Braun, 2014-10-16 In Colonial Survey and Native Landscapes in Rural South Africa 1850 1913 Lindsay Frederick Braun explores the technical processes and struggles surrounding the creation and maintenance of boundaries and spaces in South Africa in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries The precision of surveyors and other colonial technicians lent these enterprises an illusion of irreproachable objectivity and authority even though the reality was far messier Using a wide range of archival and printed materials from survey departments repositories and libraries the author presents two distinct episodes of struggle over lands and livelihoods one from the Eastern Cape and one from the former northern Transvaal These cases expose the contingencies contests and negotiations that fundamentally shaped these changing South African landscapes Law and Social Policy in the Global South Ulrike Davy, Albert H.Y. Chen, 2022-12-13 The book is an in depth study of the origins and the trajectories of the law governing social policies in Brazil China India and South Africa four middle income countries in the global South with a history in social policy making that starts in the 1920s The policies of these countries affect almost half of the world s population The book takes the legal framework of the policies as a starting point but the main interest lies behind the letter of the law What were the objectives and goals of social policy over the course of the last 100 years What were the ideas ideologies and values pursued by relevant actors The book comprises four country studies and a comparative study The country studies concentrate on the political and social context of social policy making in Brazil China India and South Africa as well as on the ideas ideologies and values underpinning the constitution statutory laws and case law that frame and shape social policy at the national level The country studies are complemented by a comparative study exploring and describing the commonalities and differences in the ideational approaches to social policies across the four countries nationally and in the formative decades internationally The comparative study also identifies the characteristics that make Brazilian Chinese Indian and South African social policies distinct from European social policies With its emphasis on law and drawing on legal scholarship the book adds a new dimension to the existing accounts on welfare state building which so far are dominated by European narratives and by scholars with a background in sociology political science and development studies This book is relevant to specialists and peers and will be invaluable to those individuals interested in the fields of comparative and international social security law human rights law comparative constitutional law constitutional history law and development studies comparative social policies global social policies social work and welfare state theory The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Science and Society in Southern Africa Saul Dubow, 2000 This collection dealing with case studies drawn from South Africa Zimbabwe Mozambique and Mauritius examines the relationship between scientific claims and practices on the one hand and the exercise of colonial power on the other It challenges conventional views that portray science as a detached mode of reasoning with the capacity to confer benefits in a more or less even handed manner That science has the potential to further the collective good is not fundamentally at issue but science can also be seen as complicit in processes of colonial domination

The Native Problem in Africa Raymond Leslie Buell, Bureau of International Research of Harvard University and Radcliffe College, 1928

Labour Export Policy in the Development of Southern Africa Bill Paton, 1994-12-19 The book's broad theme is that the evolution of the power to control labour flows among different territorial jurisdictions was of major importance in the formation of a system of states Labour export policy in eight countries in Southern Africa is examined over roughly the century 1890-1990 in Botswana Lesotho Malawi Mozambique Swaziland Tanzania Zambia and Zimbabwe The proportion of the total population absent working in another country is graphed for each and combined over the same period

Anthropology, Colonial Policy and the Decline of French Empire in Africa Douglas W. Leonard, 2019-12-26 Conceived as both a vehicle to national prestige and as a civilizing mission the second French colonial empire 1830-1962 challenged soldiers scholars and administrators to understand societies radically different from their own The resultant networks of anthropological inquiry however did not have this effect Rather they opened pathways to political and intellectual independence framed in the language of social science and in the process upended the colonial political system and reshaped the nature of human inquiry in France While still unequal French colonial rule in Africa revealed the durability and strength of non-European modes of thought In this influential new study historian Douglas W. Leonard examines the political and intellectual repercussions of French efforts to understand and to dominate colonial Africa through the use of anthropology From General Louis Faidherbe in the 1840s to politician Jacques Soustelle and sociologist Pierre Bourdieu in the 1950s these French thinkers sowed the seeds of colonial destruction
