Prescription For Justice The Theory And Practice Of Sentencing Guidelines:

Prescription for Justice Jack M. Kress, 1980 The Oxford Handbook of Sentencing and Corrections Joan Petersilia, Kevin R. Reitz, 2015 This handbook surveys American sentencing and corrections from global and historical views from theoretical and policy perspectives and with attention to a number of problem specific issues National Assessment of Structured Sentencing, 1996 Judicial Decision Making, Sentencing Policy, and Numerical Guidance Austin Lovegrove, 2012-12-06 This book describes an original empirical study of judicial decision making The process of determining sentences is a difficult one for judges and often unnecessarily intuitive subjective and complex The present study introduces a conceptual outline and empirical technique for increasing the precision of sentencing policy thus offering an aid to judges who sentence in the light of this policy The primary purpose of this model of judicial decision making is to provide a framework for scaling the seriousness of any single case in relation to the facts of that case and for relating this assessment to the appropriate quantum of sentence The validity of the model is tested and cross validated in an archival study This innovative research serves as an important prototype for a system of numerical guidance to judges and sentencers

Federal Probation, 2001 Discussion Materials on Organizational Sanctions, 1988 Crime and Justice, Volume 41: Prosecutors and Politics Michael Tonry, 2013-12-16 Prosecutors are powerful figures in any criminal justice system They decide what crimes to prosecute whom to pursue what charges to file whether to plea bargain how aggressively to seek a conviction and what sentence to demand In the United States citizens can challenge decisions by police judges and corrections officials but courts keep their hands off the prosecutor Curiously in the United States and elsewhere very little research is available that examines this powerful public role And there is almost no work that critically compares how prosecutors function in different legal systems from state to state or across countries Prosecutors and Politics begins to fill that void Police courts and prisons are much the same in all developed countries but prosecutors differ radically The consequences of these differences are enormous the United States suffers from low levels of public confidence in the criminal justice system and high levels of incarceration in much of Western Europe people report high confidence and support moderate crime control policies in much of Eastern Europe people's perceptions of the law are marked by cynicism and despair Prosecutors and Politics unpacks these national differences and provides insight into this key area of social control Since 1979 the Crime and Justice series has presented a review of the latest international research providing expertise to enhance the work of sociologists psychologists criminal lawyers justice scholars and political scientists The series explores a full range of issues concerning crime its causes and its cure Determinate Sentencing and the Correctional Process Lynne Goodstein, National Institute of Justice (U.S.), 1985 Topical Bibliography, 1983 Sentencing Reform in Overcrowded Times Michael Tonry, Kathleen Hatlestad, 1997-04-24 Sentencing and corrections issues are much the same in every Western country and increasingly efforts are being made to import policies and practices that have succeeded elsewhere This volume brings together articles on sentencing reform in the United States other English speaking countries Australia Canada England Wales New Zealand South Africa and Western Europe by leading national and international authorities on sentencing policy practices and institutions Short timely and readable the articles originally appeared in the journal Overcrowded Times Together they fill a major gap in the academic and policy literatures and will be essential reading for students scholars and practitioners in the field
