The Political Situation in Egypt During the Second Intermediate Period, C. 1800-1550 B.C. K. S. B. Ryholt, Adam Bülow-Jacobsen, 1997 The Second Intermediate Period designates the 250 year period 1800-1550 BC which separates the two glorious periods of the Middle Kingdom and the New Kingdom During the 19th century BC an invasion by Canaanite tribes into the Delta took place Around 1800 BC these people proclaimed their own king and the Delta thus became independent from the rest of Egypt Egypt remained split between the Canaanitic rulers in North and the native Egyptian Kings in the South for the rest of the Second Intermediate Period The division of Egypt brought about an economic decline and the entire period is characterized by a lack of royal monuments This circumstance has greatly hampered any attempts to establish a chronology of the period and as a consequence it has been very difficult to date many sources which are relevant for the social and political situation of the period The Second Intermediate Period has therefore remained one of the most obscure periods of Egypt's ancient history The dissertation is a new attempt to establish a chronology for the Second Intermediate Period and define the different kingdoms their territories and political relations The study consists of four main chapters three appendixes a catalogue of sources bibliography and indices Included is a catalogue of all the historical sources about 1500 known to certify the names of the Egyptian kings of the Second Intermediate Period Each source is described in terms of type origin and present location followed by bibliographical references

Studies in Zoroastrian Family Law Bodil Hjerrild, 2003 The source material of the book is translated from the only existent Sasanian law text and two Rivyats from the first half of the ninth and the first half of the tenth century at which time the Zoroastrians survived only in minority communities The original text is presented in photocopy with a transcription The analysis is concerned with four institutions in the sphere of family law Guardianship marriage of levirate marriage of a woman in order to provide her father or brother with an heir and marriage between close relatives incest taboo did not exist The issue of the research is to show how the social conditions and internal family economy with its power balance is reflected in the rules of the Sasanian law and that the differences apparent in the later texts are not accidental but form a pattern caused by the changing social conditions and that the law was changed in order to help preserve the Zoroastrian minority in adversity under Arab rule

Archaeomalacology D. Bar-Yosef, 2005-10-14 Molluscs are the most common invertebrate remains found at archaeological sites but archaeomalacology the study of molluscs in archaeological contexts is a relatively new archaeological discipline and the field of zooarchaeology is seen by many as one mainly focused on the remains of vertebrates The papers in this volume hope to redress this balance bringing molluscan studies into mainstream zooarchaeological and archaeological debate and resulting in a monograph with a truly international flavour
