engines designed to run on gasoline or diesel can also be modified to operate on natural gas a clean burning fuel Natural gas vehicles NGVs can be dedicated to natural gas as a fuel source or they can be bi fuel running on either natural gas or gasoline or natural gas or diesel although most natural gas engines are spark ignited Natural gas engine technologies can differ in the following ways the method used to ignite the fuel in the cylinders the air fuel ratio the compression ratio and the resulting performance and emissions capabilities Natural gas has a high octane rating which in spark ignition engines usual for CNG allows an increase in power However natural gas occupies a larger volume in the cylinder than liquid fuels reducing the number of oxygen molecules share of air in the cylinder which reduces power The net effect on natural gas power vs gasoline is relatively neutral However since it is a gaseous fuel at atmospheric pressure and occupies a considerably larger storage volume per unit of energy than refined petroleum liquids it is stored on board the vehicle in either a compressed gaseous or liquefied state The storage requirements are still much greater than for refined petroleum products This increases vehicle weight which tends to reduce fuel economy To become compressed natural gas CNG it is pressurized in a tank at up to 3 600 pounds per square inch Typically in sedans the tank is mounted in the trunk or replaces the existing fuel tank on trucks the tank is mounted on the frame and on buses it is mounted on top of the roof Although tanks can be made completely from metal they are typically composed of metal liners reinforced by a wrap of composite fiber material with pressure relief devices designed to withstand impact Tanks do increase the vehicle weight and with the lower energy density of natural gas vehicle ranges are generally reduced To become liquefied natural gas LNG natural gas is cooled to 260 F and filtered to remove impurities LNG is stored in double wall vacuum insulated pressure tanks and is primarily used on heavy duty trucks providing increased range over CNG NGVs and their respective fueling systems must meet stringent industry and government standards for compression storage and fueling They are designed to perform safely during both normal operations and crash situations Nozzles and vehicle receptacles are designed to keep fuel from escaping
