Maritime Transport Services in the Law of the Sea and the World Trade Organization Chuyang Liu, 2009

Since the beginnings of international law the law of the sea has been of paramount importance for international trade Yet this area of law and international trade regulations have developed as two distinct areas with little interface with each other As the GATT WTO emerged in parallel to the LOS Convention since the 1970s both bodies have made extensive efforts in international treaty making However the relationship between trade regulations and the law of the sea has hardly been explored The author examines some key aspects of this relationship in particular port entry access to cargo in coastal shipping cabotage and access to cargo in international shipping The inclusion of services in WTO law will render this relationship of great importance in the future as the agreement extensively covers maritime transport It is just a matter of time until the current exclusion of maritime transport under special exemptions will be reviewed in future negotiations The book provides the background and a normative basis for approaching some of the problems which members of the WTO will have to address in coming years It also deals briefly with the problem of choice of law and competing jurisdictions between trade law and maritime law
