Nathalie Sarraute The War Of The Words:

Nathalie Sarraute and the Feminist Reader Sarah Barbour, 1993 Situated at an intersection of feminist critical practice in the United States and feminist cultural theory in France Nathalie Sarraute and the Feminist Reader is an investigation of the way in which this French New Novelist's first eight works in their increasing dramatization of the issue of reading problematize certain feminist literary analyses especially in relation to écriture féminine After an exploration of the difficulty Sarraute's writing poses for the critical enterprise through a lengthy reading of Sarraute's criticism in the U S and France Sarah Barbour shows how Sarraute's works eventually prohibit any fixed reading and open up instead a space in which we as readers are moved toward a more personal understanding of our use of narrative and of socio sexual constructs in the continual day to day constitution and reconstitution of subjectivity Nathalie Sarraute conceives of the evolution of the novel as a movement through history and thus situates her work within a tradition of psychological realism at the same time that she proposes radical innovations of the tradition Her novels do not discard or revise past works but rather internalize them in an effort to expand the notion of what is possible for psychological realism This study takes as its model Sarraute's example of simultaneity which invites an understanding of time both as a diachronic movement through phases from the psychological realism of Dostoyevski to that of Kafka to her own and as a synchronic encounter that elicits simultaneous relationships to different phases Within the movement of feminist literary criticism scholars have often discerned what are also referred to as phases that is criticism in the United States has moved from its initial concern with images of women in fiction by male writers to a desire to establish a feminine tradition of women's writing Nathalie Sarraute and the Feminist Reader is not an attempt to claim that Sarraute's work represents écriture féminine Reading Sarraute's novels in their evolution Sarah Barbour has found that they forced her own reading and understanding of this term to evolve She therefore proposes that the novels open up a space that is beyond the frozen shells of gender which continue to bind women and men personally and critically The power of Sarraute's work lies in the solitary experience of our encounter with her presentation and perception of reality In this encounter we are forced to experience the fluid nature of subjectivity that is to internalize and explore differences within personal and sexual identity that by extension affect the identity of larger political movements

Nathalie Sarraute and the War of the Words Valerie Minogue, 1981 Echo's Voice Mary Noonan, 2017-07-05
Helene Cixous 1937 distinguished not least as a playwright herself told Le Monde in 1977 that she no longer went to the theatre it presented women only as reflections of men used for their visual effect The theatre she wanted would stress the auditory giving voice to ways of being that had previously been silenced She was by no means alone in this Cixous's plays along with those of Nathalie Sarraute 1900-99 Marguerite Duras 1914-96 and Noelle Renaude 1949 among others have proved potent in drawing participants into a dynamic space of the voice If as psychoanalysis suggests voice represents a transitional condition between body and language such plays may draw their audiences in to understandings previously never spoken In this ground breaking study Noonan explores the rich possibilities of this new audio vocal form of theatre and what it can reveal of the auditory self Consuming Autobiographies Claire Boyle,2017-12-02 Since 1975 French literary writing has been marked by an autobiographical turn which has seen authors increasingly often tap into the vein of what the French term écriture de soi This coincides paradoxically with the death of autobiography as these authors self consciously distance themselves and their writings from conventional autobiography founding a nouvelle autobiographie where the very possibility of autobiographical expression is questioned In the first book length study in English to address this phenomenon Claire Boyle sheds a new light on this hostility toward autobiography through a series of ground breaking studies of estrangement in autobiographical works by major post war authors Nathalie Sarraute Georges Perec Jean Genet and Helene Cixous She identifies autobiography as a site of conflict between writer and reader as authors struggle to assert the unknowableness of their identity in the face of a readership resolutely desiring privileged knowledge Autobiography emerges as a deeply troubling genre for authors with the reader as an antagonistic consumer of the autobiographical self A History of Women's Writing in France Sonya Stephens,2000-05-22 This volume was the first historical introduction to women s writing in France from the sixth century to the present day Specially commissioned essays by leading scholars provide an introduction in English to the wealth and diversity of French women writers offering fascinating readings and perspectives The volume as a whole offers a cohesive history of women s writing which has sometimes been obscured by the canonisation of a small feminine elite Each chapter focuses on a given period and a range of writers taking account of prevailing sexual ideologies and women s activities in or their relation to the social political economic and cultural surroundings Complemented by an extensive bibliography of primary and secondary works and a biographical guide to more than one hundred and fifty women writers it represents an invaluable resource for those wishing to discover or extend their knowledge of French literature written by women The Avant-Postman David Vichnar,2023-11-01 The Avant Postman explores a broad range of innovative postwar writing in France Britain and the United States Taking James Joyce s revolution of the word in Ulysses and Finnegans Wake as a joint starting point David Vichnar draws genealogical lines through the work of more than fifty writers up to the present including Alain Robbe Grillet B S Johnson William Burroughs Christine Brooke Rose Georges Perec Kathy Acker Iain Sinclair H l ne Cixous Alan Moore David Foster Wallace and many others Centering the exploration around five writing strategies employed by Joyce narrative parallax stylistic metempsychosis concrete writing forgery and neologising the logos the book reveals the striking continuities and developments from Joyce s day to our own

Encyclopedia of the World Novel, 1900 to the Present Michael David Sollars,Arbolina Llamas Jennings,2015-04-22 Praise for the print edition a useful and engaging reference to the vast world of the novel in world literature French Women Writers Eva Martin Sartori,Dorothy Wynne Zimmerman,1994-01-01 Marie de France Mme De S vign and Mme De Lafayette achieved international reputations during periods when women in other European countries were able to write only letters translations religious tracts and miscellaneous fragments There were obstacles but French women writers were more or less sustained and empowered by the French culture Often unconventional in their personal lives and occupied with careers besides writing as educators painters actresses preachers salon hostesses labor organizers these women did not wait for Simone de Beauvoir to tell them to make existential choices and have projects in the world French Women Writers describes the lives and careers of fifty two literary figures from the twelfth century to the late twentieth All the contributors are recognized authorities Some of their subjects like Colette and George Sand are celebrated and others are just now gaining critical notice From Christine de Pizan and Marguerite de Navarre to Rachilde and H_l_ene Cixous from Louise Lab_ to Marguerite Duras these women speak through the centuries to issues of gender sexuality and language French Women Writers now becomes widely available in this Bison Book edition Barbara Wright Debra Kelly, Madeleine

Renouard, 2013-08-01 Legendary publisher and writer John Calder said of Barbara Wright that she was the most brilliant conscientious and original translator of 20th century French literature Wright introduced to an English speaking readership and audience some of the most innovative French literature of the last hundred years a world without Alfred Jarry's Ubu Raymond Queneau's Zazie and Robert Pinget's Monsieur Songe scarcely bears thinking about This wonderful collection of texts about and by Barbara Wright including work by David Bellos Breon Mitchell and Nick Wadley as well as a previously unpublished screenplay written and translated by Wright in collaboration with Robert Pinget begins the work of properly commemorating a figure toward whom all of English letters owes an unpayable debt Negotiating the New in the French Novel Teresa Bridgeman, 2005-08-16 In Negotiating the New in the French Novel Teresa Bridgeman applies insights from pragmatic theory to the French novel in order to examine its discourse conventions Focussing on texts by some of the greatest and most innovative French novelists Diderot Balzac Flaubert Zola Celine Sarraute and Perec Bridgeman analyses how these authors established their own conventions challenged reader expectations and drew conventions from other literary and non literary forms Negotiating the New in the French Novel shows the development of changing perceptions of genre author and reader This book will make fascinating reading for students of French literature particularly of the nineteenth century novel students of Stylistics and of Narratology
