Soured which several years ago accurately predicted Japan's current travails at a time when others were prematurely pronouncing full recovery Katz warns however that there is bad news to go with the good So deep seated are Japan's dysfunctions that even if it did everything right today it would take at least five years for truly vibrant growth to take hold But Japan will not do everything right Opposition to reform is deep seated and a myriad of vested interests and millions of jobs are at stake Still he notes there is little doubt that reform will succeed Japanese Phoenix tells the story of the struggle between the forces of reform and the forces of resistance It dissects Prime Minister Koizumi's role in the process and explains why Japan is in so much trouble and what needs to be done It explores the debates among economists and gives a careful progress report on all the moves made so far in the name of reform from greater direct foreign investment to the financial Big Bang to ending one party rule by the Liberal Democratic Party Katz concludes that this is just the second round of a 15 round fight Japan is a great nation currently trapped in obsolete institutions As it has before Japan will find a way to surmount its problems and regain its forward progress
