Regional Government and Political Integration Dorothy J. Solinger, 1975
Integration in Southwest China, 1949-1954 Dorothy J. Solinger, 1977-01-01
Dilemmas of Victory Jeremy Brown, Paul G. Pickowicz, 2012-11-26 Brown examines the social cultural political and economic dimensions of the Communist takeover of China He seeks to understand how the 1949 1953 period was experienced by various groups including industrialists filmmakers ethnic minorities educators rural midwives philanthropists standup comics and scientists Party Vs. State in Post-1949 China Shiping Zheng, 1997-07-13 This book provides the most comprehensive analysis of one of the most important issues in China today the tensions between the Chinese Communist Party and the Chinese state legislative judicial administrative and military institutions Taking the neo institutionalist approach the author suggests that the Communist Party in post 1949 China faces an institutional dilemma the Party cannot live with the state and it cannot live without the state Zheng demonstrates that it is not only conceptually constructive but analytically imperative to distinguish the state from the Communist Party Secondly he integrates detailed study with broader generalizations about Chinese politics thus making efforts to overcome the tendency toward specialized scholarship at the expense of comparative and systemic understanding of China He also opens a new dimension of Chinese politics the uncertain and conflictual relationship between the Communist Party and the Chinese state
China's Regions in an Era of Globalization Tim Summers, 2018-06-19 The rise of China has been shaped and driven by its engagement with the global economy during a period of intensified globalization yet China is a continent sized economy and society with substantial diversity across its different regions This means that its engagement with the global economy cannot just be understood at the national level but requires analysis of the differences in participation in the global economy across China s regions This book responds to this challenge by looking at the development of China s regions in this era of globalization It traces the evolution of regional policy in China and its implications in a global context Detailed chapters examine the global trajectory of what is now becoming known as the Greater Bay Area in southern China the globalization of the inland mega city of Chongqing and the role of China s regions in the globally focused belt and road initiative launched by the Chinese government in late 2013 The book will be of interest to practitioners and scholars engaging with contemporary China s political economy and international relations
Centre and Province in the People's Republic of China David S. G. Goodman, 1986-10-09 According to common misconception the Chinese political system is highly centralized One result of this widely accepted view is that China specialists have often neglected the study of decision making as a process Concentrating upon the neighbouring but contrasting provinces of Sichuan and Guizhou during the decade before the Cultural Revolution this book examines the interaction between centre and province and without adopting a centralist or a pluralist viewpoint argues that a spatial dimension is of necessity part of the Chinese decision making process Particular attention is paid to the variability of this interaction over time
Scars of

War Diana Lary, Stephen MacKinnon, 2011-11-01 Throughout its modern history China has suffered from immense destruction and loss of life from warfare In its worst periods of warfare the eight years of the Anti Japanese War 1937-45 millions of civilians lost their lives For China the story of modern war related death and suffering has remained hidden The Rape of Nanking is beginning to be known but hundreds of other massacres are still unrecognized by the outside world and even by China itself The focus of The Scars of War is the social and psychological not the economic costs of war on the country The book is illustrated with contemporary photographs and woodblock prints Each chapter is introduced by a traditional Chinese saying cheng yu on warfare China's Transition from Socialism? Dorothy J. Solinger, 2016-06-16

The essays in this volume address the industrial commercial urban and regional reforms of China's planned economy during the 1980s The emphasis is on the dominating institutional and bureaucratic presence of the state even as it sought to loosen the pre 1979 vertically structured centralised command system and to introduce some market principles to stimulate economic activity The essays fall into four categories theoretical and policy discussions and debates at the central leadership level reform of the urban economy and of inter regional relations industrial and commercial reforms and the rise and position of the new entrepreneurial class Many of the essays draw on interviews with Chinese economic officials in the Central China city of Wuhan and therefore this is the only study that uses local data on actual operations of reforms from a Chinese city the other sources are the Chinese press and Chinese official and scholarly journals In each of the categories there are pieces from different points in the chronological process of reform This study begins with the first theoretical discussions among China's economists and top political leaders in the late 1970s and concludes with experiments with bankruptcy and stock markets in the late 1980s The countervailing heavy presence of the state at both the policy and the practical levels throughout the reform decade is its unifying theme The Hump John D. Plating, 2011-02-08

Chronicling the most ambitious airlift in history Carried out over arguably the world's most rugged terrain in its most inhospitable weather system and under the constant threat of enemy attack the trans Himalayan airlift of World War II delivered nearly 740 000 tons of cargo to China making it possible for Chinese forces to wage war against Japan This operation dwarfed the supply delivery by land over the Burma and Ledo Roads and represented the fullest expression of the U S government's commitment to China In this groundbreaking work the first concentrated historical study of the world's first sustained combat airlift operation John D. Plating argues that the Hump airlift was initially undertaken to serve as a display of American support for its Chinese ally which had been at war with Japan since 1937 However by 1944 with the airlift's capability gaining momentum American strategists shifted the purpose of air operations to focus on supplying American forces in China in preparation for the U S's final assault on Japan From the standpoint of war materiel the airlift was the precondition that made possible all other allied military action in the China Burma India theater where Allied troops were most commonly inserted supplied and extracted by air Drawing on extensive research that includes Chinese and Japanese archives Plating tells a spellbinding story in a context that relates it to the larger movements of the war and reveals its significance in terms of the development of military air power The Hump demonstrates the operation s far reaching legacy as it became the example and prototype of the Berlin Airlift the first air battle of the Cold War The Hump operation also bore significantly on the initial moves of the Chinese Civil War when Air Transport Command aircraft moved entire armies of Nationalist troops hundreds of miles in mere days in order to prevent Communist forces from being the ones to accept the Japanese surrender

Inflation and Investment Controls in China Yasheng Huang, 1999-11-13 How has the Chinese central government been able to avoid the crippling hyperinflation that has bedeviled so many developing and centrally planned economies China s unique de facto federalism Huang argues a combination of economic and fiscal decentralization and strong political centralization has spurred economic growth and allowed political institutions to impose restraints on inflation from the top down Focusing on central local relations and the controlling role of political institutions Yasheng Huang explains why local Chinese officials comply even against their own economic interests with the investment reduction and inflation control policies of the central government Drawing upon institutional economics he hypothesizes that the central government s powerful role in appointing and firing bureaucrats at the local level helps to reconcile some of the central local economic policy differences Huang uses systematic data analysis to test this proposition This book also offers detailed descriptions of the roles of local governments in economic and investment management
