Samaritan Scribes and Manuscripts Alan David Crown, 2001 This book aims to provide the critical tools to help scholars in their use of Samaritan manuscripts The basic codicological tools is a series of complementary data bases compiled from typological studies of the physical properties of manuscripts Each typology is in effect a diachronic profile created by painstaking comparison and analysis of the physical properties of manuscripts of known provenance and or date Using these typologies or diachronic profiles it is possible to evaluate the chronology of the physical characteristics of any manuscript the quire or gathering structure ink ruling spacing of the text on the folio sewing of the sections Naturally the more information available about the physical properties of any manuscript the better the chance of making correlations between the typologies of different properties The basic rule in palaeography and codicology is that the researcher works on an inductive basis from as wide a sample as possible of dated manuscripts It is hoped that in the studies in this volume evidence has been provided which will serve as a guide both to the appearance and the nature of Samaritan manuscripts and to the evaluative process that one would employ in examining them for codicological purposes The reader should be able to apply the criteria provided here to the evaluation of whatever data can be retrieved from any undated Samaritan manuscripts with which he is confronted Alan D Crown in the preface

Worship in Philo of Alexandria Jutta Leonhardt,Jutta Leonhardt-Balzer,2001 As a knowledgeable contemporary of the later Second Temple Philo of Alexandria s approach to worship and his view of the essence of Jewish worship are of particular interest to the study of that period Jutta Leonhardt discusses his views on the Jewish festivals especially the Sabbath on prayer psalms hymns praise and thanksgiving and on Temple offerings sacrifices and purification rites These aspects are presented with their parallels in Jewish and pagan traditions and in Greek and Hellenistic philosophy Jewish worship in Philo has never been studied as a coherent whole before Only individual aspects of worship such as prayer of petition or thanksgiving or Philo has been used in studies on Second Temple Judaism as a quarry for general examples of acts of worship Philo accepted and participated in Jewish worship and even knew about details of various Jewish traditions of his time His writings however do not refer to them directly and cannot easily be used to reconstruct Jewish rituals of his time His main aim is to discuss the rites as collected in the Mosaic Torah since these are binding for all Jews These laws are frequently presented using the terminology of pagan cults and interpreted with recourse to Greek philosophy In this philosophical description of actual rites there are parallels to Plato s references to religion in the ideal state in the Nomoi Philo presents Judaism as the ultimate Hellenistic cult which combines the various aspects of the different pagan cults in a sublime and perfect form to represent mankind and the universe in the worship of the one God who created the world Congress
