Hunger Movements in Early Victorian Literature Lesa Scholl, 2016-05-05 In Hunger Movements in Early Victorian Literature Lesa Scholl explores the ways in which the language of starvation interacts with narratives of emotional and intellectual want to create a dynamic evolving notion of hunger Scholl's interdisciplinary study emphasises literary analysis sensory history and political economy to interrogate the progression of hunger in Britain from the early 1830s to the late 1860s Examining works by Charles Dickens Harriet Martineau George Eliot Elizabeth Gaskell Henry Mayhew and Charlotte Bronte Scholl argues for the centrality of hunger in social development and understanding She shows how the rhetoric of hunger moves beyond critiques of physical starvation to a paradigm in which the dominant narrative of civilisation is predicated on the continual progress and evolution of literal and metaphorical taste Her study makes a persuasive case for how hunger as a signifier of both individual and corporate ambition is a necessarily self interested and increasingly violent agent of progress within the discourse of political economy that emerged in the eighteenth century and subsequently shaped nineteenth century social and political life Pearson's Magazine, 1922 Vol 49 no 9 Sept 1922 accompanied by a separately paged section entitled ERA electronic reactions of Abrams

out of the construction of the first Participants discussed the environment as a catalyst in the change of what a person actually thinks a businessman or woman looks like Many of these images were formed based upon pop culture such as the traveling salesman in the Looney Tunes cartoons who sells brushes door to door and hails from Walla Walla Washington Others were based on the images read about in books such as Willy Loman from Death of a Salesman The essays included in this volume presented by doctoral candidates and scholars from across a range of geographical regions and disciplines result in a collection that investigates the idea of the changing image of the businessman throughout literature both in America and in Europe The arrangement of the collection is a comparative timeline allowing the changing images of business to evolve with each essay
