Nationalism and federalism in Yugoslavia, 1963-1983. [Mit Tab. u. Kt. -Skizzen.] Pedro Ramet, 1984 Yugoslavia In The 1980s Sabrina Ramet, 2019-03-15 The opening years of 1980 were difficult for Yugoslavia Open revolt has occurred in Kosovo province and economic hardship has added to a general crisis of confidence The system of self management once the pride of Yugoslav ideologists has come increasingly under fire in post Tito Yugoslavia as proponents of the system search for a new basis of The Rise and Fall of Communist Yugoslavism Tomaž Ivešić, 2024-03-05 The Rise and Fall of Communist Yugoslavism Soft Nation Building in Yugoslavia examines how the Communist Party of Yugoslavia incorporated the idea of a Yugoslav nation into its ideology and created the Yugoslav Soft Nation Building project after the Second World War With an innovative approach of researching three levels of research from above from below and from the viewpoint of interethnic relations the book brings forward an original concept of soft nation building with a focus on the Slovenian Yugoslav dimension Drawing on archival sources from Ljubljana Zagreb Sarajevo and Belgrade the author argues that after the abandonment of the Yugoslav national idea two Yugoslavisms were created in the mid 1960s State based socialist Yugoslavism was propagated by the Party and had no ethnic connotations only a small proportion of the population identified themselves as Yugoslav in national terms The created vacuum was filled by old national identities The book is of interest to specialists and advanced students of cultural and intellectual history studies of nationalism but also history of science and institutions and the history of everyday life The book aims to appeal to scholars of Balkan South East European and Yugoslav history Transforming Heritage in the Former Yugoslavia Gruia Bădescu, Britt Baillie, Francesco Mazzucchelli, 2021-08-11 Heritage became a target during the Yugoslav Wars as part of ethnic cleansing and urbicide Out of the ashes of war pasts were remodelled places took on new layers of meaning and a wave of new memorialization took hold Three decades since the fall of Vukovar and the end of the siege of Sarajevo and more than a decade since Kosovo s Declaration of Independence conflict has shifted from armed confrontations to battles about the past The former Yugoslavia has been described on the one hand as a bastion of plurality and multiculturalism and on the other as a territory of antagonism and radical nationalisms echoing imaginaries and narratives relevant to Europe as a whole With Croatia having entered the EU in 2013 and the continuous political contestation in the region wounds in the memory fabric of the former Yugoslavia have once more come to the world s attention Thus there is the question what will happen when the former republics are reunited once more under the EU umbrella itself beset by increasing populisms nationalisms and the looming prospects of territorial fragmentation This collection scrutinizes the role of heritage in conflict time inquires what role the past might have in creating new identities at the local regional national and supra national levels and investigates the dynamics of heritage as a process From Yugoslavia to the Western Balkans Robert Hayden, 2012-10-12 Reflecting more than two decades of research on Yugoslavia s collapse and based primarily on sources from the region itself this book consistently challenges commonly held beliefs about the Balkans wars and about European integration international law human rights and politics in multi national societies

Designing Tito's Capital Brigitte Le Normand, 2014-07-21 The devastation of World War II left the Yugoslavian capital of Belgrade in ruins Communist Party leader Josip Broz Tito saw this as a golden opportunity to recreate the city through his own vision of socialism In Designing Tito's Capital Brigitte Le Normand analyzes the unprecedented planning process called for by the new leader and the determination of planners to create an urban environment that would benefit all citizens Led first by architect Nikola Dobrovic and later by Milos Somborski planners blended the predominant school of European modernism and the socialist principles of efficient construction and space usage to produce a model for housing green space and working environments for the masses A major influence was modernist Le Corbusier and his Athens Charter published in 1943 which called for the total reconstruction of European cities transforming them into compact and verdant vertical cities unfettered by slumlords private interests and traffic congestion As Yugoslavia transitioned toward self management and market socialism the functionalist district of New Belgrade and its modern living were lauded as the model city of socialist man The glow of the utopian ideal would fade by the 1960s when market socialism had raised expectations for living standards and the government was eager for inhabitants to finance their own housing By 1972 a new master plan emerged under Aleksandar Dordevic fashioned with the assistance of American experts Espousing current theories about systems and rational process planning and using cutting edge computer technology the new plan left behind the dream for a functionalist Belgrade and instead focused on managing growth trends While the public resisted aspects of the new planning approach that seemed contrary to socialist values it embraced the idea of a decentralized city connected by mass transit Through extensive archival research and personal interviews with participants in the planning process Le Normand's comprehensive study documents the evolution of New Belgrade and its adoption and ultimate rejection of modernist principles while also situating it within larger continental and global contexts of politics economics and urban planning

The Myth of Ethnic War V. P. Gagnon, Jr., 2013-05-15 The wars in Bosnia Herzegovina and in neighboring Croatia and Kosovo grabbed the attention of the western world not only because of their ferocity and their geographic location but also because of their timing This violence erupted at the exact moment when the cold war confrontation was drawing to a close when westerners were claiming their liberal values as triumphant in a country that had only a few years earlier been seen as very well placed to join the west In trying to account for this outburst most western journalists academics and policymakers have resorted to the language of the premodern tribalism ethnic hatreds cultural inadequacy irrationality in short the Balkans as the antithesis of the modern west Yet one of the most striking aspects of the wars in Yugoslavia is the extent to which the images purveyed in the western press and in much of the academic literature are so at odds with evidence from on the ground from The Myth of Ethnic War V P Gagnon Jr believes that the Yugoslav wars of the 1990s were reactionary moves designed to thwart populations that were threatening the existing structures of political and economic power He begins with facts at odds with the essentialist view of ethnic identity such as high intermarriage rates and the very high percentage of draft resisters. These statistics do not comport comfortably with the notion that these wars were the result of ancient blood hatreds or of nationalist leaders using ethnicity to mobilize people into conflict. Yugoslavia in the late 1980s was in Gagnon's view on the verge of large scale sociopolitical and economic change. He shows that political and economic elites in Belgrade and Zagreb first created and then manipulated violent conflict along ethnic lines as a way to short circuit the dynamics of political change. This strategy of violence was thus a means for these threatened elites to demobilize the population. Gagnon's noteworthy and rather controversial argument provides us with a substantially new way of understanding the politics of ethnicity.

The Politics of National Minority Participation in Post-communist Societies: State-building, Democracy and Ethnic Mobilization Jonathan Stein, 2019-07-23 With the upsurge of nationalist sentiment in post communist societies the problem of political rights for ethnic minorities became a dangerous flashpoint. The introduction of electoral competition, the rewriting of constitutions, the breakup of federations, the weakness of civic institutions and the social and economic dislocations associated with marketization have all contributed to the salience of majority minority relations. This collection systematically analyzes different models of minority politics in Eastern Europe in an effort to understand why tensions are manageable in some contexts, uncontrollable in others. Anchoring the volume are essays by Carlos Flores Juberias on electoral systems and Janusz Bugajski on national minority parties. Six case studies examine the interaction of different types of institutional arrangements which structure political participation and different demographic conditions, ethnic balances and territorial concentrations in Albania, Bulgaria, Croatia, Estonia, Latvia and Romania. Framing these studies are overviews by the editors and by Jack Snyder.

An Ethnic History of Europe since 1945 Panikos Panayi, 2018-10-08 The first history of Europe since 1945 which examines the continent from a mainly ethnic perspective. Panikos Panayi has drawn on years of research to produce this comparative and exploratory account of the experience of ethnic minorities in post war Europe. The coverage encompasses all categories of minorities including immigrants and refugees, localised ethnic groupings and dispersed peoples. Geographically the scope of the book ranges from the Atlantic to the Urals and the Mediterranean to the Arctic, looking in particular at the Soviet Union, Britain, France, Germany, Romania, Cyprus and the former Yugoslavia.

Rethinking the International Conflict in Communist and Post-communist States Reneo Lukic, 2018-12-20 First published in 1998, the essays in this book cover a wide range of subjects related to Soviet Russian politics and to political developments in Southeastern Europe since 1989. The first three chapters focus on Soviet Russian foreign and domestic policy before and after the end of the Cold War. The next three chapters concentrate on the disintegration of Yugoslavia and its aftermath. The final chapter covers political developments in the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia up to the present day. The contributors to this book were all former students of Professor Mikl's Molnár and they are all now prominent researchers in the field of international relations.
