the process understandable and accessible and readers are given practical tools they can use on their own Passive House projects There's nothing like a good case study told by the people involved to bring abstract concepts to life Midori Haus doesn't disappoint

Elrond Burrell Architect CPHD blogger In this delightful book Chie Kawahara describes the process she and her husband went through to purchase a 1920s bungalow and turn it into a state of the art healthy green Passive House This account of their experiences is highly instructional for anyone considering buying and renovating a house and it s a wonderful read Alex Wilson Founder BuildingGreen Inc

Joaquin Murrieta America s most infamous Hispanic bandit After he was hanged as a murderer in 1875 the Chicago Tribune called him the most noted desperado of modern times Yet questions about him still linger Why did he become a bandido Why did so many Hispanics protect him and his band Was he a common thief and heartless killer who got what he deserved or was he a Mexican American Robin Hood who suffered at the hands of a racist government In this engrossing biography John Boessenecker provides definitive answers Bandido pulls back the curtain on a life story shrouded in myth a myth created by Vasquez himself and abetted by writers who saw a tale ripe for embellishment Boessenecker traces his subject s life from his childhood in the seaside adobe village of Monterey to his years as a young outlaw engaged in horse rustling and robbery Two terms in San Quentin failed to tame Vasquez and he instigated four bloody prison breaks that left twenty convicts dead After his final release from prison he led bandit raids throughout Central and Southern California His dalliances with women were legion and the last one led to his capture in the Hollywood Hills and his death on the gallows at the age of thirty nine From dusty court records forgotten memoirs and moldering newspaper archives Boessenecker draws a story of violence banditry and retribution on the early California frontier that is as accurate as it is colorful Enhanced by numerous photographs many published here for the first time Bandido also addresses important issues of racism and social justice that remain relevant to this day     The Country in the City Richard A. Rothman Award Finalist in the Western Writers of America Spur Award for the Western Nonfiction Contemporary category 2008 The San Francisco Bay Area is one of the world s most beautiful cities Despite a population of 7 million people it is more greensward than asphalt jungle more open space than hardscape A vast quilt of countryside is tucked into the folds of the metropolis stitched from fields farms and woodlands mines creeks and wetlands In The Country in the City Richard Walker tells the story of how the jigsaw geography of this greenbelt has been set into place The Bay Area s civic landscape has been fought over acre by acre an arduous process requiring popular mobilization political will and hard work Its most cherished environments Mount Tamalpais Napa Valley San Francisco Bay Point Reyes Mount Diablo the Pacific coast have engendered some of the fiercest environmental battles in the country and have made the region a leader in green ideas and organizations This book tells how the Bay Area got its green grove from the stirrings of conservation in the time of John Muir to origins of the recreational parks and coastal preserves in the early twentieth century from the fight to stop bay fill and control suburban growth after the Second World War to securing conservation easements and stopping toxic pollution in our times Here modern environmentalism first became a mass political movement in the 1960s with the sudden blooming of the Sierra Club and Save the Bay and it remains a global center of environmentalism to this day Green values have been a pillar of Bay Area life and politics for more than a century It is an environmentalism grounded in local places and personal concerns close to the heart of the city Yet this vision of what a city should be has always been informed by liberal even utopian ideas of nature planning government and democracy In the end green is one of the primary colors in the flag of the Left Coast where green enthusiasms like open space are built into the fabric of urban life Written in a lively and accessible style The Country in the City will be of interest to general readers and environmental activists At the same time it speaks to fundamental debates in environmental history urban planning and geography
