Nations Identities Cultures:

Nations, Identities, Cultures V. Y. Mudimbe, 1995 Nations Identities Cultures Three apparently transparent concepts But are they really transparent In 1993 I decided to face them and organized a semester long international seminar that focused on these concepts and their relation to exile to the ethnicization of the political and to the recess of the social in our contemporary world Nations, Identities, Cultures V. Y. Mudimbe, 1997 Mediating the Nation Mirca Madianou, 2012-11-12 What does it mean to watch two hour long news programmes every evening Why are some people addicted to the news while others prefer to switch off Television is an indispensable part of the fabric of modern life and this book investigates a facet of this process its impact on the ways that we experience the political entity of the nation and our national and transnational identities Drawing on anthropological social and media theory and grounded on a two year original ethnography of television news viewing in Athens the book offers a fresh interdisciplinary perspective in understanding the media identity relationship Starting from a perspective that examines identities as lived and as performed the book follows the circulation of discourses about the nation and belonging and contrasts the articulation of identities at a local level with the discourses about the nation in the national television channels The book asks whether and in what ways does television influence identity discourses and practices When do people contest the official discourses about the nation and when do they rely on them Do the media play a role in relation to inclusion and exclusion from public life particularly in the case of minorities The book presents a compelling account of the contradictory and ambivalent nature of national and transnational identities while developing a nuanced approach to media power It is argued that although the media do not shape identities in a causal way they do contribute in creating common communicative spaces which often catalyse feelings of belonging or exclusion The book claims a place in the emerging sub field of media anthropology and represents the new generation of audience research that places media consumption in the wider social economic and political context

Museums, Nations, Identities Rhiannon Mason, 2007 Explores the different ways in which Wales and Welshness have been represented in the national museums of Wales This book examines how branches of the National Museums and Galleries of Wales are enlisted to narrate certain national stories as opposed to others and how this correlates with changing perceptions of Welsh identities Human Rights in the Near East and North Africa James T. Lawrence, 2004 The existence of human rights helps secure the peace deter aggression promote the rule of law combat crime and corruption and prevent humanitarian crises These human rights include freedom from torture freedom of expression press freedom women s rights children s rights and the protection of minorities This book surveys the countries of the Near East and North Africa and is augmented by a current bibliography and useful indexes by subject title and author Global Inequalities Beyond Occidentalism Manuela Boatcă, 2016-04-22 Based on theoretical developments in research on world systems analysis transnational migration postcolonial and decolonial perspectives whilst considering continuities of inequality patterns in the context of colonial and postcolonial realities Global Inequalities Beyond Occidentalism proposes an original framework for the study of the long term reproduction of inequalities under global capitalism With attention to the critical assessment of both Marxist and Weberian perspectives this book examines the wider implications of transferring classical approaches to inequality to a twenty first century context calling for a reconceptualisation of inequality that is both theoretically informed and methodologically consistent and able to cater for the implications of shifts from national and Western structures to global structures Engaging with approaches to the study of class gender racial and ethnic inequalities at the global level this innovative work adopts a relational perspective in the study of social inequalities that is able to reveal how historical interdependencies between world regions have translated as processes of inequality production and reproduction As such it will be of interest to scholars of sociology political and social theory and anthropology concerned with questions of globalisation and inequality

A Matter of Honour Yoon Jung Park, 2009-05-16 The South African born Chinese community is a tiny one consisting of 10 000 to 12 000 members in a population of approximately 45 million Throughout much of the history of this race conscious country the community has been ignored or neglected and officially classed along with people of mixed race or with Indians in the South African category of Asiatic Shaped by both external and internal forces Chinese identities in South Africa are beginning to receive more media and scholarly attention as China s aid trade and investment in Africa grow and large numbers of new Chinese immigrants stream into South Africa and other African states A Matter of Honour examines the shifting social ethnic racial and national identities of Chinese South Africans over time Using concepts of identity ethnicity race nationalism and transnationalism and drawing on comparisons with other overseas Chinese communities it explores the multi layered identities of the South African group and analyses the ways in which their identities have altered with each generation Park s study breaks away from the often narrow enquiries into ethnic and national identity in South Africa offering valuable new perspectives on this shifting terrain of study

Ndlovu-Gatsheni, 2020-04-30 This provocative book is anchored on the insurgent and resurgent spirit of decolonization of the twenty first century The author calls upon Africa to turn over a new leaf in the domains of politics economy and knowledge as it frees itself from imperial global designs and global coloniality With a focus on Africa and its Diaspora the author calls for a radical turning over of a new leaf predicated on decolonial turn and epistemic freedom The key themes subjected to decolonial analysis include 1 decolonization decoloniality articulating the meaning and contribution of the decolonial turn 2 subjectivity identity examining the problem of Blackness identity as external and internal invention 3 the Bandung spirit of decolonization as an embodiment of resistance and possibilities development and self improvement 4 development and self improvement of African political economy as entangled in the colonial matrix of power and the African Renaissance as weakened by undecolonized political and economic thought and 5 knowledge the role of African humanities in the struggle for epistemic freedom This groundbreaking volume opens the intellectual canvas on the challenges and possibilities of African futures It will be of great interest to students and scholars of Politics and International Relations Development Sociology African Studies Black Studies Education History Postcolonial Studies and the emerging field of Decolonial Studies Kurdish Diaspora Online Jowan Mahmud,2016-09-13 The argument offered in this book is that new technology as opposed to traditional media such as television radio and newspaper is working against the national grain to weaken its imagined community Online activities and communications between people and across borders suggest that digital media has strong implications for different articulations of identity and belongingness which open new ways of thinking about the imagined community The findings are based on transnational activities by Kurdish diaspora members across borders that have pushed them to rethink notions of belonging and identity Through a multidisciplinary and comparative approach and multifaceted online offline methodologies the book unveils tensions between new and old media and how the former is not only changing social relations but also exposing existing ones Living in two or more cultures speaking multiple languages and engaging in transnational practices diaspora individuals may have created a momentum that discloses how the imagined nation is diminishing in this digital era Transcultural Images in Hollywood Cinema Ugur Baloglu,Yildiz Derya Birincioglu,2021-06-29 Transcultural Images in Hollywood Cinema discusses how cinema particularly Hollywood impacts the cultural identities we construct for ourselves in order to make sense of who we are in the world The politics of representation in cinema influence the boundaries of ethnic and racial characteristics and invent cultural and symbolic meanings that create a conventional image throughout the world The transnational perspective dissolves fragments and decentralizes this image leaving the nationalist understanding of identity to a hybrid form Cultures and identities that are expanded across borders form a mosaic by combining their local characteristics with those of the host cultures This book examines the transnational and transcultural characteristics of Hollywood cinema The narrative cinematographic and aesthetic structures of Hollywood cinema are turned upside down as chapters analyze gender social cultural and economic political contexts Scholars of international communication film and social sciences will find this book particularly interesting
