Regnum Religio Et Ratio:

Regnum, Religio Et Ratio Robert McCune Kingdon, 1987 Religion and Royal Justice in Early Modern France Diane C. Margolf, 2004-01-01 Diane Margolf looks at the Paris Chambre de l'Edit in this well researched study about the special royal law court that adjudicated disputes between French Huguenots and the Catholics Using archival records of the court's criminal cases Margolf analyzes the connections to three major issues in early modern French and European history religious conflict and coexistence the growing claims of the French crown to define and maintain order and competing concepts of community and identity in the French state and society Based on previously unexplored archival materials Margolf examines the court through a cultural lens and offers portraits of ordinary men and women who were litigants before the court and the magistrates who heard their cases

Faith, Reason, and Revelation in Theodore Beza, 1519-1605 Jeffrey Mallinson, 2003 Faith Reason and Revelation in the Thought of Theodore Beza investigates the direction of religious epistemology under a chief architect of Calvinism 1519 1605 Mallinson contends that Beza consolidated his tradition by balancing the subjective and objective aspects of faith and knowledge Making use of new editions of Beza's class notes and correspondence and examining the theological ideas found in Beza's long neglected New Testament annotations this study clarifies the thought of Calvin's successor The nature of Protestant scholasticism and the relationship between faith and philosophy are observed in context rather than from the anachronistic perspectives of modern schools that seek to establish their own continuity with Calvinism

A Reformation Life David M. Whitford, 2015-08-28 This title presents the European Reformation as seen through the life of an important but little known participant Philipp of Hesse a nobleman who became a Reformation leader in Germany The Reformation was the most cataclysmic event in Western Christianity An ideal resource for undergraduate history students and general readers this title provides an accessible human narrative through the complex events of the period that many find bewildering History comes alive and events unfold through the eyes of Philipp of Hesse a German nobleman who ascended to becoming a key Reformation leader The book begins with a detailed survey of the Holy Roman Empire at the turn of the 16th century and provides chronological coverage of Philipp's life and role in the Reformation through to after his death in 1567 after which Calvinism rose within the empire The chapters document how Philipp of Hesse knew every major figure of the German Reformation participated in every major Reformation era imperial diet was present at every important event in the Lutheran dominated foundational period of 1521 to 1555 and became a leading Lutheran prince in the Holy Roman Empire Additionally the work thoroughly documents the connections between religion politics and society and explains the important role of the German nobility in the development of the Reformation

Teaching the Reformation Amy Nelson Burnett, 2006-10-12 Though the Reformation was sparked by the actions of Martin Luther it was not a decisive break from the Church in Rome but rather a gradual process of religious and social change As the men responsible for religious instruction and moral oversight at the village level parish pastors played a key role in the implementation of the Reformation and the gradual development of a Protestant religious culture but their ministry has seldom been examined in the light of how they were prepared for the pastorate Teaching the Reformation examines the four generations of Reformed pastors who served the church of Basel in the century after the Reformation focusing on the evolution of pastoral training and Reformed theology the theory and practice of preaching and the performance of pastoral care in both urban and rural parishes It looks at how these pastors were educated and what they learned examining not only the study of theology but also the general education in languages rhetoric and dialectic that future pastors received at the city's Latin school and in the arts faculty of the university It points to significant changes over time in the content of that education which in turn separated Basels pastors into distinct generations The study also looks more specifically at preaching in Basel demonstrating how the evolution of dialectic and rhetoric instruction and particularly the spread of Ramism led to changes in both exegetical method and homiletics These developments combined with the gradual elaboration of Reformed theology resulted in a distinctive style of Reformed Orthodox preaching in Basel The development of pastoral education also had a direct impact on how Basels clergy carried out their other duties catechization administering the sacraments counseling the dying and consoling the bereaved and overseeing the moral conduct of their parishioners The growing professionalization of the clergy the result of more intensive education and more stringent supervision contributed to the gradual implantation of a Reformed religious culture in Basel Money & Magic in

The Heirs of Archimedes Brett D. Steele, Tamera Dorland, 2005 Essays analyze the connections between science and technology and military power in the late medieval Renaissance and Enlightenment periods The integration of scientific knowledge and military power began long before the Manhattan Project In the third century BC Archimedes was renowned for his research in mechanics and mathematics as well as for his design and coordination of defensive siegecraft for Syracuse during the Second Punic War This collection of essays examines the emergence during the early modern era of mathematicians chemists and natural philosophers who along with military engineers navigators and artillery officers followed in the footsteps of Archimedes and synthesized scientific theory and military practice It is the first collaborative scholarly assessment of these early military scientific relationships which have been long neglected by scholars both in the history of science and technology and in military history From a historical perspective this volume investigates the deep connections between two central manifestations of Western power examining the military context of the Scientific Revolution and the scientific context of the Military Revolution Unlike the classic narratives of the Scientific Revolution that focus on the theories of and conflicts between Aristotelian and Platonic worldviews this volume highlights the emergence of the Archimedean ideal in which a symbiosis exists between the supply of mechanistic science and the demand for military capability From a security studies perspective this work presents an in depth study of the central components of military power as well as their dynamic interactions in the political acquisitional operational and tactical domains The essays in this volume reveal the intellectual and cultural struggles to enhance the capabilities of these components an exercise in transforming military power that remains relevant for today s armed forces The volume sets the stage by examining the innovation of gunpowder weaponry in both the Christian and the Islamic states of the late medieval and Renaissance eras It then explores such topics as the cultural resistance to scientific techniques and the relationship between early modern science and naval power particularly the intersecting developments in mathematics and oceanic navigation Other essays address the efforts of early practitioners and theorists of chemistry to increase the power and consistency of gunpowder The final essays analyze the application of advanced scientific knowledge and Enlightenment ideals to the military engineering and artillery organizations of the eighteenth century The volume concludes by noting the global spread of the Archimedean ideal during the nineteenth
