Media Bias, Perspective, and State Repression Christian Davenport, 2010 This book examines information reported within the media regarding the interaction between the Black Panther Party and government agents in the Bay Area of California 1967 1973 Christian Davenport argues that the geographic locale and political orientation of the newspaper influences how specific details are reported including who starts and ends the conflict who the Black Panthers target government or non government actors and which part of the government responds the police or court Specifically proximate and government oriented sources provide one assessment of events whereas proximate and dissident oriented sources have another both converge on specific aspects of the conflict The methodological implications of the study are clear Davenport's findings prove that in order to understand contentious events it is crucial to understand who collects or distributes the information in order to comprehend who reportedly does what to whom as well as why The Journalist's Guide to
