Housing Policy Innovation in the Global South Paavo Monkkonen, 2020-06-29 Housing problems have become increasingly complex in the Global South An increased pressure to upgrade older stock to provide adequate infrastructure and bring city amenities to urban peripheries compounds the continued need for new housing of a decent standard This comprehensive volume spans nine countries simultaneously analyzing innovative housing policies and questioning the idea of innovation in this arena The authors describe three persistent global challenges to contemporary policy the inherent difficulty in mass producing housing of decent quality with access to the city the challenge of community based upgrading programmes which often fail to benefit those who are worst off and the political root of housing policies which don t always consider the diverse needs of populations at the expense of the least powerful This volume raises questions about what many consider the two most successful areas of housing policy in the Global South the community based land sharing programmes for redevelopment in South East Asia and the finance driven social housing programmes in Latin America The authors examine mass housing production programmes incremental development processes community based urban upgrading the legal structure of condominiums and land sharing policies while also highlighting challenges to policy learning across contexts This book will be of great interest to students researchers and those involved with contemporary housing policies particularly in the Global South It was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Housing Policy

Global Ecologies and the Environmental Humanities Elizabeth DeLoughrey, Jill Didur, Anthony Carrigan, 2015-04-10 This book examines current trends in scholarly thinking about the new field of the Environmental Humanities focusing in particular on how the history of globalization and imperialism represents a special challenge to the representation of environmental issues Essays in this path breaking collection examine the role that narrative visual and aesthetic forms can play in drawing attention to and shaping our ideas about long term and catastrophic environmental challenges such as climate change militarism deforestation the pollution and management of the global commons petrocapiatalism and the commodification of nature The volume presents a postcolonial approach to the environmental humanities especially in conjunction with current thinking in areas such as political ecology and environmental justice Spanning regions such as Africa Asia Eastern Europe Latin America and the Caribbean Australasia and the Pacific as well as North America the volume includes essays by founding figures in the field as well as new scholars providing vital new interdisciplinary perspectives on the politics of the earth disaster vulnerability and resilience political ecologies and environmental justice world ecologies and the Anthropocene In engaging critical ecologies the volume poses a postcolonial environmental humanities for the twenty first century At the heart of this is a conviction that a thoroughly global postcolonial and comparative approach is essential to defining the emergent field of the environmental humanities and that this field has much to offer in understanding critical issues surrounding the creation of alternative ecological futures

The ^AEconomic Impacts of Natural Disasters Debarati Guha-Sapir,Indhira Santos,Alexandre Borde,2013-05-02 The Economic Impacts of Natural Disasters focuses on concerns of poverty and vulnerability amongst natural disaster zones Written by a collection of esteemed scholars in disaster management and sustainable development the report provides an overview of the general trends in natural disasters and their effects by focusing on a critical analysis of different methodologies used to assess the economic impact of natural disasters

Disasters Without Borders John Hannigan,2013-04-17 Dramatic scenes of devastation and suffering caused by disasters such as the 2011 Japanese earthquake and tsunami are viewed with shock and horror by millions of us across the world What we rarely see however are the international politics of disaster aid mitigation and prevention that condition the collective response to natural catastrophes around the world In this book respected Canadian environmental sociologist John Hannigan argues that the global community of nations has failed time and again in establishing an effective and binding multilateral mechanism for coping with disasters especially in the more vulnerable countries of the South Written in an accessible and even handed manner Disasters without Borders it is the first comprehensive account of the key milestones debates controversies and research relating to the international politics of natural disasters Tracing the historical evolution of this policy field from its humanitarian origins in WWI right up to current efforts to cast climate change as the prime global driver of disaster risk it highlights the ongoing mismatch between the way disaster has been conceptualised and the institutional architecture in place to manage it The book s bold conclusion predicts the confluence of four emerging trends politicisation militarisation catastrophic scenario building privatisation of risk and quantification which could create a new system of disaster management wherein insurance logic will replace humanitarian concern as the guiding principle Disasters Without Borders is an ideal introductory text for students lecturers and practitioners in the fields of international development studies disaster management politics and international affairs and environmental geography sociology
