Rave Gnade, 2002 The Adventure of Being Human Basil P. Sharp, 2000-04 We are living in a time between myth stories observed such luminaries as Joseph Campbell and Thomas Berry The classical myths stories and symbols of our past no longer seem relevant in these difficult times and the new ones that help us to understand ourselves and our place in the world have yet to be written Until now Old English Poetry in Medieval Christian Perspective Judith N. Garde, 1991 Dr Garde questions modern interpretations of the nature and purpose of Old English religious poetry In this doctrinal appraisal Dr Garde contends that English religious poetry in the early medieval age of faith was intended to convey conventional Christian teaching to unlearned audiences In this reading Old English religiousverse is dominated by the Christus Victor tradition the exegetical perceptions often assumed in modern criticism are not justified. The tradition of Christ s triumphant Descent into hell regarded as apocryphal by many critics is discussed in the context of the Resurrection and Christian expectations of eternal life in the Advent lyrics the Descent poems Christ II and Phoenix The Dream of the Rood Elene and Christ III are seen as describing Christ's Incarnation death Descent Resurrection and Ascension the Pentecostal phenomenon and the Church in the world Expectations of judgment the future resurrection of flesh and the prospect of eternal bliss for righteous Christians complete the credal sequence The author suggests that unstated wholly familiar perceptions of salvation in Christ underlie all Old English religious verse and that interpreters ignore these traditions at their peril JUDITH GARDE's published work includes contributions to the Journal of Literature and Theology and Neophilologus

Maximus the Confessor Paul M. Blowers,2016-02-04 This study contextualizes the achievement of a strategically crucial figure in Byzantium's turbulent seventh century the monk and theologian Maximus the Confessor 580 662 Building on newer biographical research and a growing international body of scholarship as well as on fresh examination of his diverse literary corpus Paul Blowers develops a profile integrating the two principal initiatives of Maximus's career first his reinterpretation of the christocentric economy of creation and salvation as a framework for expounding the spiritual and ascetical life of monastic and non monastic Christians and second his intensifying public involvement in the last phase of the ancient christological debates the monothelete controversy wherein Maximus helped lead an East West coalition against Byzantine imperial attempts doctrinally to limit Jesus Christ to a single divine activity and will devoid of properly human volition Blowers identifies what he terms Maximus's cosmo politeian worldview a contemplative and ascetical vision of the

M. Wedderburn, 2011-01-01 The assumption that Romans 6 and 1 Corinthians 15 reflects a borrowing of ideas from Graeco Roman mystery initiations is not the likeliest explanation of these texts nor does justice either to recent studies of the mysteries nor to the difficulty in reinterpreting resurrection to refer to a spiritual state which the baptized enjoyed in the present Spiritual phenomena may have shown early Christians in the Graeco Roman world that they had life but not resurrection Dying with Christ has other roots than the mysteries and the latter should not be interpreted in the light of Paul but dying and coming to life again is a theme common to a great many rites of passage The Resurrection of the Son of God Nicholas Thomas Wright, 2003-03-17 Explores ancient beliefs about life after death highlighting the fact that the early Christians belief about the afterlife belonged firmly on the Jewish spectrum while introducing several new mutations and sharper definitions forcing readers to view the Easter narratives not simply as rationalizations but as accounts of two actual events the empty tomb of Jesus and his appearances Simultaneous Hardcover no longer available Messiah and Exaltation Andrew Chester, 2007 Andrew Chester focuses on Jewish messianic hope intermediary figures and visionary traditions of human transformation particularly in the Second Temple period and analyzes their significance for the origin and development of New Testament Christology He brings together five previously published essays on these themes these include two long chapters one on Jewish messianic and mediatorial traditions in relation to Pauline Christology the other on messianism and eschatology in early Judaism and Christianity plus one on messiah and Temple in Sibylline Oracles 3 5 Two further essays on the significance of Torah in the messianic age and on resurrection transformation and early Christology have been extensively revised There are also three substantial new chapters all of which engage closely with recent scholarly debate The first on the origin of Christology argues for the significance of Jewish visionary traditions of human transformation for understanding how high Christology came about at such an early stage within the New Testament The second discusses the complex questions of the definition scope and nature of Jewish messianism especially in relation to the Hebrew Bible and the more recently available Qumran evidence and their significance for the New Testament The third is concerned with what Paul means by the law of Christ and the wider issues raised by this The Novel and the Sea Margaret Cohen, 2021-06-08 For a century the history of the novel has been written in terms of nations and territories the English novel the French novel the American novel But what if novels were viewed in terms of the seas that unite these different lands Examining works across two centuries The Novel and the Sea recounts the novel s rise told from the perspective of the ship s deck and the allure of the oceans in the modern cultural imagination Margaret Cohen moors the novel to overseas exploration and work at sea framing its emergence as a transatlantic history steeped in the adventures and risks of the maritime frontier Cohen explores how Robinson Crusoe competed with the best selling nautical literature of the time by dramatizing remarkable conditions from the wonders of unknown lands to storms shipwrecks and pirates She considers James Fenimore Cooper's refashioning of the adventure novel in postcolonial America and a change in literary poetics toward new frontiers and to the maritime labor and technology of the nineteenth century Cohen shows how Jules Verne reworked adventures at sea into science fiction how Melville Hugo and Conrad navigated the foggy waters of language and thought and how detective and spy fiction built on sea fiction s problem solving devices She also discusses the transformation of the ocean from a theater of skilled work to an environment of pristine nature and the sublime A significant literary history The Novel and the Sea challenges readers to rethink their land locked assumptions about the novel The Homiletic Review, 1892 Homiletic Review, 1927

Davies Select thoughts, Edwin Davies (D.D.),1875 Select Thoughts on the Ministry and the Church, Etc., Gathered from the Literature of All Times, and Arranged for Immediate Reference Edwin Davies,1875 Verus Israel Marcel Simon,1996-09-01 Marcel Simon s classic study examines Jewish Christian relations in the Roman Empire from the second Jewish War 132 5 CE to the end of the Jewish Patriarchate in 425 CE First published in French in 1948 the book overturns the then commonly held view that the Jewish and Christian communities gradually ceased to interact and that the Jews gave up proselytizing among the gentiles On the contrary Simon maintains that Judaism continued to make its influence felt on the world at large and to be influenced by it in turn He analyses both the antagonisms and the attractions between the two faiths and concludes with a discussion of the eventual disappearance of Judaism as a missionary religion The rival community triumphed with the help of a Christian imperial authority and a doctrine well adapted to the Graeco Roman mentality
