A New Deal for Native Art Jennifer McLerran, 2022-08-16 As the Great Depression touched every corner of America the New Deal promoted indigenous arts and crafts as a means of bootstrapping Native American peoples But New Deal administrators' romanticization of indigenous artists predisposed them to favor pre industrial forms rather than art that responded to contemporary markets In A New Deal for Native Art Jennifer McLerran reveals how positioning the native artist as a pre modern Other served the goals of New Deal programs and how this sometimes worked at cross purposes with promoting native self sufficiency She describes federal policies of the 1930s and early 1940s that sought to generate an upscale market for Native American arts and crafts And by unraveling the complex ways in which commodification was negotiated and the roles that producers consumers and New Deal administrators played in that process she sheds new light on native art's commodity status and the artist's position as colonial subject In this first book to address the ways in which New Deal Indian policy specifically advanced commodification and colonization McLerran reviews its multi pronged effort to improve the market for Indian art through the

Indian Arts and Crafts Board arts and crafts cooperatives murals museum exhibits and Civilian Conservation Corps projects Presenting nationwide case studies that demonstrate transcultural dynamics of production and reception she argues for viewing Indian art as a commodity as part of the national economy and as part of national political trends and reform efforts McLerran marks the contributions of key individuals from John Collier and Rene d Harnoncourt to Navajo artist Gerald Nailor whose mural in the Navajo Nation Council House conveyed distinctly different messages to outsiders and tribal members Featuring dozens of illustrations A New Deal for Native Art offers a new look at the complexities of folk art revivals as it opens a new window on the Indian New Deal

Drawing Back Culture Tweedie,2015-08-17 The Makah Indians of Washington State briefly in the national spotlight when they resumed their ancient whaling traditions in 1999 have begun a process that will eventually lead to the repatriation of objects held by museums and federal agencies nationwide Drawing Back Culture describes the early stages of the tribe s implementation of what some consider to be the most important piece of cultural policy legislation in the history of the United States the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act NAGPRA NAGPRA was passed by Congress in 1990 to give Native people a mechanism through which they could reclaim specific objects of importance to the tribe Because NAGPRA definitions were intended for widespread applicability each tribe must negotiate a fit between these definitions and their own material culture The broad range of viewpoints within any given tribal community creates internal negotiations over NAGPRA surrounding the identification and eventual return of such objects Negotiations also arise concerning the nature of ownership At the heart of this ongoing struggle are themes relevant to indigenous studies worldwide the central role of material culture in cultural revitalization movements concerns with intellectual property rights and self representation and the trend towards professional cultural resource management among indigenous peoples The conception of ownership lies at the heart of the Makahs struggle to implement NAGPRA Tweedie explores their historical patterns of ownership and demonstrates the challenges of implementing legislation which presumes a concept of communal ownership foreign to the Makahs highly developed and historically documented patterns of personal ownership of both material culture and intellectual property Drawing Back Culture explores how NAGPRA implementation has been working at the tribal level from the perspective of a tribe struggling to fit the provisions of the law with its own sense of history ownership and the drive for cultural renewal

Chicano Folklore Rafaela Castro,2001-11-15 Originally published under title Dictionary of Chicano folklore Santa Barbara Calif ABC CLIO c2000

Exhibiting Mestizaje Karen Mary Davalos,2001 In this authoritative study Davalos challenges the sometimes hidden sometimes blatant assumptions that underlie the practice of creating museum exhibits and asks what happens when people of Mexican American descent put themselves in command of the collection display and interpretation of their cultural products Advancing a Chicana feminist interpretation Davalos carefully explores both the history of nineteenth and twentieth century museum practices and the more recent phenomenon of physically locating Mestizo Chicano art within insider spaces such as ethnically or racially specific cultural institutions and alternative galleries Just as public museums instruct visitors about who does and who does not belong to a nation s cultural legacy Davalos makes clear that exhibitions in so called minority museums are likewise shaped by notions of difference and nationalism and by the politics of identity and race Davalos pays particular attention to museum and cultural centers in major Mexican diaspora communities including the Mexican Fine Arts Museum in Chicago and Galeria de la Raza in San Francisco Throughout she critically examines Chicano Mexican Mestizo and Mexican American subjectivities as they are expressed in curatorial decisions and practices in educational materials and catalog texts and in the performances and other public events that accompany museum exhibits That practice what Davalos calls exhibiting mestizaje produces complex representations of Mexican Americans Davalos s analysis shows clearly that the value of mestizaje and diaspora lies in their ability to create a cultural poetics from fluidity and conflict Davalos accomplishes the difficult task of discussing Chicano art as both aesthetic and political work She does not reduce artistic expression to political propaganda but neither does she examine aesthetic issues in isolation from the social processes that give them shape and meaning

Flying Under the Radar with the Royal Chicano Air Force Ella Maria Diaz, 2017-04-11 Winner National Association for Chicana and Chicano Studies Book Award 2019 The Royal Chicano Air Force produced major works of visual art poetry prose music and performance during the second half of the twentieth century and first decades of the twenty first Materializing in Sacramento California in 1969 and established between 1970 and 1972 the RCAF helped redefine the meaning of artistic production and artwork to include community engagement projects such as breakfast programs community art classes and political and labor activism The collective s work has contributed significantly both to Chicano a civil rights activism and to Chicano a art history literature and culture Blending RCAF members biographies and accounts of their artistic production with art historical cultural and literary scholarship Flying under the Radar with the Royal Chicano Air Force is the first in depth study of this vanguard Chicano a arts collective and activist group Ella Maria Diaz investigates how the RCAF questioned and countered conventions of Western art from the canon taught in US institutions to Mexican national art history while advancing a Chicano a historical consciousness in the cultural borderlands In particular she demonstrates how women significantly contributed to the collective s output navigating and challenging the overarching patriarchal cultural norms of the Chicano Movement and their manifestations in the RCAF Diaz also shows how the RCAF s verbal and visual architecture a literal and figurative construction of Chicano a signs symbols and texts established the groundwork for numerous theoretical interventions made by key scholars in the 1990s and the twenty first century

Latino Spin Arlene M. Dávila, 2008 Winner of the 2010 Distinguished Book Award in Latino Studies from the Latin American Studies Association Illegal immigrant tax burden job stealer Patriot family oriented hard worker model consumer Ever since Latinos became the largest minority in the U S they have been caught between these wildly contrasting characterizations leaving us to wonder Are Latinos friend or foe Latino Spin cuts through the spin about Latinos supposed values political attitudes and impact on U S national identity to ask what these caricatures suggest about Latinos shifting place in the popular and political imaginary Noted scholar Arlene D vila illustrates the growing consensus among pundits advocates and scholars that Latinos are not a social liability that they are moving up and contributing and that in fact they are more American than the Americans But what is at stake in such a sanitized and marketable representation of Latinidad D vila follows the spin through the realm of politics think tanks Latino museums and urban planning to uncover whether they effectively challenge the growing fear over Latinos supposedly dreadful effect on the integrity of U S national identity What may be some of the intended or unintended consequences of these more marketable representations in regard to current debates over immigration With particular attention to what these representations reveal about the place and role of Latinos in the contemporary politics of race Latino Spin highlights the realities they skew and the polarization they effect between Latinos and other minorities and among Latinos themselves along the lines of citizenship and class Finally by considering Latinos in all their diversity including their increasing financial and geographic disparities D vila can present alternative and more empowering representations of Latinidad to help attain true political equity and intraracial coalitions

The Third Realm of Luxury Joanne Roberts, John Armitage, 2019-10-31 In a world that is obsessed with luxury critical luxury studies is a rapidly emerging field This is the first book to explore the interplay between the real and imaginary realms of luxury considering the most significant developments in the theories and practices of luxurious places and spaces over the last fifty years Providing a critical approach to contemporary interpretations of luxury the book interrogates the distinction between real places and imaginary spaces Bringing together an interdisciplinary group of leading scholars it features a range of case studies which take the reader from the Rolls Royce Ghost Black Badge to expressions of sensuality in the 1970s domestic interior and global conceptions of fine wine and art The Third Realm of Luxury considers the interplay between luxury and space in both the past and the present examining the abstract conception of excess and exoticism as well as the real locations of the home hotel apartment and palace Full of original research it is a key contribution to the study of consumption design fashion and architecture
