Regional Security Structures In Asia:

Regional Security Structures in Asia Ashok Kapur, 2018-10-24 Kapur argues that explanations of international relations in Asia in the post Second World War period have relied too much on the Cold War as a key explanatory factor and have not given enough emphasis to the useful concepts of regional power formation conflict formation and conflict resolution The author outlines these concepts and goes on to elaborate on them and to apply them to three key Asian regions northeast southeast and south Asia discussing practical strategic issues in an historical perspective and arguing that these concepts and other concepts which he discusses are extremely helpful in making sense of the complex pattern of international relations in Asia

Regional Security Structures in Asia Ashok Kapur, 2003 Ashok Kapur argues that explanations of international relations in Asia in the post Second World War period have relied too much on the Cold War as a key explanatory factor and outlines alternative concepts that may have wider explanatory powers Regional Security in Southeast Asia Mely Caballero Anthony, 2005 The book examines ASEAN's mechanisms in managing challenges and threats to regional security Its extensive analyses of the ASEAN story of managing regional security cover the different phases of ASEAN's development as a regional organization and explore the perceptible changes that have occurred in regional mechanisms of conflict management The book also examines the roles of relevant actors beyond the states of ASEAN and the key interactions that have evolved over time which have been instrumental in moving regional mechanisms beyond the ASEAN way The book argues that the ASEAN way has not been impervious to change As the association finds its way through periods of crises and continues to confront the many challenges ahead ASEAN and its mechanisms are already being transformed beyond the narrow confines of the modalities associated with the ASEAN way The changes in the political and security landscape of the region as well as the democratic transitions taking place in some member states have set the stage for a much more dynamic set of regional actors and processes that bring into question the kind of regionalism that is now taking place in the region the way regionalism is changing in Southeast Asia

Regional Security in South Asia and the Gulf Umer Karim, Saloni Kapur, 2023-02-24 As we move towards a world without superpowers the dynamics within and between regions are of growing significance Against this backdrop this book explores the links between South Asia and the Gulf which have existed for centuries but are undergoing important shifts in the transition to multipolarity With a special focus on India Pakistan Iran Bangladesh Saudi Arabia the United Arab Emirates Sri Lanka and Oman this volume brings together scholars from across these regions to investigate what the decentring world order means for the relationship between South Asia and the Gulf It employs Regional Security Complex Theory to examine the changing global patterns of power and their impact on the inter regional patterns of amity and enmity between states in South Asia and the Gulf It employs both constructivist and realist approaches seeking to understand how power and social processes influence the political and security linkages between these regions

Asia-Pacific Regional Security Assessment 2024 The

International Institute for Strategic Studies (IISS), 2024-05-31 The Asia Pacific Regional Security Assessment APRSA examines key regional security policies and challenges relevant to the proceedings of the IISS Shangri La Dialogue Asia's premier defence summit convened by the International Institute for Strategic Studies IISS. It is published and launched at the Dialogue and the issues analysed within its covers are central to discussions at the event and beyond. This eleventh edition comes as the APRSA celebrates its first decade. A dozen IISS experts reflect on a decade of change and continuity across major security policies and challenges facing the Asia Pacific region. Three themes materialise across six chapters: the pressure and constraints surrounding great power competition; the enduring value of alliances and partnerships; and the impact of advanced and emerging technology for regional security dynamics. In addition to the introduction, the APRSA will now feature a special topic chapter providing a deeper analysis of an enduring security policy and challenge. The other five chapters investigate further key dimensions of the regional security environment supported by maps, graphs, charts and tables. The six chapters of this year's APRSA cover the following topics: Combined military exercises in the Asia Pacific; Crisis management between the United States and China; India's defence partnership in the Asia Pacific; Diplomatic approaches to managing the Myanmar conflict; Disinformation campaigns in the Asia Pacific; The Asia Pacific air to air challenge.

Central Asia and Regional Security Mr P L Dash, Ms Anita Sengupta, Mr Murat M Bakhadirov, 2014-02-15 While security concerns have assumed salience across the globe, Afghanistan's proximity to Central Asia has meant that security or perceptions of insecurity dominate the strategic discourse in the region. Issues that stand out include the challenges that the Central Asian states will face in terms of stability, ethnic tensions, radicalization of youth, destabilization of commodity flows and energy security, and the impact that these could have on Central Asian society. However, security cannot just be defined in terms of security at the borders. It needs to be defined in cosmopolitan terms through an array of issues like movements across borders, radicalism within states, the sharing of water, and various multilateral attempts at combating insecurity. This volume is an attempt to focus on some of these issues that reflect on perceptions of security principally from Indian and Uzbek positions. It examines shifts over the last two decades from debates on the geopolitical importance of the region from a great game perspective to the salience of new engagements within the international arena.

The Transformation of Security in the Asia-Pacific Region Desmond Ball, 2013-10-14 The security architecture of the Asia Pacific region is in a profound transformation. Such changes are not without problems which are discussed here.

Strategic Minilateralism and the Regional Security Architecture of the Indo-Pacific Thomas S. Wilkins, The Architecture of Security in the Asia-Pacific Ronald Huisken, 2009-10-01 We cannot expect in East Asia over the foreseeable future to see the sort of conflation of sovereign states that has occurred in Europe. We must anticipate that for the foreseeable future the requirement will be for the sensible management and containment of competitive instincts. The establishment of a multilateral security body in East Asia that includes all the key players and which the major powers invest with the authority to tackle the shaping of the regional security order remains a critical piece of unfinished business

Afghanistan and Central Asia: NATO's Role in Regional Security since 9/11 Oktay Tanrisever, 2013-02-15

Instability in Afghanistan has had a considerable effect on regional security in Central Asia particularly in the aftermath of the events of 9 11 and this has meant that the importance of NATO and its contribution to security in this area has increased considerably A detailed analysis of this topic is precisely important because it could highlight the areas where the Central Asian countries could increase their security contributions to Afghanistan s security through enhancing their cooperation with NATO This book presents the fully revised and updated versions of papers presented at the NATO Advanced Research Workshop ARW NATO the Fight against International Terrorism in Afghanistan and Security Situation in Central Asia since 9 11 held in Ankara Turkey in April 2011 This ARW was supported by the NATO Science for Peace and Security Programme The book takes a comprehensive approach to the regional security complex in Central Asia by emphasizing the human security socio political and energy dimensions in addition to the traditional military dimension of the fight against international terrorism in and around Afghanistan The findings of the book enhance our understanding of the root causes of international terrorism and the effective ways of coping with the security challenges in this region The book is divided into five parts First NATO s Contribution to Lasting Security in Afghanistan Second Responses of the Central Asian States to Political Instability Organized Crime and International Terrorism in Afghanistan Third Energy Security in and around Central Asia Fourth International Competition and Cooperation over Afghanistan and Central Asia and Last but not least Regional Security Organizations and the Fight against International Terrorism in Afghanistan
