National Self Determination And Secession:

National Self-Determination and Secession Margaret Moore, 1998-10-08 In recent years numerous multi national states have disintegrated along national lines and today many more in both the first and the third worlds continue to witness bitter secessionist struggles The proliferation of national conflicts and secessionist movements has given rise to many important questions which urgently need to be addressed When is secession justified What is a people and what gives them a right to secede Is national determination consistent with liberal and democratic principles Or is it a dangerous doctrine In the years following 1991 when Allen Buchanan published Secession a number of competing theories of the ethics of secession have been put forward This pathbreaking study by a host of leading figures in the field brings together for the first time a series of original essays on these theories Offering fresh insight into debates about contested territory the problem of minorities and the place of secession in resolving national conflicts this volume provides a much needed philosophical discussion of the normative implications of nationalism

Nationalism, self-determination and secession The Open University, This 8 hour free course explored how people who see themselves as nations challenge the existing order to assert their right to a state of their own

The Nation State and National Self-determination Alfred Cobban, 1970 A Theory of Secession Christopher Heath Wellman, 2005-09-05 First published in 2005 A Theory of Secession The Case for Political Self Determination offers an unapologetic defense of the right to secede Christopher Heath Wellman argues that any group has a moral right to secede as long as its political divorce will leave it and the remainder state in a position to perform the requisite political functions He explains that there is nothing contradictory about valuing legitimate states while permitting their division Once political states are recognized as valuable because of the functions that they are uniquely suited to perform it becomes apparent that the territorial boundaries of existing states might permissably be redrawn as long as neither the process nor the result of this reconfiguration interrupts the production of the crucial political benefits Thus if one values self determination then one has good reason to conclude that people have a right to determine their political boundaries Perspectives on Secession Martin Riegl,Bohumil Doboš,2020-06-24 This book explores the changing nature of secessionist attempts in connection with rapidly evolving geopolitical and technological landscapes By presenting theoretical chapters as well as case studies on various secessionist movements around the globe the contributing authors study a range of topics including the role of the media in secessionist conflicts secessionist referenda and the viability of secessionist attempts in terms of their internal dimension and external support and interference The book will appeal to political scientists and international relations scholars who are interested in the processes politics and geopolitical implications of secessionist movements Justice, Legitimacy, and Self-Determination Allen Buchanan,2003-08-21 This book articulates a systematic vision of an international legal system grounded in the commitment to justice for all persons It provides a probing exploration of the moral issues involved in disputes about secession ethno national conflict the right of self determination of peoples human rights and the legitimacy of the international legal system itself Buchanan advances vigorous criticisms of the central dogmas of international relations and international law arguing that the international legal system should make justice not simply peace among states a primary goal and rejecting the view that it is permissible for a state to conduct its foreign policies exclusively according to what is in the the national interest He also shows that the only alternatives are not rigid adherence to existing international law or lawless chaos in which the world s one superpower pursues its own interests without constraints This book not only criticizes the existing international legal order but also offers morally defensible and practicable principles for reforming it Justice Legitimacy and Self Determination will find a broad readership in political science international law and political philosophy Oxford Political Theory presents the best new work in political theory It is intended to be broad in scope including original contributions to political philosophy and also work in applied political theory The series contains works of outstanding quality with no restrictions as to approach or subject matter Series Editors Will Kymlicka David Miller and Alan Ryan Identity, Self-determination and Secession Igor Primoratz,Aleksandar Pavković,2006 Engaging with a range of interconnected and highly topical issues of identity self determination and secession this book discusses nationalism as an important component of identity of individuals and groups and also examines patriotism which has recently undergone a dramatic revival The book includes contributions by prominent philosophers and political and legal theorists from Australia Canada Israel and the United States States, Nations and Borders Allen Buchanan,Margaret Moore,2003-03-31 This volume examines comparatively the views and principles of seven prominent ethical traditions on one of the most pressing issues of modern politics the making and unmaking of state and national boundaries The traditions represented are Judaism Christianity Islam natural law Confucianism liberalism and international law Each contributor an expert within one of these traditions shows how that tradition can handle the five dominant methods of altering state and national boundaries conquest settlement purchase inheritance and secession Written by a distinguished group of international specialists this volume is unique in providing both in depth normative and comparative perspectives on a troubling question that will offer readers real insight into inter tradition conflict Those readers will range from upper level undergraduates to scholars in such fields as philosophy political science international relations and comparative religion Self-determination Patricia Carley, United States Institute of Peace, 1996
