Wortley,2013-05-13 Public policy responses to child sexual abuse are dominated by interventions designed to take effect only after offenders have already begun offending and after children have already been sexually abused Comparatively little attention has been given to alternative prevention strategies particularly to those aimed at preventing sexual abuse before it might otherwise occur Considerable knowledge has been accumulated on the characteristics modus operandi and persistence of offenders the characteristics circumstances and outcomes for victims and the physical and social settings in which sexual abuse occurs but little work has been done to systematically apply this knowledge to prevention This book aims to fulfill this objective through integrating clinical and criminological concepts and knowledge to inform a more comprehensive and effective public policy approach to preventing child sexual abuse Empirical and theoretical knowledge concerning child sexual abuse is integrated with broader developments in evidence based crime and child maltreatment prevention leading to new ideas about understanding and preventing child sexual abuse This book will be essential reading for anybody with interests in this field acts may include sexual penetration sexual touching or non contact sexual acts such as exposure or voyeurism The following is a representative list of risk factors related specifically to child sexual abuse within youth serving organizations Note that the emphasis is on unsupervised access to children in a variety of ways Unsupervised contact with children Transportation of children Long term contact with children in live in situation Extreme physical exertion in a remote setting with children Visit to children s homes Helping children change clothes bathe or with other personal activities Coaching sports in which physical contact between adult and child is routine Delivery of meals to children s homes While many of the YSO s have undertaken a number of steps to keep the children safe there are many such organizations that have not faced the facts about the profound risks to children that exist every day
