Life and Works of Michelangelo Buonarroti Charles Heath Wilson, 1881 About Face Elena Bellina, Lindsay Eufusia, Paola Ugolini, 2009-10-02 How do we represent ourselves and the cultures we live in Is it possible to trace any boundaries between reality and self representation Because the self represented is the product of a process of selection and choice in many ways to represent the self is often simultaneously to create the self and negate the self What then becomes of the self once it is represented Because the process of self representation cumulates in a tangible result and given that any representation of the self is necessarily a construct which aims to render visible or knowable in concrete form the unseen and unknown self representation is vulnerable to assessments of its naturalness or artificiality its honesty or deceit Many issues affect the author or artist's self representation both as process and form the medium through which the self will be represented the motivation for representing oneself and the role of the audience to name only a few relevant factors This book explores the multifaceted nature of self representation in relation to culture from the Middle Ages through the Renaissance up to contemporary Italian American and Australian culture with reference to concepts and questions connected to literature poetry philosophy theology history ethnicity studies gender studies and visual arts

Face Value Robin Lakoff, Raquel Scherr, 2022-11-30 First published in 1984 Face Value confronts the pervasive power of beauty through art and literature as well as interviews with men and women with varying perspectives on the subject The topics covered range widely the history of beauty from the Greeks to the present the pathology of beauty how women have been willing to harm themselves mentally and physically to achieve beauty the language we use to speak of beauty and its implications our attitudes towards beauty as examined by psychologists beauty and ethnic identity men and beauty The authors present in fact a redefinition of beauty enabling both women and men to enjoy it in themselves and in others while discarding the sex role stereotypes that have governed the definition of beauty in the past With a new preface that explores the gaps created by time in the book's discourse this book will be of interest to students of linguistics gender studies women's studies cultural studies sociology and anthropology John Constable's correspondence John Constable, 1964
