Rejected Leading Economists Ponder The Publication Process:

Rejected George B. Shepherd, 1995 Rejected Graciela Chichilnisky, 2009 This is in response to your letter of April 3rd 1992 requesting stories about journal rejections if any Yours is a worthwhile venture There seems to be room for improvement in our journals and perhaps your book will be of help But I must warn you and your reader that the subject is sufficiently important and painful to an author that what one writes cannot be taken too seriously Like the other authors of your volume I have had papers rejected by journals in several areas for most of my career including currently I had rejections in pure mathematics and in applied mathematics in economic theory game theory and in mathematical economics in financial economics international trade and development economics in environmental economics and the economics of networks Perhaps I have more papers rejected now than ever but this may be because I am writing more Secrets of Economics

Editors Michael Szenberg, Lall Ramrattan, 2014-01-24 Experienced economics editors discuss navigating the world of scholarly journals with details on submission reviews acceptance rejection and editorial policy Editors of academic journals are often the top scholars in their fields They are charged with managing the flow of hundreds of manuscripts each year from submission to review to rejection or acceptance all while continuing their own scholarly pursuits Tenure decisions often turn on who has published what in which journals but editors can accept only a fraction of the papers submitted In this book past and present editors of economics journals discuss navigating the world of academic journals Their contributions offer essential reading for anyone who has ever submitted a paper served as a referee or associate editor edited a journal or read an article and wondered why it was published The editors describe their experiences at journals that range from the American Economic Review to the Journal of Sports Economics The issues they examine include late referee reports slow resubmission of manuscripts and plagiarism as well as the difficulties of herding cats and the benefits of husband wife editorial partnerships They consider the role of the editor as gatekeeper or developer of content and they advise authors to write more carefully and clearly to include citations that locate their articles in the context of the existing literature and to update their work after it has been submitted and rejected elsewhere The chapters also offer a timely insider's perspective on the general effectiveness of the system of academic journals in economics Contributors Richard V Adkisson Richard G Anderson William A Barnett Suzanne R Becker William R Becker Daniel W Bromley William G Dewald Antony W Dnes Zvi Eckstein Richard Friberg Esther Gal Or Craufurd Goodwin Thorvaldur Gylfason Campbell R Harvey Geoffrey M Hodgson Leo H Kahane R Preston McAfee John Pencavel Gerald Pfann Steven Pressman Lall B Ramrattan J Barkley Rosser Jr Paul H Rubin William F Shughart II Robert M Solow Daniel F Spulber Michael Szenberg Timothy Taylor Abu N M Wahid Michael Watts Lawrence J White Jrgen von Hagen Fabrizio Zilibotti Control of Human Behavior, Mental Processes, and Consciousness Walter J.
