Nation Building Propaganda And Literature In Fra:

Black France Dominic Thomas, 2007 Without a doubt one of the most important studies so far completed on literature in French grounded in the experiences of migrants of sub Saharan African origin Alec Hargreaves Florida State University France has always hosted a rich and vibrant black presence within its borders But recent violent events have raised questions about France s treatment of ethnic minorities Challenging the identity politics that have set immigrants against the mainstream Black France explores how black expressive culture has been reformulated as global culture in the multicultural and multinational spaces of France Thomas brings forward questions such as Why is France a privileged site of civilization Who is French Who is an immigrant Who controls the networks of production Black France poses an urgently needed reassessment of the French colonial legacy The Cambridge Companion to the African Novel F. Abiola

Irele, 2009-07-23 Africa s strong tradition of storytelling has long been an expression of an oral narrative culture African writers such as Amos Tutuola Naguib Mahfouz Wole Soyinka and J M Coetzee have adapted these older forms to develop and enhance the genre of the novel in a shift from the oral mode to print Comprehensive in scope these new essays cover the fiction in the European languages from North Africa and Africa south of the Sahara as well as in Arabic They highlight the themes and styles of the African novel through an examination of the works that have either attained canonical status an entire chapter is devoted to the work of Chinua Achebe or can be expected to do so Including a guide to further reading and a chronology this is the ideal starting point for students of African and world literatures Francophone Afropean

Literatures Nicki Hitchcott, Dominic Richard David Thomas, 2014 This volume explores the concept and possibility of a black European community by analysing the ways in which contemporary Francophone African writers articulate and interrogate their complex relationships with European society culture and history Transnational French Studies Alec G.

Hargreaves, Charles Forsdick, David Murphy, 2012-01-01 The 2007 manifesto in favour of a Litterature monde en francais has generated new debates in both francophone and postcolonial studies Praised by some for breaking down the hierarchical division between French and Francophone literatures the manifesto has been criticized by others for recreating that division through an exoticizing vision that continues to privilege the publishing industry of the former colonial metropole Does the manifesto signal the advent of a new critical paradigm destined to render obsolescent those of francophone and or postcolonial studies Or is it simply a passing fad a glitzy but ephemeral publicity stunt generated and promoted by writers and publishing executives vis a vis whom scholars and critics should maintain a skeptical distance Does it offer an all embracing transnational vista leading beyond the confines of postcolonialism or reintroduce an incipient form of neocolonialism even while proclaiming the end of the centre periphery divide In addressing these questions leading scholars of French Francophone and postcolonial studies from around the globe help to assess the wider question of the evolving status of French Studies as a transnational field of study amid the challenges of globalization A Companion to African

Literatures Olakunle George, 2021-03-22 Rediscover the diversity of modern African literatures with this authoritative resource edited by a leader in the field How have African literatures unfolded in their rich diversity in our modern era of decolonization nationalisms and extensive transnational movement of peoples How have African writers engaged urgent questions regarding race nation ethnicity gender and sexuality And how do African literary genres interrelate with traditional oral forms or audio visual and digital media A Companion to African Literatures addresses these issues and many more Consisting of essays by distinguished scholars and emerging leaders in the field this book offers rigorous deeply engaging discussions of African literatures on the continent and in diaspora It covers the four main geographical regions East and Central Africa North Africa Southern Africa and West Africa presenting ample material to learn from and think with A Companion To African Literatures is divided into five parts The first four cover different regions of the continent while the fifth part considers conceptual issues and newer directions of inquiry Chapters focus on literatures in European languages officially used in Africa English French and Portuguese as well as homegrown African languages Afrikaans Amharic Arabic Swahili and Yoruba With its lineup of lucid and authoritative analyses readers will find in A Companion to African Literatures a distinctive rewarding academic resource Perfect for undergraduate and graduate students in literary studies programs with an African focus A Companion to African Literatures will also earn a place in the libraries of teachers researchers and professors who wish to strengthen their background in the study of African literatures

The Negritude Movement

Reiland Rabaka, 2015-05-20 The Negritude Movement provides readers with not only an intellectual history of the Negritude Movement but also its prehistory W E B Du Bois the New Negro Movement and the Harlem Renaissance and its posthistory Frantz Fanon and the evolution of Fanonism By viewing Negritude as an insurgent idea to invoke this book's intentionally incendiary subtitle as opposed to merely a form of poetics and aesthetics The Negritude Movement explores Negritude as a traveling theory la Edward Said's concept that consistently crisscrossed the Atlantic Ocean in the twentieth century from Harlem to Haiti Haiti to Paris Paris to Martinique Martinique to Senegal and on and on ad infinitum The Negritude Movement maps the movements of proto Negritude concepts from Du Bois's discourse in The Souls of Black Folk through to post Negritude concepts in Fanon's Black Skin White Masks and The Wretched of the Earth Utilizing Negritude as a conceptual framework to on the one hand explore the African intellectual tradition in the twentieth century and on the other hand demonstrate discursive continuity between Du Bois and Fanon as well as the Harlem Renaissance and Negritude Movement The Negritude Movement ultimately accents what Negritude contributed to arguably its greatest intellectual heir Frantz Fanon and the development of his distinct critical theory Fanonism Rabaka argues that if Fanon and Fanonism remain relevant in the twenty first century then to a certain extent Negritude remains relevant in the twenty first century

New Francophone African and Caribbean Theatres John Conteh-Morgan, 2010-08-03 John Conteh Morgan explores the multiple ways in which African and Caribbean theatres have combined aesthetic ceremonial experimental and avant garde practices in order to achieve sharp critiques of the nationalist and postnationalist state and to elucidate the concerns of the francophone world More recent changes have introduced a transnational dimension replacing concerns with national and ethnic solidarity in favor of irony and self reflexivity New Francophone African and Caribbean Theatres places these theatres at the heart of contemporary debates on global cultural and political practices and offers a more finely tuned understanding of performance in diverse diasporic networks

Globalizing the Postcolony Claire H. Griffiths, 2010-12-18 Globalizing the Postcolony Contesting Discourses of Gender and Development in Francophone Africa is a study of development in the former French colonies of West Africa It takes as its starting point the international community's reporting on human and social development and gender in the developing areas which began systematically in 1990 and which has provided a framework for policy making in this field International reports suggest that the francophone African countries have been experiencing low levels of social development throughout the past two decades These levels fall dramatically when the factor of gender is introduced to the point where statistically speaking francophone African women have had less access to social development than any other population in the world This study analyzes current thinking on the challenges facing gender and development in Africa before moving on to examine the historical factors marking the gender and development profile of the francophone West African region Through an analysis of gender politics in the region from pre colonial to postcolonial times the book examines the gradual incursion of exogenous gender policies into the region throughout the 20th century The discussion concludes by arguing that despite the tendency of the international community and their colonial administrative forebears to pursue one size fits all solutions to what they identified as the main development challenges of the day the impact of standardized solutions remains subject to the unique historical and cultural context in which they are implemented Adapting formula driven policies to unique cultural contexts constitutes a major challenge for gender and development politics in the second decade of the new century Meanwhile the book coincides with the introduction of a new international development agenda in Africa articulated around issues of security and globalization While civil unrest continues to destabilize vast regions of the continent making the prospe
