Region State In Latin Americas Past:

Region and State in Latin America's Past Magnus Mörner, 1993 In one of the first books in English to focus on Latin American regional history distinguished historian Magnus Mörner examines the ways in which various sectors of Latin American society in different regions and at different historical periods reacted to policies of their respective states After an introductory discussion of the concept of the state and its transformation in Latin America over time Mörner turns to a series of interrelated case studies from periods ranging from the early sixteenth century to the 1930s Mörner first explores the early segregation efforts of imperial Spain aimed at separating white Hispanic from native Indian populations in colonial Spanish America and he explains why those efforts failed He discusses the incorporation of native populations into the newly established nation of Venezuela from 1830 to 1860 He describes the Brazilian Empire's attempts at modernization through the introduction of the metric system in the 1870s and the unexpected riots that ensued among tradition minded citizens of the rural northeast And he examines government efforts of the River Plate region comprising the city of Buenos Aires and neighboring provinces to promote European immigration to Argentina An Atlas and Survey of Latin American History Michael J. LaRosa, 2007 Provides a topical overview of Latin American development bringing to light patterns of continuity and change This book demonstrates the close linkages between Latin American history culture economic development and geographic realities It is useful for advanced college students area specialists and secondary school AP students The History of Latin America Marshall C. Eakin, 2007-06-12 Publisher description The Routledge History of Modern Latin American Migration Andreas E. Feldmann, Xochitl Bada, Jorge Durand, Stephanie Schütze, 2022-10-26 The Routledge History of Modern Latin American Migration offers a systematic account of population movements to and from the region over the last 150 years spanning from the massive transoceanic migration of the 1870s to contemporary intraregional and transnational movements The volume introduces the migratory trajectories of Latin American populations as a complex web of transnational movements linking origin transit and receiving countries It showcases the historical mobility dynamics of different national groups including Arab Asian African European and indigenous migration and their divergent international trajectories within existing migration systems in the Western Hemisphere including South America the Caribbean and Mesoamerica The contributors explore some of the main causes for migration including wars economic dislocation social immobility environmental degradation repression and violence Multiple case studies address critical contemporary topics such as the Venezuelan exodus Central American migrant caravans environmental migration indigenous and gender migration migrant religiosity transit and return migration urban labor markets internal displacement the nexus between organized crime and forced migration the role of social media and new communication technologies and the effects of the COVID 19 pandemic on movement These essays provide a comprehensive map of the historical evolution of migration in Latin America and contribute to define future challenges in migration studies in the region This book will be of interest to scholars

Regions in Transition in the Former Soviet Area Alessandra Russo, 2017-11-15 This book aims to understand the texture of the post Soviet region where waves of de integration and re integration have been resonating at different times and through diverse manifestations over the last quarter of century The post Soviet states have been evolving in an embryonic system of states in their close neighbourhood whose boundaries and rules of interactions are still in the making However one can already detect specific traits of regional governance one of these being the presence of overlapping organisations and institutions It includes reflections on relations between state formation and region formation and a tentative conceptualisation of a post colonial form of regionalism The focus on small states featuring different behaviours vis vis regional organisations and regional imaginaries in their transitional and still unsettled state identities and foreign policy narratives constitutes a further element of originality This innovative volume is crucial reading for scholars and researchers of International Relations with a special interest in either the Former Soviet Space or Comparative Regionalism The Department of State Bulletin ,1984
