Adolescent Suicide Paul R. Robbins, 1997-11-15 Suicide is now the third leading cause of death among adolescents in the United States and some studies suggest that as many as 75 percent of all teenagers have considered killing themselves Current research on young people who are suicidal those who attempt and those who succeed is discussed in a plain way Among the wide ranging topics covered are the prevalence of adolescent suicide racial and gender differences methods used in the study of suicidal behavior associated behavioral problems e g drugs and alcohol psychological profiles precipitating events for suicide attempts teenage suicide clusters the effects of suicide on family and friends the treatment of suicidal adolescents and most importantly strategies for intervention and prevention

Sponsored by the Adolescent Mental Health Initiative of the Annenberg Public Policy Center APPC of the University of Pennsylvania and the Annenberg Foundation Trust at Sunnylands Trust Treating and Preventing Adolescent Mental Health Disorders Second Edition provides a major update since the first edition in 2005 It addresses the current state of knowledge about the major mental health disorders that emerge during adolescence including updated DSM 5 diagnostic criteria Here six commissions established by the APPC and the Sunnylands Trust pool their expertise on adolescent anxiety schizophrenia substance use disorders depression and bipolar disorders eating disorders and suicidal behavior in sections that thoroughly define each disorder outline and assess available treatments discuss prevention strategies and suggest a research agenda based on what we know and don t yet know about these various conditions Two additional behavioral disorders gambling and internet addiction are covered in this second edition As a meaningful counterpoint to its primary focus on mental illness the volume also incorporates the latest research from a seventh commission on positive youth development which addresses how we can fully prepare young people to be happy and successful throughout their lives Concluding chapters discuss overarching issues regarding the behavioral and mental health of adolescents overcoming the stigma of mental illness the research policy and practice context for the delivery of evidence based treatments and the development of a more robust agenda to advance adolescent health Integrating the work of eminent scholars in both psychology and psychiatry this work will be an essential volume for academics and practicing clinicians and will serve as a wake up call to mental health professionals and policy makers alike about the state of our nation s response to the needs of adolescents with mental disorders

Adolescent Suicide Group for the Advancement of Psychiatry. Committee on Adolescence,1996 Even the most skilled therapist may underestimate suicide potential Careful assessment and competent psychiatric intervention cannot always predict the suicidality of a particular person Adolescent Suicide GAP Report 140 presents techniques that allow psychiatrists and all those caring for the health and welfare of adolescents to respond to signals of distress with timely therapeutic intervention It also suggests measures of anticipatory prevention Adolescent Suicide presents an overview of adolescent suicidal behavior It explores risk factors the identification and evaluation of the suicidal adolescent and approaches to therapy It offers both historical and cross cultural perspectives the relevance of suicide to adolescent development mental health training needs regarding suicidality and related issues such as public health policies and medicolegal concerns The risk of suicide presents a unique crisis in adolescent development For this reason all mental health professionals will find this report an indispensable tool in the treatment of adolescents at risk for suicide Drawing from years of combined experience this committee has applied its expertise on adolescent development to the sobering problem of suicide

Eight Stories Up DeQuincy Lezine, David Brent, 2008-04-14 As a teenager DeQuincy Lezine nearly ended his own life believing it was the only way to escape the emotional pain that was overwhelming him Instead Lezine was able to find expert psychiatric care and went on to found the first university campus based chapter of the Suicide Prevention Action Network USA Now a researcher at the University of Rochester s Center for the Study and Prevention of Suicide Lezine has devoted his life to preventing suicide in adolescents and he brings the wealth of his personal and professional experience to bear in Eight Stories Up He starts by describing his deteriorating state of mind in college using his own email archive to retell the episode that would nearly claim his life He then offers hard earned wisdom and practical advice to other young people who may be considering suicide In straightforward easy to understand language and drawing on the psychiatric expertise of David Brent MD Lezine discusses the potential causes of suicide in adolescents how to seek psychiatric treatment and how to get the most out of professional help He also surveys some of the therapies used to prevent suicide how to talk to loved ones about suicidal thoughts and how to stay healthy at home and at school The result is both a remarkable memoir and a useful guide that will ease the isolation and hopelessness caused by thoughts of suicide helping young people to overcome their troubles in a safe and healthy way Part of the Adolescent Mental Health Initiative series of books written specifically for teens and young adults Eight Stories Up offers hope to young people who are at risk of suicide extending a lifeline of support and guidance that can save their lives

Supporting Utah's Parents in Preventing Adolescent Suicide Jenni Whicker, 2012 Suicide a public health problem on a global scale has become the focus in many domains across the United States With the recent push to provide solutions to the adolescent suicide rate in the U S the school setting has become an important venue for prevention and intervention efforts While there are many risk and protective factors the majority of suicide completions are concurrent with psychiatric disorders among adolescents as such this is an area that warrants further investigation Additionally school resources are often overwhelmed by the magnitude of need among the student population therefore effective interventions must be identified that can feasibly be implemented in the schools Research has suggested that parent adolescent relationships are key in the prevention of suicide yet minimal research has been conducted towards promoting healthy parent adolescent relationships for at risk adolescents Additionally some research suggests that school and community interventions are only more effective than parental support when negative parent adolescent relationships are present This implies that fostering parental support should be a top priority in school based suicide prevention efforts This literature review identifies and summarizes pertinent scholarly research and resources for schools to better support parents of adolescents who struggle with suicidal thoughts and previous attempted suicides As part of an intervention plan which increases home school collaboration in adolescent suicide prevention handouts were developed for parents found in the appendix which include information on warning signs of suicide risk factors for suicide and methods of responding to suicidality After adapting these handouts to best meet their students needs school based mental health professionals may consider including these handouts in their school s crisis plan and suicide prevention efforts
