Inocencio,International Water Management Institute,Future Harvest (Program),2007 High irrigation investment costs together with declining world prices for food and the failures of a number of high profile past irrigation projects are the main reasons for the reluctance of development agencies and governments in sub Saharan Africa to invest more resources in irrigation This study aims to systematically establish whether costs of irrigation projects in sub Saharan Africa are truly high determine the factors which influence costs and performance of irrigation projects and recommend cost reducing and performance enhancing options to make irrigation investments in the region more attractive It analyzes 314 irrigation projects implemented from 1967 to 2003 in 50 countries in Africa Asia and Latin America funded by the World Bank African Development Bank and the International Fund for Agricultural Development Opportunities for private sector participation in agricultural water development and management F. Schwartz,2008-10-01 It would seem unlikely that one could discover tolerant religious attitudes in Spain Portugal and the New World colonies during the era of the Inquisition when enforcement of Catholic orthodoxy was widespread and brutal Yet this groundbreaking book does exactly that Drawing on an enormous body of historical evidence including records of the Inquisition itself the historian Stuart Schwartz investigates the idea of religious tolerance and its evolution in the Hispanic world from 1500 to 1820 Focusing on the attitudes and beliefs of common people rather than those of intellectual elites the author finds that no small segment of the population believed in freedom of conscience and rejected the exclusive validity of the Church The book explores various sources of tolerant attitudes the challenges that the New World presented to religious orthodoxy the complex relations between popular and learned culture and many related topics The volume concludes with a discussion of the relativist ideas that were taking hold elsewhere in Europe during this era Writers and Their Notebooks Diana M.
