Nation Building Propaganda And Literature In Francophone Africa:

Nation-Building, Propaganda, and Literature in Francophone Africa Dominic Thomas, 2002-11-19 What characterizes the relationship between literature and the state Should literature serve the needs of the state by constructing national consciousness espousing state propaganda and molding good citizens Or should it be dedicated to a different kind of creative social endeavor In this important book about literature and the politics of nation building Dominic Thomas assesses the contributions of Francophone African writers whose works have played a key role in the recent transition to democracy in the Congo Exploring the works of Sony Labou Tansi Henri Lopes and Emmanuel Dongala among others Thomas highlights writers intimately involved with government and politics whether in support of the state's vision or with the intention of articulating a more open view of citizens and society Focusing on themes such as collaboration reconciliation identity history and memory Nation Building Propaganda and Literature in Francophone Africa elaborates a broader understanding of the circumstances of African colonization modern African nation state formation and the complex cultural dynamics at work in Africa since independence

Nation-building, Propaganda, and Literature in Francophone Africa Dominic Richard David Thomas, 2002 The relationship between literature the state is examined in this discussion of Francophone African literature Dominic Thomas considers the case of the Congo where the recent transition to democracy was in part inspired by the works of Sony Labou Tansi Henri Lopes Emmanuel Dongala among others

Globalizing the Postcolony Claire H. Griffiths, 2010-12-18 Globalizing the Postcolony Contesting Discourses of Gender and Development in Francophone Africa is a study of development in the former French colonies of West Africa It takes as its starting point the international community's reporting on human and social development and gender in the developing areas which began systematically in 1990 and which has provided a framework for policy making in this field International reports suggest that the francophone African countries have been experiencing low levels of social development throughout the past two decades These levels fall dramatically when the factor of gender is introduced to the point where statistically speaking francophone African women have had less access to social development than any other population in the world This study analyzes current thinking on the challenges facing gender and development in Africa before moving on to examine the historical factors marking the gender and development profile of the francophone West African region Through an analysis of gender politics in the region from pre colonial to postcolonial times the book examines the gradual incursion of exogenous gender policies into the region throughout the 20th century The discussion concludes by arguing that despite the tendency of the international community and their colonial administrative forebears to pursue one size fits all solutions to what they identified as the main development challenges of the day the impact of standardized solutions remains subject to the unique historical and cultural context in which they are implemented Adapting formula driven policies to unique cultural contexts constitutes a major challenge for gender and development politics in the second decade of the new century Meanwhile the book coincides with the introduction of a new international development agenda in Africa articulated around issues of security and globalization While civil unrest continues to destabilize vast regions of the continent making the prospect of a bright future uncertain

Contemporary Francophone African Writers and the Burden of Commitment Odile Cazenave, Patricia Pia Célérier, 2011-02-02 By looking at engaging literature from the recent past when the francophone African writer was implicitly seen as imparted with a mission to the present when such authors usually aspire to be acknowledged primarily for their work as writers Contemporary Francophone African Writers and the Burden of Commitment addresses the current processes of canonization in contemporary francophone African literature Odile Cazenave and Patricia Célérier argue that aesthetic as well as political issues are now at the forefront of debates about the African literary canon as writers and critics increasingly acknowledge the ideology of form Working across genres but focusing on the novel the authors take up the question of renewed forms of commitment in this literature Their selected writers range from Mongo Beti Ousmane Sembène and Aminata Sow Fall to Boubacar Boris Diop Veronique Tadjo Alain Mabanckou and L'onora Miano among others

Francophone Afropean Literatures Nicki Hitchcott, Dominic Richard David Thomas, 2014 This volume explores the concept and possibility of a black European community by analysing the ways in which contemporary Francophone African writers articulate and interrogate their complex relationships with European society culture and history

Postcolonial Violence, Culture and Identity in Francophone Africa and the Antilles Lorna Milne, 2007 This collection of essays derives from a conference on Violence Culture and Identity held in St Andrews in June 2003 It examines postcolonial cultures and identities by investigating the way in which violence is represented by Francophone creative artists

International Statebuilding in West Africa Abu Bakarr Bah, Nikolas Emmanuel, 2024-08-06 At the turn of the twenty first century manipulation of the democratic process coupled with preexisting political and economic grievances led to years long civil wars in Sierra Leone Liberia and Côte d'Ivoire During and after these conflicts international peacekeeping efforts and humanitarian intervention became the dominant paths for restoring stability by rebuilding the state Using these three countries as case studies this manuscript sheds light on internationally driven state building in war torn West African nations the problematic nature of the postcolonial state and the difficulties of securing its people's wellbeing Connecting peace and conflict democracy and international development studies Bah and Emmanuel argue that there is a clear nexus between the concepts and practices of peace building and statebuilding that peace building and statebuilding are not domestic matters alone but also matters of global intervention and that civil wars can be viewed as opportunities for state building through creative postwar partnerships and organization This study goes beyond the familiar concepts of failed states R2P peacekeeping and peace mediation and introduces and enhances the concepts of state decay new humanitarianism people centered liberalism and institutional design In doing so it provides critical lessons that local and international actors can draw on as they try to figure out practical solutions to the political economic and social problems that impede the development of peaceful and democratic multiethnic postcolonial states in Africa and beyond Applying comparative historical methods and theory to archival materials and expert interviews International Statebuilding in West Africa seeks to shift the discourse on civil wars from their causes and implications to the opportunities they provide to rework failed states and to shift the discourse on African states from their colonial and neocolonial legacies to their shared moral and security interests with the rest of the world New Francophone African and Caribbean Theatres John Conteh-Morgan,2010-08-03 John Conteh Morgan explores the multiple ways in which African and Caribbean theatres have combined aesthetic ceremonial experimental and avant garde practices in order to achieve sharp critiques of the nationalist and postnationalist state and to elucidate the concerns of the francophone world More recent changes have introduced a transnational dimension replacing concerns with national and ethnic solidarity in favor of irony and self reflexivity New Francophone African and Caribbean Theatres places these theatres at the heart of contemporary debates on global cultural and political practices and offers a more finely tuned understanding of performance in diverse diasporic networks Narrating Human Rights in Africa Eleni Coundouriotis,2020-12-13 Narrating Human Rights in Africa claims human rights from the perspective of artists from the African continent and situates the key theoretical concepts in African perspectives undercutting the stereotypes of victimhood and voicelessness Instead of positioning literary texts as illustrative of points already theorized elsewhere the author foregrounds the literature itself to show the concepts it offers the ideas and responses stemming from complex historical circumstances in Africa and expressed by African writers The book focuses on how narrative creates new categories of thought challenging human rights dogma whereas the sum of the literary voices evoked also stands by the values of social justice and protection of human rights The chapters take up key challenges to the narration of human rights in which the contribution of African writers is particularly important This includes human dignity in the resistance to apartheid the figure of the child soldier how humanitarianism s images affect representational strategies of contemporary African writers the challenge of testifying about rape in war how to evoke the disappeared body of the torture victim the centrality of flight in the refugee and migrant experiences and finally the long shadow of the heart of darkness motif Offering a sustained examination of the narrative treatment of key human rights concerns as expressed by African writers this book will be of interest to scholars of African literature postcolonial studies African studies and human rights The Speech T. Denean Sharpley-Whiting,2010-07-23 After Senator Barack Obama delivered his celebrated speech A More Perfect Union on March 18 2008 New York Times columnist Maureen Dowd noted that only Barack Obama could alchemize a nuanced 40 minute speech on race into must see YouTube viewing for 20 year olds Pundits established the speech s historical eminence with comparisons to Abraham Lincoln s A House Divided and Martin Luther King Jr s I Have a Dream The future president had addressed one of the biggest issues facing his campaign and our country with an eloquence and honesty rarely before heard on a national stage The Speech brings together a distinguished lineup of writers and thinkers among them Adam Mansbach Alice Randall Connie Schultz and William Julius

Wilson in a multifaceted exploration of Obama's address. Their original essays examine every aspect of the speech: literary, political, social, and cultural, and are punctuated by Boston Globe columnist Derrick Z. Jackson's reportage on the issue of race in the now historic 2008 campaign. The Speech memorializes and gives full due to a speech that propelled Obama toward the White House and prompted a nation to evaluate our imperfect but hopeful union.
