National Implementation Of The Future Chemical Weapons Convention

Nicholas Roger Alan Sims

National Implementation Of The Future Chemical Weapons Convention:

National Implementation of the Future Chemical Weapons Convention Thomas Stock, Ronald G. Sutherland, 1990 Individual states intending to become parties to the projected Chemical Weapons Convention will need to make detailed studies of the obligations it could bring This book aims to stimulate this process by providing a detailed analysis of these obligations as outlined in the current draft of the CW Convention and considering its technological organizational and political implications Contributions include reviews by experts in disarmament regulatory bodies and the chemical industry of different aspects of arms control and disarmament regulations The book provides studies of national legislation and relevant regulations making it a useful guide for those developing procedures for the enforcement of the Convention on a national level The Chemical Weapons Convention United States. Congress. Office of Technology Assessment, 1993 A Commentary on the Chemical Weapons Convention Walter Krutzsch, Ralf Trapp, 2023-07-24 A Commentary on the Chemical Weapons Convention is written by two authors who have been involved in the negotiation of the CWC for a long time including during the finalization of the treaty and who combine legal and technical expertise The Commentary provides a concise explanation of the numerous provisions of the Articles and Annexes of the CWC and their interrelationship It is meant as a guide through the Convention In the absence of State practice the Commentary draws attention to provisions which will need further elaboration and clarification by the work of the Preparatory Commission of the CWC in The Hague The Chemical Weapons Convention : effects on the U.S. chemical industry. , La Convention sur l'interdiction et l'élimination des armes chimiques Daniel Bardonnnet, 1995-11-17 After twenty years of negotiation within the framework of the Disarmament Conference the Convention on the Prohibition of the Development Production Stockpiling and Use of Chemical Weapons and on Their Destruction was signed in Paris between 13 and 15 January 1993 At the same time the signatory States adopted a resolution instituting a Preparatory Commission established in The Hague with the aim of the prompt and effective establishment of the future Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons A variety of converging considerations led the Curatorium of the Academy of International Law to organize a workshop on this subject first the very interesting nature of the highly sensitive problems raised by the destruction of chemical weapons both on the strategic and political planes as well as on technical financial and ecological grounds but also the originality and difficulty from the legal standpoint of the numerous questions which will inevitably arise in connection with the application of the Paris Convention Finally the Paris Convention which is innovative in many respects particularly in that it institutes international control over the whole of an industrial activity may be used as a model in other areas of disarmament in particular the area of nuclear weapons The Projected Chemical Weapons Convention Thomas Bernauer, United Nations Institute for Disarmament Research, 1990 International Law and the Proliferation of Weapons of Mass Destruction Daniel Joyner, 2009 Proliferation of WMD technologies is by no means a new concern for the international community Indeed since the signing of the Nuclear Non proliferation Treaty in 1968 tremendous energies have been expended upon diplomatic efforts to create a web of treaties and international organisations regulating the production and stockpiling of WMD sensitive materials within states as well as their spread through the increasingly globalised channels of international trade to other states and non state actors However the intervention in 2003 by Western powers in Iraq has served as an illustration of the importance of greater understanding of and attention to this area of law as disagreements over its content and application have once again lead to a potentially destabilising armed intervention by members of the United Nations into the sovereign territory of another member state Other ongoing disputes between states regarding the character of obligations assumed under non proliferation treaty instruments and the effect of international organisations decisions in this area form some of the most contentious and potentially destabilising issues of foreign policy concern for many states This book provides a comprehensive analysis of international law and organisations in the area of WMD proliferation It will serve both as a reference for understanding the law as it currently exists in its political and economic context as well as an analysis of areas in which amendments to existing law and organisations are needed

The Evolution of Biological Disarmament

Nicholas Roger Alan Sims,2001 The evolution of the disarmament regime of the 1972 Biological and Toxin Weapons Convention BTWC is described from 1980 when the first BTWC Review Conference was held until 1998 The author analyses the results of our first four review Conferences the meetings of the Ad Hoc Group of Governmental Experts to Identify and Examine Potential Verification Measures from a Scientific and Technical Standpoint the 1994 Special Conference the current negotiations of the Ad Hoc Group to produce an additional protocol the BTWC which may include verification measures handling of the 1997 Cuban allegation of US biological warfare and the implementation of Article X of the BTWC on international transfers and cooperation for peaceful purposes The strength of the BTWC regime is assessed in the light of its evolution through the review process and its changing contents including Russia s admission that it had inherited an offensive biological weapon programme The book applies an original sector by sector approach to its analysis of the BTWC studied in a long term perspective

Efficacy and Efficiency in Multilateral Policy Formation

Rudolf Th. Jurrjens,Jan Sizoo,2023-09-29 This new work examines three important case studies of international conference diplomacy concerning military security as presented at the semi universal Geneva negotiations on the Chemical Weapons Convention 1992 the regional Stockholm conference on Confidence and Security Building Measures CSBMs 1986 and the Vienna bloc to bloc talks between East and West on Mutual and Balanced Force Reductions MBFR 1989 The authors describe in great detail the course and results of these conferences and make a comparison of the negotiating processes before and after the abolition of the Warsaw Treaty Organization after the political events of 1989 in Eastern Europe The central terms underlying this study are defined within a newly developed comprehensive theoretical framework that is used to analyze the three negotiating processes In the final chapter a number of concrete recommendations are made which aim to increase the efficacy and efficiency of future multilateral negotiations
