Nationalism And Popular Protest In Ireland:

Nationalism and Popular Protest in Ireland Charles H. E. Philpin, 2002-08-08 Essays on Irish nationalism some on particular protest movement others on more general themes Land and Popular Politics in Ireland Donald E. Jordan, 1994 A study of the Irish county of Mayo from Elizabethan times to the late nineteenth century Ireland 1798-1998 Alvin Jackson, 2010-03-16 Receiving widespread critical acclaim when first published Ireland 1798 1998 has been revised to include coverage of the most recent developments Jackson's stylish and impartial interpretation continues to provide the most up to date and important survey of 200 years of Irish history A new edition of this highly acclaimed history of Ireland reflecting both the very latest political developments and growth of scholarship Jackson provides a balanced and authoritative account of the complex political history of modern Ireland Draws on original research and extensive reading of the latest secondary literature Jackson provides an impressive treatment of events coupled with flowing narrative delivered analytically and elegantly The Laws and Other Legalities of Ireland, 1689-1850 Seán Patrick Donlan, 2016-03-03 While Irish historical writing has long been in thrall to the perceived sectarian character of the legal system this collection is the first to concentrate attention on the actual relationship that existed between the Irish population and the state under which they lived from the War of the Two Kings 1689 1691 to the Great Famine 1845 1849 Particular attention is paid to an understanding of the legal character of the state and the reach of the rule of law with contributors addressing such themes as how law was made and put into effect how ordinary people experienced the law and social regulations how Catholics related to the legal institutions of the Protestant confessional state and how popular notions of legitimacy were developed These themes contribute to a wider understanding of the nature of the state in the long eighteenth century and will therefore help to situate the study of Irish society into the mainstream of English and European social history Ireland and the Fiction of Improvement Helen O'Connell, 2006-09-21 This is the first study of Irish improvement fiction a neglected genre of nineteenth century literary social and political history Ireland and the Fiction of Improvement shows how the fiction of Mary Leadbeater Charles Bardin Martin Doyle and William Carleton attempted to lure Irish peasants and landowners away from popular genres such as fantasy romance and radical political tracts as well as high literary and philosophical forms of enquiry These writers attempted to cultivate a taste for the didactic tract an assertively realist mode of representation Accordingly improvement fiction laboured to demonstrate the value of hard work frugality and sobriety in a rigorously realistic idiom representing the contentment that inheres in a plain social order free of excess and embellishment Improvement discourse defined itself in opposition to the perceived extremism of revolutionary politics and literary writing seeking but failing to exemplify how both political discontent and unhappiness could be offset by a strict practicality and prosaic realism This book demonstrates how improvement reveals itself to be a literary discourse enmeshed in the very rhetorical abyss it sought to escape In addition the proudly liberal rhetoric of improvement is shown to be at one with the imperial discourse it worked to displace Helen O Connell argues that improvement discourse is embedded in the literary and cultural mainstream of modern Ireland and has hindered the development of intellectual and political debate throughout this period These issues are examined in chapters exploring the career of William Carleton peasant orality educational provision in the post Union period the Irish language secret society violence Young Ireland nationalism and the Irish Revival
