Search Party Valerie Trueblood, 2013-07-16 In the epigraph to this volume Penelope Fitzgerald tells us If a story begins with finding it must end with searching and so we discover each story here to follow the arc of a search just as each also contains a rescue What is immediately apparent is that it will be impossible to guess the form this rescue will take or even who it is who ll require it Instead the astonishingly talented Valerie Trueblood has imbued each story with its own depth and mystery so rescue comes as a surprise to the reader who is in intimate sympathy for the soul in extremity And these are diverse characters whose fates in lesser hands might be thought of as hopeless the fired cop turned security guard the stolid 19 year old nurses aide who will not be going to art school the cynical radio producer who is dying of breast cancer and on a plane on her way to Lourdes In these thirteen stories linked by a common transcendent human genius the writing is confident and clear and original and often drop dead stunning as if the stories are being told by the most casually eloquent among us

In Search of King Solomon's Mines Tahir Shah, 2014-12-17 King Solomon the Bible s wisest king possessed extraordinary wealth The grand temple he built in Jerusalem was covered in gold from the porch to the inner sanctum where the Ark of the Covenant was kept Long before H Rider Haggard s classic adventure novel King Solomon s Mines unleashed gold fever more than a century ago many had sought to find the source of the great king s wealth In this new adventure a hybrid of Indiana Jones and Herodotus Sunday Times London Tahir Shah tries his hand at the quest Intrigued by a map he finds in a shop not far from the site of the temple Shah assembles a multitude of clues to the

Looking for de Soto Joyce Rockwood Hudson,2012-02-01 In 1984 Joyce Rockwood Hudson accompanied her husband anthropologist Charles Hudson on a 4 000 mile trek across the Southeast His objective was to retrace and verify the route taken by Hernando de Soto four and a half centuries earlier The effort would bring into question and ultimately supplant much of what was earlier thought to be the course of the Spanish explorer s journey This is the journal Joyce Hudson kept during that trip A kind of scholar s version of Blue Highways the book is a warmly humane and almost daily account of the people the Hudsons met the places they saw and the things they did as they searched for De Soto s trail beneath railroad tracks and two lane blacktops along riverbanks and mountain ridges

Thus it is largely a travel story about rural and small town life in eleven states from Florida to Texas. Descriptions of the region's everchanging terrain, vegetation, and climate fill the book, colored at times by Joyce Hudson's troubled musings about Americans' increasing disconnectedness from the land and irreverence for the past. Conveying the rewards and frustrations of lives spent in painstaking scholarly inquiry, Looking for De Soto also offers a firsthand glimpse into the daily work of anthropologists and archaeologists: the exchanges of ideas, the ventures through swamps and down deeply rutted farm roads, the endless porings over maps, charts, and notes. As if writing a detective story, the author suspensefully paces the narrative with the accrual of geographical, artifactual, and documentary evidence, punctuating it with false leads and other setbacks as mile after mile of the trail is redrawn. The story even has its villains: pothunters and private collectors, the builders of canals and dams that alter the courses of rivers and inundate ancient village sites, and the owners of corporate farms who have leveled and eradicated ceremonial mounds with their massive agricultural machinery. Finally, a sense of the headlong cultural collision between Europeans and Native Americans pervades the book. De Soto and his six hundred conquistadores were the first Europeans to explore the interior of the southeastern United States and the only ones to witness its aboriginal society at its zenith. Hudson's evocation of this encounter so central to the history of the New World may well send readers on their own excursions into the past. Looking for De Soto is a fascinating journey through today's South, illuminated by a richly informed perspective on its earlier days.

Lily Briscoe's Chinese Eyes Patricia Laurence, 2013-01-02. A map of the mutual influence of Bloomsbury, the Crescent Moon Society, and modernism in English and Chinese culture. Lily Briscoe's Chinese Eyes traces the romance of Julian Bell, nephew of Virginia Woolf, and Ling Shuhua, a writer and painter Bell met while teaching at Wuhan University in China in 1935. Relying on a wide selection of previously unpublished writings, Patricia Laurence places Ling, often referred to as the Chinese Katherine Mansfield, squarely in the Bloomsbury constellation. In doing so, she counters East-West polarities and suggests forms of understanding to inaugurate a new kind of cultural criticism and literary description. Laurence expands her examination of Bell and Ling's relationship into a study of parallel literary communities: Bloomsbury in England and the Crescent Moon group in China. Underscoring their reciprocal influences in the early part of the twentieth century, Laurence presents conversations among well-known British and Chinese writers, artists, and historians, including Virginia Woolf, Vanessa Bell, G. L. Dickinson, Xu Zhimo, E. M. Forster, and Xiao Qian. In addition, Laurence's study includes rarely seen photographs of Julian Bell, Ling, and their associates, as well as a reproduction of Ling's scroll commemorating moments in the exchange between Bloomsbury and the Crescent Moon group. While many critics agree that modernism is a movement that crosses national boundaries, literary studies rarely reflect such a view. In this volume, Laurence links unpublished letters and documents, cultural artifacts, art, literature, and people in ways that provide illumination from a comparative cultural and aesthetic perspective. In so doing, she addresses the geographical and critical imbalances and thus the architecture of modernist, postcolonial Bloomsbury and Asian studies by placing China in an aesthetic matrix of a developing international
