National Curriculum For The Early Years:

EBOOK: National Curriculum for the Early Years Angela Anning, 1995-10-16 What does the National Curriculum mean to pupils and teachers at Key Stage One How have teachers and children coped with the ongoing changes How has subject teaching altered in infant classrooms In A National Curriculum for the Early Years Angela Anning and her team of contributors set out to examine these issues Infant teachers and their pupils were the guinea pigs for the introduction of the National Curriculum over a five year period Despite many reservations about a subject based curriculum for young children teachers struggled to interpret the National Curriculum Orders into a workable if not manageable curriculum in their classrooms The contributors to this book each experts in a subject discipline have kept in close touch with practising and intending infant teachers as the National Curriculum was operationalized in primary schools They have used their teacher networks as well as research evidence to tap into the strategies used by infant teachers to cope with the planning delivery and assessment of the National Curriculum subjects and the effects of government policy changes on young children s learning Together the contributors provide a timely analysis of subject discipline based education for young children and look ahead to the prospects for those subjects at Key Stage One in the second half of the 1990s This book will be essential reading for anyone involved in the education of young children National Curriculum In The Early Years Dr Theo Cox, Theo Cox, 2014-05-01 The child centred principles of early years education which emphasize play and holistic learning are being challenged by the implementation of a subject based National Curriculum The contributors to this book explore this challenge and offer some ways of meeting it practically and productively Issues covered include pedagogical issues such as the cross curricular topic based teaching teacher s attitudes to subject knowledge assessment issues including baseline assessment at the age of five and parental attitudes to the National Curriculum and its content at Key Stage 1 Science in Early Childhood Coral Campbell, Wendy Jobling, Christine Howitt, 2021-01-19 Science in Early Childhood is the essential science education resource for all pre service early childhood educators National Curriculum Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Children, Schools and Families Committee, Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Children, Schools and Families Committee, 2009 The Committee for Children Schools and Families recommends major changes to the nature and management of the national curriculum In its current form the national curriculum essentially accounts for all the available teaching time and the Committee would like to see a cap placed so that less than half that time is prescribed centrally A slimmed down national curriculum designed much more from the learner s perspective setting out the learning that they have a right to access is recommended Parents should be provided with a copy of the national curriculum so that they can take on a greater role in overseeing the curriculum that their child experiences The Committee is not convinced by the proposed Programmes of Study for the primary curriculum put forward in the interim report of the Rose Review available at <http://publications.teachernet.gov.uk> which seem unnecessarily complex takes a similar view on the new secondary curriculum and is concerned at some of the Early Learning Goals specified in the Early Years Foundation Stage there should be more emphasis at this stage on developing speaking listening and social skills All schools should have the freedoms in curriculum matters enjoyed by Academies and should not be pressured to follow the non statutory National Strategies guidance The report also stresses the importance of empowering professional teachers rather than the current approach of prescription and direction The coherence and continuity in the curriculum is another concern with a history of piecemeal creation and amendment to frameworks from 0 to 19 The Committee recommends an independent curriculum authority be established to review and then keep the curriculum refreshed
