Love And Freedom Professional Women And The Reshaping Of Personal Life:

Love and Freedom Alison Mackinnon, 1997-01-28 Can the educated women of the 1990s have both a career and a fulfilling personal life This book traces the history of women's responses to changes in education employment reproductive science and law since the 1890s Increased work and education opportunities and knowledge of contraception meant choice about when and indeed whether to marry and have children The author utilizes social and government history autobiography and statistical analysis This incisive interdisciplinary book will find broad appeal Love and Freedom Alison Mackinnon, 1997-01-28 In this 1997 book Alison Mackinnon traces the history of women's challenges to changes in education employment reproductive science and law She shows the connection between the lives of the first generation of women university graduates and the sudden decline in the national birthrate So dramatic was this shift that it sparked a Royal Commission into its cause Alison Mackinnon's extensive research shows that the declining birthrate was not simply the result of selfish educated young women refusing to bear the burdens of motherhood but was symptomatic of a larger questioning of the role of women in procreation the role of women in marriage and the institution of marriage itself Utilising social and government history autobiography and statistical analysis this book shows that the Marriage Problem exists as much in the 1990s as it did in the 1890s Men and women today are still challenging the boundaries between work and home profession and private life trying to find a way to have it all Modern Motherhood and Women's Dual Identities Petra Bueskens, 2018-05-31 Why do women in contemporary western societies experience contradiction between their autonomous and maternal selves What are the origins of this contradiction and the associated double shift that result in widespread calls to either lean in or opt out How are some mothers subverting these contradictions and finding meaningful ways of reconciling their autonomous and maternal selves In Modern Motherhood and Women's Dual Identities Petra Bueskens argues that western modernisation consigned women to the home and released them from it in historically unprecedented yet interconnected ways Her ground breaking formulation is that western women are free as individuals and constrained as mothers with the twist that it is the former that produces the latter Bueskens theoretical contribution consists of the identification and analysis of modern women's duality drawing on political philosophy feminist theory and sociology tracking the changing nature of discourses of women freedom and motherhood across three centuries While the current literature points to the pervasiveness of contradiction and double shifts for mothers very little attention has been paid to how some women are subverting contradiction and rewriting the sexual contract Bridging this gap Bueskens interviews ten revolving mothers to reveal how periodic absence exceeding the standard work day disrupts the default position assigned to mothers in the home and in turn disrupts the gendered dynamics of household work A provocative and original work Modern Motherhood and Women's Dual Identities will appeal to graduate students and researchers interested in fields such as Women and Gender Studies Sociology of Motherhood and Social and Political Theory Portraying Lives Tanya the outbreak of the Second World War Using a sample of 2 000 graduates the book foregrounds the experience of working class women and critically assesses the claim of social inclusivity built around education in Wales It charts changes and continuities in women s career prospects explores graduates relationship with the communities in which they studied lived and worked and finally examines the extensive networks which underpinned their personal and professional lives Gender and Institutions Moira Gatens, Alison Mackinnon, 1998-11-09 This important interdisciplinary 1999 volume explores what might constitute a feminist approach to institutional design and reshaping What is the scope it asks in contemporary Australian society for ensuring that institutions acknowledge gender difference and deliver more equitable outcomes This feminist perspective on institutional design shows how gendered regulatory norms underpin and intersect with all other institutional settings The leading team of writers includes Deborah Mitchell Bettina Cass Chilla Bulbeck Carol Bacchi and Joan Eveline Topics discussed include institutions embodiment and sexual difference the welfare state housing policy household work republicanism and citizenship gender based discrimination This book makes a major contribution to debates about the reshaping of our institutions as we move towards the twenty first century Thicker Than Water Leonore Davidoff, 2012 A pioneering new study of nineteenth century kinship and family relations focusing on the British middle class and highlighting both the similarities and the differences in relations between brothers and sisters in the past and in the present Outsiders Or Equals? Tanya Fitzgerald, 2009 Shortlisted for the Anne Bloomfield Prize 2010 Across the ninety years of its history the University of New Zealand 1871 1961 appointed four women professors to the academic staff From the outset while the woman professor was an insider to the Academy based on her qualifications and professional credentials on the basis of her gender she was a relative outsider to this deeply patriarchal institution Accordingly academic women and in particular this first generation of women professors were officially invisible both to their male colleagues and to the institution This is not to suggest that the presence of a woman professor was unproblematic or that she sat easily on the margins of men s scholarly worlds This book traces the personal and professional histories of each woman professor and examines their contribution to the expansion of higher education for women On the basis of extensive archival research in New Zealand England and the United States the author uses Bourdieu s notions of habitus field and capital to analyse this intellectual community of women and the professionalisation of academic work The book rehabilitates the woman professor from the margins of historical scholarship and offers an insight into a forgotten aspect of the history of women s higher education the history of women and the professoriate Trailblazing Women of Australian Public Broadcasting, 1945-1975 Kylie Andrews, 2022-07-05 Trailblazing women of Australian Public Broadcasting 1945 1975 offers a compelling new perspective of Australian radio and television history It chronicles how a group of female producers defied the odds and forged remarkable careers in the traditionally male domain of public affairs production at the ABC in the post war decades Kay Kinane Catherine King Ther se Denny and Joyce Belfrage were ambitious and resourceful producers part of the vanguard of Australian broadcasters who used mass media as a vehicle for their social and political activism Fiercely dedicated to their audiences they wrote directed and produced ground breaking documentaries and current affairs programs that celebrated Australian life while also challenging its cultural complacency its racism and sexism They immersed themselves in the ABC's many networks of collaboration and initiated a range of strategies to expand their agency and authority With vivid descriptions of life at the ABC it traces their careers as they crossed borders and crossed mediums following them as they worked on location shoots and in production offices in television studios control rooms and radio booths In doing so it highlights the barriers both official and unofficial that confronted so many women working in broadcasting after World War II

Creating Complicated Lives Marelene Rayner-Canham, Geoff Rayner-Canham, 2012-12-01 Why have Canadian women scientists been written out of the historical record Who were they What did they accomplish What were their life paths These are some of the questions answered in this authoritative work Over decades of research Marianne Ainley identified tracked down and interviewed surviving scientists Creating Complicated Lives weaves the lives and work of these pioneers with the author's own experiences as an immigrant scientific technician and later a feminist historian Ainley argues that we must look at the lives of women scientists through a new historical lens that takes into account both the advances of science and concurrent debates about the advancement of women Rather than having linear career trajectories many women shifted fields coped with discrimination and endeavoured to find niches in which they could make significant contributions

Never before has there been a survey of the lives and work of early Canadian women scientists This nuanced study brings their stories to light comparing contrasting and interpreting their very complicated lives
