Pressure Group Behaviour in Canadian Politics A. Paul Pross, 1975 Political Marketing in Canada Alex Marland, Thierry Giasson, Jennifer Lees-Marshment, 2012-02-15 Political parties worldwide are using marketing tools such as targeting and segmentation to win elections Are these strategies making politicians and governments more responsive to voters needs or do they pose a threat to democracy Political Marketing in Canada the first book to ask this question of Canada considers the consequences of political marketing in the realms of public policy leadership and the government citizen relationship Through dynamic case studies that range from the resurrection of the Conservative Party to media accounts of political marketing to Tim Hortons as a political brand the authors trace how political marketing is transforming the old system of brokerage politics into a new distinctly Canadian model Citizens are now viewed as consumers and platforms and promises have been repackaged as products Whether this trend is positive or negative the authors argue depends on how politicians and governments carry out political marketing and its promises in practice The Provincial Political Systems David J. Bellamy, Jon H. Pammett, Donald Cameron Rowat, 1976 Interest Groups and Campaign Finance Reform in the United States and Canada Robert G Boatright, 2011-03-15 In the early 2000s the United States and Canada implemented new campaign finance laws restricting the ability of interest groups to make political contributions and to engage in political advertising Whereas both nations legislative reforms sought to reduce the role of interest groups in campaigns these laws have had opposite results in the two nations In the United States interest groups remained influential by developing broad coalitions aimed at mobilizing individual voters and contributors In Canada interest groups largely withdrew from election campaigns and thus important voices in elections have gone silent Robert G Boatright explains such disparate results by placing campaign finance reforms in the context of ongoing political and technological changes Robert G Boatright is Associate Professor of Political Science at Clark University Cover photo iStockphoto com alfabravoalpharomeo
